DEMAND BRITAIN SCRAP ITS TWO BIGGEST SHIPS

Stimson Plan Finds Congress Critics.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—A demand that battleship parity between the American and British navies should be attained by scrapping the Rodney and Nelson, Britain's powerful superdreadnoughts, rather than by the construction of a new United States capital ship, was sounded in congress today.

Elimination of both the British capital ships, recognized as the most powerful fighting vessels afloat, was demanded by Chairman Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.] of the house naval affairs committee.

Simultaneously, Chairman William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], of the senate foreign relations committee, issued a statement attacking the Stimson plan for building one big battleship comparable to the Rodney and asserting that the best way to settle the parity controversy would be for the British to scrap the Rodney.

Show General Reaction.

The attack by the two congressmen, both a house "big navy" man and the other a senate "little navy" man—on the Stimson proposal to build up to equal battleship strength was indicative of the general dissatisfaction which had met publication of the various phases of the American proposals by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, chief of the United States delegation. With few exceptions, neither senator nor big navy man has had a good word for the Hoover navy proposals.

Naval officers, especially officers of the navy general board, welcome the idea of having the United States build one big battleship in order to compensate for the British advantage gained by possession of the Rodney and Nelson, but thus far no member of congress has come out in favor of the proposal.

Britten Tells How.

"I can see no reason for the United States building just one big battleship to gain parity," Chairman Britten said today. "I am in favor of retaining battleships in the fleet and I want new battleships built, but I think we should build ships that will operate effectively with the other vessels of the fleet. If the size of battleships is increased and we build one big vessel, it will be a misfit. It would be far better for Great Britain to scrap the Rodney and Nelson, then both countries would have parity.

"Thus far it seems to me that our position at London has been bowing to the whims of the British admiralty. The British wanted us to build small cruisers, which are not needed for our needs, and we consented to it. The British asked us to limit their big gun cruisers to eighteen and we acquiesced. I suppose the British asked us to accept one big battleship so they would not have to scrap their old vessels.

Why Let Britain Decide?

"I shall oppose constructing the big battleship or the eleven small cruisers which we would have the right to build if a treaty is based on the American proposals. Why should we build small cruisers just because the British government wants us to? Why should the big 8 inch gun ships of the type which the highest naval officers have told congress this country must have for naval security?

"The United States destroyed its most modern and its finest battleships in order to make the Washington conference a success," Chairman Britten asserted. "If Ramsay MacDonald will follow the example set by former President Harding at the 1922 parley he would bring about battleship equality with the United States by scrapping both the Rodney and Nelson.

"Judging from its actions, the British government at this conference is looking upon the United States as a competitive enemy rather than as a friend in bringing about world peace."

For "Parity" by Scrapping.

Senator Borah said he was for parity for Great Britain if it could be obtained by scrapping vessels.

"If it can only be had by spending millions on the kind of ship which will be, in all human probability be obsolete when I feel no interest in parity," he said.

Great Britain can well afford to scrap battleships. At any rate, we ought not to think of spending money on battleships, simply for the purpose of parity."

Britain opposed passage of the fifteen per cent bill.

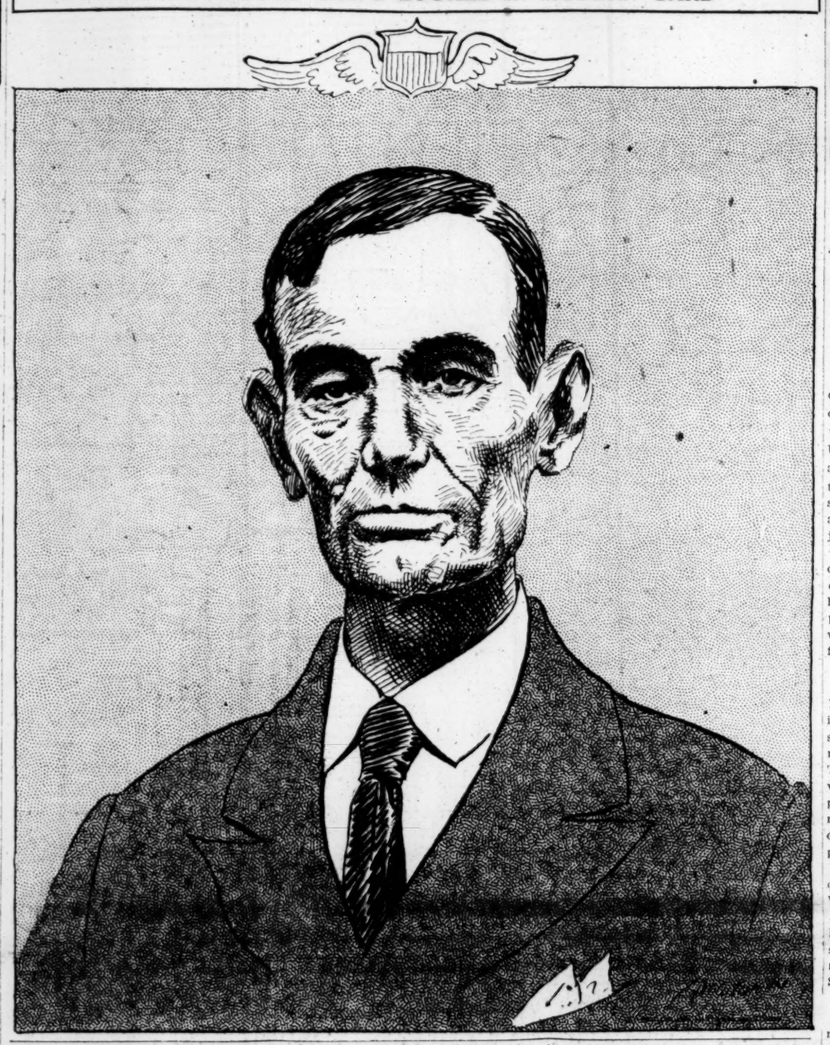
AS HE WOULD HAVE LOOKED IN MODERN GARB



$6,000,000 Ship Burns and Thrills N. Y.

BY TOM PETTEY.

New York, Feb. 11.—[Special.]—The German liner Muenchen, her stern submerged on the bottom of the Hudson river, was teetering dangerously tonight as fire continued to blaze in her explosion shattered hull. A heavy smoke pall hung over her bow, high out of the water.

Beneath the silt and muck on which her bottom rested was one of the metropolitan area's busiest rapid transit tubes, hastily closed to all traffic. Tonight the greatest array of fire fighting apparatus that New York has seen in many years continued to play streams of water on the burning hot plates of the liner's superstructure. The operations were directed by a battery of search lights.

Late tonight two men were known to be dead, two others were missing, and eight were in hospitals.

The North German Lloyd's $6,000,000 liner already had suffered more than $2,000,000 damage and the $500,000 cargo was a total loss.

Fire Starts in Potash.

The fire was discovered just two hours after the Muenchen had docked from Bremen at Pier 42 with 267 passengers and a crew of 296.

The Muenchen carried a cargo consisting of potash, shellac, and other inflammable materials. While the crew was unloading hold No. 6, a bag of potash fell and broke open and the contents took fire. Soon there was a shattering explosion and the crew fled for their lives.

Three city fireboats raced toward the liner as great clouds of smoke began pouring upward. Just as the fireboat Willett was lashed to the liner a second explosion blew out a section of the stern of the Muenchen and it swept over the fireboat hurling its crew into the icy water. John Harvey, pilot of the Willett, was killed.

Sunk at Third Explosion.

The fire spread to the bridge and advanced slowly toward the forward part of the vessel. There was a third explosion and the Muenchen began to founder. One of her second engineers named Francke was trapped in the engine room and perished.

The most severely hurt was Harold Duryea, lieutenant on the fireboat Willett.

"I was blown up so high that I wondered if I was ever coming down again," he said through his bandages. "I saw nothing but a sheet of flame."

Fireman John Bofinger, also in a hospital, said:

"There were two or three little explosions, but they did not worry us. Then came the big explosion. I did not recover my senses until I hit the water. It was cold, but I was glad it was there."

West street adjacent to the pier and the traffic artery for the Hudson river docks was choked with fire fighting apparatus. A crowd of more than 20,000 spectators mingled with the fire fighters until 200 police reserves arrived and pressed them back. The pier was not cleared until late this afternoon, when it was feared the liner would turn over.

The Muenchen was built in 1922 at the Vulcan works in Germany. It is a twin screw vessel of 13,483 tons, 526 feet long and 65 feet beam. Its home port is Bremen.

35,000 GARMENT WORKERS TO END STRIKE TODAY

New York, Feb. 12 (Wednesday).—[Special.]—A contract ending the strike of 35,000 dressmakers will be signed in the city hall at 4 p. m. today, it was announced at 3 o'clock this morning by Lieut. Gov. Lehman after a conference at the Hotel Commodore with representatives of the garment union, the contractors, and the jobbers.

When the conference ended the union had a definite agreement with the inside manufacturers and the jobbers, but not with the contractors.

After 15 hours of almost continuous session between jobbers and contractors no agreement between the two associations was in sight.

U. S. Takes 2d Round in Bout with Druggan

A soft spoken auctioneer won a round for the government yesterday in the battle of Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake versus the bureau of internal revenue.

For lack of bidders the Standard brewery at Roosevelt road and Campbell avenue, owned by the two beer magnates, was knocked down to the government for $1. Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blacklidge, collector of internal revenue, chortled as she told reporters how her deputies hoaxed the former beer hustlers.

Druggan and Lake owe the government $517,842 in income taxes. To satisfy a portion of the debt the collector of internal revenue at Miami, Fla., sold at auction several weeks ago Druggan's winter home.

Bought by Terry's Agent.

In that transaction, it developed, the government was worsted. Terry's hacienda went under the hammer for $44,000, less than half its worth, and the purchaser, it turned out, was George Dressel, acting as agent for Druggan.

Dressel was present, but not alert yesterday at 11 a. m. when Mrs. Blacklidge, several of her deputies and newspaper men gathered at the brewery.

"But we spotted him," said the internal revenue collector jubilantly, "and the instant he stepped into a passageway out of sight Deputy Harry Harmon jumped on a leaky beer keg and the auction was on."

Auctioneer Mumbles.

Auctioneer Harmon announced himself in a voice that was scarcely audible to the deputies at his feet, who kept up a running fire of conversation that obscured his mumbled words.

"I'm about to offer this property for sale at auction to satisfy government tax claims against the owners—do I hear any bids?—do I hear any bids?—do I hear any bids?" Mr. Harmon recited hastily.

"There being no bids, I hereby order the property sold to the government for $1," he concluded.

The property, valued at $550,000, is incumbered by three mortgages and other liens totaling $240,000. It is occupied by a laundry machine corporation, a salad manufacturing company, a lumber concern, a sash and door company owned by Terry's brother, Willie, and an automobile agency. It earns $1,310 a month in rent, which will hereafter go into the government's coffers. As a result of the sale Druggan and Lake will get a credit of $155,000 on the tax bills placed against them by the government.

BORAH CHARGES HUGHES IS TOOL OF BIG BUSINESS

Appointment Brings Fight in Senate.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—Opposition to the appointment of Charles Evans Hughes as chief justice of the Supreme court of the United States gained strength today as the senate continued discussion of the question of confirmation. It seemed certain, however, that approval would be given by an ample majority.

The senate resumed consideration of the appointment late this afternoon, expecting to reach a vote. After an hour and a half of debate it was apparent that several other senators wished to speak, and action was deferred until tomorrow.

Glass and Blease Support Borah.

Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], who indicated following President Hoover's announcement of the selection of Mr. Hughes that he would not oppose him, led today's attack. The Idaho senator asserted that the views held by Mr. Hughes on matters pertaining to great combinations might, if reflected in Supreme court decisions, lead to "great economic oppression."

Others opposing the appointment included Senators Carter Glass [Dem., Va.] and Cole Blease [Dem., S. C.].

Mr. Hughes was defended by the two Democratic senators from his home state of New York, Robert F. Wagner and Royal S. Copeland, and by Senator F. H. Gillett [Rep., Mass.].

Utility Rates Involved.

"What shall constitute a reasonable rate base for utilities and concerns which have secured control of transportation and great natural resources is the most important economic question before the country today," said Senator Borah. "Oil, gas, electricity, coal, transportation, and power have gone into the hands of a few people. We must establish a reasonable rate basis or else be driven to government ownership of all. In my opinion Mr. Hughes is associated with views which, if carried to a logical conclusion, must result in great economic oppression."

Senator Borah referred to arguments by Mr. Hughes in a radio case involving vested property rights. In that case, the senator said, Mr. Hughes argued "that those who acquire a license acquire a property right to use the air in perpetuity."

Links Him to Doheny and Sinclair.

"Mr. Hughes was attorney for the American Petroleum Institute, upon whose board of directors sat Doheny and Sinclair and Stewart and who were undertaking to direct the oil policy of the United States," Senator Borah continued. "He argued before the oil conservation board that the government had no power to restrain or control production of oil.

"I am of the opinion that he will go on the bench as chief justice carrying with him the conviction that efforts to restrain big interests are unwise and that we must allow vast interests to act according to their own judgment.

Senator Glass, as well as Senator Borah, referred to the Shreveport case, in which Mr. Hughes wrote the opinion of the Supreme court. In that case, according to Senator Glass, "every right the states possessed over control of intrastate traffic was literally stripped from them."

Blease Holds Out for Taft.

Senator Blease again insisted that William Howard Taft should not have resigned as chief justice and that he is improving rapidly and could have continued on the bench. This was disputed by Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.], who informed the senate that Robert A. Taft, the former chief justice's son, had told him that his father's condition was such as to preclude him from ever resuming work. Senator Fess said he was authorized also to state that Robert A. Taft, if offered the solicitor generalship, would not accept it.

Senator Wagner said that he believed that partisanship should not enter into the appointment of a chief justice and accordingly he was glad to approve of the selection of Mr. Hughes. Senator Copeland concurred in what his New York colleague had said.

Senator Gillett said that Mr. Hughes is "the outstanding lawyer of the United States."

Senator George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.], chairman of the judiciary committee, who started the fight on Mr. Hughes yesterday, refused to agree to a definite time for a final vote. It seemed possible that as many as 15 or 20 senators might vote against confirmation following two or three hours of further debate.

Blast Wrecks Laundry; Two Persons Hurt

A terrific explosion, believed to have been caused by a bomb, last night blew out the rear wall of the Northwestern Laundry company at 2749 Lincoln avenue, terrified residents of the neighborhood, and shattered windows in homes, automobiles, and street cars. The blast was heard as far north as the Edgewater and Rogers Park districts and along the Lake Shore drive on the east. The total damage was estimated at $25,000 by police and fire officials. Two persons were injured.

Early reports were that the explosion was caused by a defective boiler, but a later examination disclosed that the boiler was intact, and the police, after an hour's investigation, came to the conclusion that a bomb was responsible, although they were unable to discover a motive for the attack or a clew to the identity of the bombers.

Fail to Find Motive.

The laundry plant is owned by Abraham Stern, 1157 North Spaulding avenue; Max Stern, 4918 North Springfield avenue, and Morris Siegel, 2255 North Springfield avenue. All were questioned by the police but were unable to throw any light on the cause of the explosion. They said they have had no labor difficulties, although none of their employés but the truck drivers are union members. The inside workers, they said, are not organized in Chicago.

Peter J. Schmidt, 1637 Montrose avenue, the engineer in charge of the boiler room, was also questioned by the police. He said he had banked the fires at 5:30 in the afternoon and that there was no defect in the boiler room that could have caused the blast.

The explosion occurred at 11:20 o'clock. It wrecked a large part of the machinery in the laundry plant and blew a huge tank through the rear wall of the boiler room, a one story brick structure adjoining the rear of the plant proper. Windows in the laundry and in dwellings for a block around were shattered.

Watchman Makes Rounds.

Duallo Fiari, 1118 North Hermitage avenue, the laundry watchman, was reading a newspaper on the second floor. He was shaken from his chair, but was uninjured. Fiari said he had made his rounds every half hour during the evening and had seen no suspicious persons near the building.

Michael Grosto, 38 years old, 2737 North Melvina avenue, an employé of the Commonwealth Edison company, was at work in the company's Lakeview substation at the rear of the laundry when the explosion took place. The concussion blew in the windshield of the truck he was driving and he was hurled from the driver's seat to the ground, striking his head. His injuries were treated at the Alexian Brothers hospital.

Several Commonwealth Edison trucks parked near the substation were damaged and windows in the building itself were shattered.

Woman on Street Hurt.

Mrs. Elsie Foreman, 26 years old, 2662 Lincoln avenue, who was walking with her husband, Fred, in Seminary avenue opposite the rear of the laundry, was struck in the head by flying glass. She was taken to the Chicago General hospital, where it was said her injury was not serious.

The policemen found that the 100 foot steel smoke stack towering over the laundry boiler room was leaning at a precarious angle, and spectators were kept away, as it was feared that the stack might fall at any moment.

BAY STATE WET DEMOCRAT GOES TO CONGRESS

Springfield, Mass., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—Democrats achieved one of the biggest turnovers in the history of Massachusetts today when William J. Granfield, an attorney, of Long Meadow, wet Democrat, was elected in the special congressional election in the Second Massachusetts district over Fred D. Griggs, Republican dry, of Springfield, by more than 7,500 votes.

The Second district is a historic Republican stronghold, the home of former President Calvin Coolidge and the district that sent Senator Frederick H. Gillett to congress for years. Mr. Granfield is the first Democrat to be elected to congress from this district.

Last year Congressman W. Kirk Kaynor, Republican, who was killed in an airplane accident in Washington in December, was elected over John D. O'Connor, Democrat, by more than 7,000 votes.

Granfield carried every ward in Northampton, the home of Mr. Coolidge, although the city normally is Republican and has wards that never before went Democratic. The Democratic candidate also won in Springfield, Republican stronghold, by 3,700 votes.

POLICE SEIZE 2,191 IN 3 DAY CRIME DRIVE

Life Terms Urged in Pistol Robberies.

With a total of 2,191 arrests in their drive, which started last Sunday following an outbreak of street killings and bombings, there appeared last night concrete evidence, backed by statistics, that the police had the gunmen on the run.

Officials in charge of the detective bureau announced that during the twenty-four hours ending at midnight the police arrested 564 men, six with pistols. The total for Monday was 710 arrests, with five gun carriers, and on the opening day of the campaign there were 917 arrests, with 22 found carrying firearms. Thus the campaign has netted 33 gunmen, who face indictment under the new police policy.

Acting Chief of Detectives John Egan pointed last night to the decline in robberies as evidence of the success of the war on hoodlums. Up to midnight there were only thirteen robberies reported to the police.

Improved Condition Shown.

Monday's robbery total was also thirteen, but on Sunday, as the drive started and before gunmen were being driven from the city by the rigorousness of the campaign, the list showed 26 victims. Before the arrests began stickups averaged over 50 each night for the preceding week, with a record of sixty-one last Friday night.

Among the 564 suspects picked up yesterday and last night was Harold Lang, 6652 Kenmore avenue, said by police to be a chauffeur for Bugs Moran, gang leader. The six seized with guns during the last Twenty-four hours are:

OPEN WAR ON WAIVERS

As the police were getting a firm hold on the crime situation, following the indictment of 19 gunmen yesterday, attention was called to the revival of the court practice of waiving the gun count in robbery trials. Statistics were issued by the Chicago crime commission to show that the ease with which robbers get rid of the gun charge might account in some degree for the recent crime wave.

In 1927, the figures show, the gun count was waived 292 times. Then there was a roar of protest from civic and public agencies against this system of "giving the criminal a break," and as a result the number dropped to 169 in 1928. Under States Attorney Swanson, in 1929, according to the commission's figures, the prosecutors eliminated that charge from 320 indictments which had originally declared the robber used a gun in the commission of his crime.

Conviction of robbery with a gun carries life imprisonment as the maximum penalty, but if the gun count is dropped the maximum sentence is 20 years.

Await High Court Ruling.

On the subject of convicting gunmen who carry pistols in their automobiles Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the crime commission, said he would content himself with repeating the statement of Judge Warren H. Orr of Carthage, Ill., who sentenced Frankie Lake, beer baron, to three months on a gun toting charge. The case is still pending in the Supreme court. Judge Orr's words were:

"These cases are difficult. There is always a direct conflict in evidence. It is immaterial to whom the gun belongs. It was where you [Lake] could reach it. The car belonged to you and the gun must be considered to belong to you. A gun is only carried for one purpose—to shoot some one."

Evidence of Police Victory.

The 19 indictments brought the statement that the crime wave of the last two weeks was ended, and further evidence of it was seen in these reports:

Quincy, Ill.—The Exchange club voiced a strong protest against Chicago driving its criminals into other communities.

St. Louis, Mo.—(AP)—A sudden increase in crime here brought an order from Acting Police Chief Glassco for policemen to be on the alert for transient gunmen, robbers, and undesirables reported to be leaving Chicago as a result of police offensive there.

The grand jury yesterday followed the instructions of Judge John P. McGoorty, acting chief justice of the Criminal court, and reported true bills against every one of the 16 recommended for indictment by Deputy Chief of Detectives John Egan and three others arrested in outlying stations. Egan had gone over the evidence against every gun toter seized in the Saturday and Sunday raids, but he withheld some cases for further identifications of the prisoners before asking indictments.

List of Those Indicted.

Those named by Egan and who were indicted for carrying concealed weapons are:

Carl Hansen and James Riley, who were shot in a pistol battle by Policeman Herman Meyers, who was made a sergeant yesterday.

Jerry Van Kura, Joseph Honsik, Charles De Voto and Abe Rudsky, who was also indicted for assault to kill.

Nick Rosko, Herbert Allen, Abe De Borkan and James Masciong, who were also indicted for assault to rob.

Will Williams, George Mootz, Woodward Clardy, Salvatore Espinoza, Albert Carter, and Andrew Taylor complete the list of sixteen.

The additional gunmen named in the batch of indictments are Harvey Jenks, William O'Connor, and Harry Jenks.

Those still awaiting action by the grand jury are Edward Kirby and Marion Logue, who were captured as they were robbing Isadore Feingold, a cab driver; John Coslin, arrested with a revolver in his pocket; Gene Hall and Coleridge Mason, who robbed two ticket agents and was shot at by another agent.

John Cravello, Jack Hagobian and John Rinoa were not included in the grand jury list although there was a revolver in their automobile and two of them were carrying imitation pistols. No gun cases were developed against Tony Petraitis, John Hubert, Joseph Hordek, or Frank Mazerka, who confessed numerous taxicab robberies.

Bonds Set at $10,000 Each.

The 19 were accused of violating the law that prohibits the carrying of concealed weapons. State's Attorney Swanson asked that bonds of $10,000 be set for each offender and the grand jury did so. Judge McGoorty said he would distribute the cases among all the Criminal court judges with a request that they be tried as quickly as possible. They should be short cases, he said, easy of disposal.

Commissioner Russell and State's Attorney Swanson will receive whatever help in the anti-crime battle they need from the business interests, it was announced yesterday by Col. Robert Isham Randolph, chairman of the Chicago Association of Commerce. While the secret committee of six, of which Col. Randolph is a member, will not report to the business organization until Feb. 21, they are at work on a survey of crime conditions.

Commissioner Russell said last night he was well pleased with the results of the police drive to oust gunmen. He made a speech expressing his gratitude to the entire unpaid police department while he was conferring honor and promotion on Sergt. Patrick O'Connell, who killed three racketeer extortioners, and Meyers who shot the two robbers. O'Connell was made a lieutenant, Meyers a sergeant.

CITY LOAN HOPE GROWS; CITIZENS WAIT FOR MAYOR

Committee Ready to Meet Thompson Spokesmen.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The plan of Lewis E. Myers to obtain some cash for the pay rolls of public employes will probably get under way today. Both in the city hall and in banking circles there was a feeling that the plan will get results.

The citizens' commmittee at a special meeting yesterday afternoon approved of the plan. Mayor Thompson is said to have already committed himself to it.

The citizens' committee summarized its attitude as well as its action in a statement issued after the meeting.

The Committee Statement.

"At a meeting of the citizens' committee held this afternoon," said the statement, "the proposition of Mr. Myers that a subcommittee of the citizens' committee, consisting of Messrs. Ernest R. Graham, Robert F. Carr, and Silas H. Strawn, be designated to meet a committee appointed by Mayor Thompson for the purpose of considering ways and means to help the present distressed financial condition of the city was discussed.

"It was the unanimous opinion of the citizens' committee that the suggestion of Mr. Myers be adopted; that Mr. Myers be invited to sit with such joint committee; that Mr. Myers be notified of such action, and that the above mentioned subcommittee of the citizens' committee is ready to sit with a committee to be appointed by the mayor immediately upon advice by the mayor that he had designated his committee."

Await 'Action by Mayor.

A start awaits Mayor Thompson. He did not announce his committee yesterday afternoon, but it is understood that he will select Corporation Counsel Ettelson and City Controller Schmidt. Ald. John S. Clark, chairman of the council finance committee, is away on a vacation at Miami Beach, Fla., and it is reported that the mayor will select some one to take his place.

From the mayor came word that he had not selected Mr. Myers as his agent or designated him as a representative. This is said to favor the new plan.

Mr. Myers is a contractor who was recently appointed a member of the school board, and he is credited with much more experience in business matters than any school trustee heretofore selected by the mayor.

Mr. Strawn, who returned from New York yesterday, also said that Mr. Myers is not the representative of Mayor Thompson in the new move. He added: "I have known Mr. Myers for some time. He is a straight shooter with a splendid reputation."

Myers Tells His Position.

"My chief concern is money for pay rolls," said Mr. Myers. "It occurred to me ten days ago that if anything was to be done to relieve the situation, it would have to be accomplished through coöperation and the creation of an entirely new committee, half of which should represent business interests and half the city administration.

"Believing that the first effective thing to be done was to clear the atmosphere of any previous discussions and controversy, I discussed the matter with Mr. Strawn. I am glad to say that I found him entirely cooperative. When I was assured that what I called the business men's membership of the committee could be created, I called on Mayor Thompson and asked him to coöperate.

"I found him entirely willing to do so. He has not advised me as to who will represent the city on this committee, if it is created—as I hope it will be—since it is clear that the present situation cannot go on indefinitely, and to my mind the time has come for definite action."

Caldwell Told to Come Home.

So certain is it that the new committee will get started that a telegram was sent to President Caldwell of the board of education and his tax lawyer, Thomas V. Sullivan, the city hall's $10,000 a year importee from St. Paul, telling them to "come home in a day or two." Caldwell, in New York, claimed that he is still making progress, but did not report that he had found any purchasers for tax anticipation warrants.

The Myers plan would probably have been started yesterday if THE TRIBUNE had not printed it yesterday morning. Mayor Thompson wants the public to believe that he has not changed his attitude and hasn't even partly surrendered to the Strawn Citizens' committee. In particular the mayor wants the suggestion suppressed that there is any waste in the city hall pay rolls.

It is reported that the Strawn subcommittee will not say anything more about waste, if it offends the mayor, but, nevertheless, will curb waste by not supplying money to pay for it. It is also said that the mayor and his advisers did not appreciate until yesterday morning that the Strawn committee desired so much in the form of new legislation, and the mayor requested that he be fully informed on that phase of the "coöperation program."

Two Tax Warrants Issued.

To a creditor, O'Hearn & Sherman, butter and egg dealers, the city yesterday gave a tax warrant against the corporate fund for $8,000, and another for $3,000 against the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium.

The board of education began presenting to the board of review its valuation of loop real estate. The school board figures are in most cases 25 to 100 per cent higher than those prepared by the board of assessors.

Woman Employe in Straits.

Mrs. Mary Mankowski, a scrubwoman employed at the county hospital at $109 a month, is reported by Joseph L. Moss, director of the county bureau of public welfare, to be in desperate circumstances. Mrs. Mankowski had been supporting a family of seven until the county quit paying salaries. The family consists of her father-in-law, Stephen, 76 years old; her crippled husband and five children ranging from 2 to 17 years. All in a four room cottage in the rear 2953 West 38th street.

Mr. Moss says that Mrs. Mankowski's gas and electric service was shut off, but later was turned on again. Her grocer, because of an accumulated bill of $72, has stopped more credit. The city health department refuses to send her a physician for a sick child, according to Mr. Moss. There are three mortgages on the cottage and the holder of a third has threatened to put the family out, Mr. Moss says.

BRUWAERT WILL GIFT OF 3 MILLION ATTACKED BY KIN

Provision for Home for Women Under Fire.

An action to break the will of Mrs. Maxine King Bruwaert, widow of Edward Bruwaert, French diplomat, was filed yesterday in the Superior court by her nephew, James Andrews King of Lake Forest and a member of the Chicago stock exchange in behalf of himself and five other heirs. The bill seeks to set aside a bequest of approximately $3,000,000 for the establishment of a home for aged unmarried women in Chicago.

Mrs. Bruwaert died at Utica, N. Y., December, 1928, on her way from Paris to Chicago, where she planned to reside. She was 80 years old. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. McGregor Adams of Chicago, her father being the founder of Adams & Westlake company. She met Mr. Bruwaert during the world's fair of 1893 while he was French consul general.

Writes Will Before Sailing.

For more than thirty years she accompanied her husband on his wanderings in the French diplomatic service. After his retirement they lived at Lausanne, Switzerland. Mr. Bruwaert died in April, 1927. His wife returned to Paris, where she drew her will in longhand, two weeks before sailing for America.

She will left $50,000 to a sister, Mrs. Maxine King Burry of 1232 Astor street, and distributed $25,000 among other heirs, who are bringing the suit. These, in addition to Mr. King, are a sister, Mrs. Marjorie Dumoulin of Hamilton, Ont., and four children of another sister, the late Mrs. Ethel Dumoulin Strong of New York. Two of her children, Rockwell King Dumoulin and Francis Dumoulin, are of age.

The action is brought in a cross-bill in a suit by the executors of the will, William Burry and Charles W. Keenan, attorneys, to construe the will with regard to the bequests made to relatives. The executors have already begun to plan the home and have received sixty applications to enter it.

Claim Citizenship Governs.

In the cross-bill Attorney Edward Johnston of the law firm of Poppenhusen, Johnston, Thompson & Cole says that the will of Mrs. Bruwaert could have been probated in France rather than in Cook county, because she had been a citizen of France both through marriage and by residence. The French law, which is more liberal than American law, the clause providing for the home would be considered void because of its vagueness, the cross-bill states.

The action will prevent the building of the home for a year at least, unless the decision of the Superior court will be appealed, attorneys said.

NURSE DEMANDS $100,000 HEART BALM OF DOCTOR

Sues Dr. R. A. Nagle, Who Is to Wed Heiress.

Miss Dorothy Grundman, 32 years old, 5922 West Chicago avenue, yesterday filed a $100,000 breach of promise suit in the Superior court against Dr. Richard A. Nagle, 209 North Long avenue. Dr. Nagle is to be married next Saturday morning to Catherine Elizabeth Clark, 4429 Magnolia avenue, daughter of the late Stephen T. Clark, wealthy contractor. Miss Grundman charges that Dr. Nagle courted her for eight years, during which time he proposed marriage and borrowed money.

Dr. Nagle is 37 years old and has an office at 854 North Clark street. He is a graduate of Loyola university and is the brother of Assistant State's Attorney Joseph Nagle, who is to be his best man. Miss Grundman is a nurse. According to her bill, drawn by Attorney Frank E. McAllister, she met Nagle in 1921 in St. Paul, where both were finishing their training.

Asked Her to Wed, She Says.

A year after their meeting they came to Chicago. Dr. Nagle on several occasions asked her to marry him, Miss Grundman states. In 1925 he gave her a ring, and in the same year, according to the suit, she pawned the ring to enable him to take a trip to Honolulu for his health and also to select a place for their honeymoon.

Miss Grundman says she financed a trip to Alaska in 1924, also to help the doctor to regain his health. In all she claims to have advanced $5,000. Last June, she says, Dr. Nagle ceased his attentions. On Jan. 29 his forthcoming marriage to Miss Clark was announced.

Has Letters, She Says.

Miss Grundman says she has many love letters written by Dr. Nagle and also some verses written for him by a poet, which were included in a book illustrated with photographs of the doctor in a hula dancer's costume.

The doctor's marriage is scheduled to take place in St. Ita's church. Mrs. Stephen T. Clark, mother of the bride-to-be, said the suit was not likely to result in calling off the wedding. Dr. Nagle could not be reached.

JOBLESS HORDE RIOTS, 22 HURT IN CLEVELAND

Reds Arouse 1,200 and Women Start Scrap.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 11.—(AP)—A mob of 1,200 unemployed men and women, gathered together by communistic agitators and incited by alarmists, stormed the city hall this afternoon and were beaten back by police after injury to 20 of their number and to two police officers.

Two men were treated for serious injuries at Lakeside hospital and two other men were held by police.

The trouble started while the council welfare committee had under consideration a petition for jobs which was presented last week by the newly formed "council of the unemployed."

Escorted to Hall by Police.

The rioters had gathered early in the afternoon around the stone "soap box" in public square, where speakers shouted, "We want work or wages, one or the two, or we'll fight."

Gathering recruits they walked doggedly behind police escort to the city hall, determined to be present at the committee meeting. Arriving at the hall, all but 300 were permitted to enter the council chamber. The remainder lined up on the steps.

Inside the hall four women pounced on Chief of Police Jacob Graul and as other policemen endeavored to protect him, one of the women rushed out and shouted, "The police are clubbing us!"

It was the signal for tumult.

Four men jumped on Police Inspector George Matowitz and bore him to the pavement. Another group downed Lieut. Oliver Torrence. Then other policemen was attacked.

There were thirty groups of rioters on the sidewalks and pavements at once. Policemen used their sticks freely.

Some of the fifty women in the crowd snatched and screamed at policemen and tore at their hair and coats.

Speaking Is Resumed.

Before the riot had subsided about 200 policemen from all parts of the city had been called in by Director of Safety Edwin L. Barry. Several fire squads had arrived and attached their hose, ready to cool off the mob if the police could not.

When the rioters were quieted, they were escorted back to Public square by police guard, almost as peaceably as they had come. At the square, speakers mounted the pedestal beneath the statue of the benevolent Tom Johnson, former mayor of Cleveland, and continued to harrangue the crowd until dusk.

The orators announced a mass meeting at Public square at 6 p. m. tomorrow as a protest against "the brutality of the Cleveland police department."

Chief Graul told the Associated Press tonight that he did not believe communists directly caused the riot. Safety Director Barry said he would start no offensive against communists or the gatherings but would let speakers have their say and take precautions against future riots.

Cashier Held to Grand Jury on Charge of Forgery

Merle Shewman, 915 Lincoln avenue, cashier of the Old Colony bank, 1215 North Clark street, was held to the grand jury yesterday in $3,000 bonds when arraigned in the Felony court on three charges of forgery. He was arrested on complaint of Arvid L. Peterson, president of the bank, who alleged that Shewman had forged three notes totaling $1,000 in order to cover a deficit that had been caused by the suicide of a friend to whom he had given some securities.

Wolf Menace in Canada's Northlands Worst in Years

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

REGINA, Sask., Feb. 11.—Fierce and hungry from a severe winter, timber wolves are terrorizing lonely northern settlements of Saskatchewan. Federal fisheries' inspectors, returning by dog team, declared that the wolf menace is the worst in years. Moose, deer, and other game have been killed off in great numbers, with the packs killing off a moose a day. Scores of horses have died in the 70 below zero weather.

'HATED TO HIT GILBERT, BUT WHAT COULD I DO,' SAYS JIM TULLY

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—John Gilbert and Jim Tully today gave first hand versions of their midnight fist fight in Wilson Misner's Hollywood café last Sunday night. Gilbert, who retired to Palm Springs with his wife, Ina Clair, after the affair said via long distance:

"What I did is what any self-respecting man would have done." Gilbert felt he had been unfairly attacked by Tully in a magazine article.

Tully, who used to be a professional pugilist, was at home in Hollywood. He said, "I hated to hit Gilbert. I felt sorry for him. But what could I do? I was sitting down at the table with Miss May Cruze and Nat Kelly, when Gilbert stood up shouting. He threw off his coat and came running over. He began swinging at me and it was a choice between hitting him and having to leave the restaurant. I merely hit him on the point of the chin with one upper cut and he went down."

WOMAN KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE; DRIVER IS HELD

Mrs. Stella I. Marsh, 55 years old, 6554 Kenwood avenue, was killed last night when struck by an automobile while crossing Marquette road between Kimbark and Kenwood avenues. The driver, Claude McKinney, colored, 5426 Prairie avenue, was held.

Mrs. Marsh's death and two others raised the 1930 Cook county motor toll to 86. The other victims:

Charles Jadelis, 56 years old, 4848 Belle Plaine avenue. Fatally injured when struck by a hit and run motorist at 44th and Halsted streets.

Raymond Miller, 24 years old, 704 North Clark street. Killed when a refuse truck ran over his head while he was lying in the alley between Randolph and Lake streets at Clark street. The police found a bottle of liquor in his pocket. He is believed to have been intoxicated and to have fallen in the alley. The driver of the truck, Frank Van Housen, 1945 West 13th street, and his helper, Jacob Slagter, 1520 West 15th street, were held.

John Saltis' Auto Seized by U. S. After Hauling Rum

John Saltis, brother of Joe, lost his automobile yesterday when Federal Judge Lindley ordered it forfeited to the government because the police had found alcohol in it. Saltis was arrested several weeks ago and fined $100 for possession of liquor.

Evanston Cops Who Drink on Duty to Be Suspended

At request of Mayor Charles H. Bartlett of Evanston, Police Chief William O. Freeman posted a notice yesterday that any policeman caught using intoxicating liquors while on duty would be suspended and haled before the trial board. Mayor Bartlett said there had been no complaints of policemen being intoxicated and that the order was issued merely as a preventive measure.

INJURED A YEAR AGO; DIES.

Fred Yarbrough, 29 years old, 619 Lincoln street, died in the county hospital yesterday of blood poisoning resulting from an injury to his hand more than a year ago, incurred while he was operating a tractor for the Illinois Central railway.

HOUSE DRY QUIZ LETS WETS HAVE THEIR SAY TODAY

Committee Opens Hearing on Pending Bills.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—After two months of hectic battling among themselves, wet and dry members of congress beginning tomorrow will give to private citizens representing organized groups an opportunity to have their say on the success or failure of the 18th amendment.

The curtain on this new phase of the prohibition controversy will rise this morning when the house judiciary committee starts a series of public hearings on five pending wet bills and resolutions. Names of a dozen prominent lawyers, physicians, clergymen and business men, proposed as witnesses were announced today by Chairman George S. Graham [Rep., Pa.]. All who desire to appear will be heard.

Drys Receive a Setback.

On the eve of the hearings, the dry forces today received what was interpreted as a setback when a subcommittee of the Graham committee decided to postpone indefinitely action on the Christopherson bills to permit United States commissioners to try slight or casual dry law violation cases.

These bills, which are regarded as an important part of the dry law enforcement program recommended by the Wickersham commission, have been a center of controversy since their introduction, the wets attacking them as a virtual abolition of trial by jury.

As indicated by the list of suggested witnesses, the judiciary committee hearings are going to be largely a wet affair.

Outstanding Witnesses.

The association against the prohibition amendment expects to furnish several of the most outstanding witnesses. In addition to Henry H. Curran, president, and William H. Slayton, chairman of the board, the association will send to the hearings seventeen directors, among them the following:

Pierre S. Du Pont, Wilmington, Del., chairman of the board of the E. I. Du Pont De Nemours company; Grayson M. P. Murphy, New York, financier; Ralph M. Shaw, Chicago attorney; W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad; Fred R. Coudert, New York attorney; Dr. Samuel W. Lambert, president, and Dr. Linsley R. Williams, director of the New York Academy of Medicine, and Dr. Samuel Harden Church, Pittsburgh, president of the Carnegie institute, and author of the recent suggestion for the formation of a liberal "Anti" party.

The only limitation that will be put on the witnesses, according to Chairman Graham will be that they must talk on the pending bills. These are the La Guardia bills to allow the states to fix the alcoholic content of beverages; the Corcoran bill to repeal the 18th amendment; the Sabath bill incorporating the federal dispensary plan.

REFUSES TO SIGN WARRANTS FOR LIQUOR BUYERS

U. S. Commissioner Sees No Offense.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—U. S. Commissioner Edwin C. Jenney will issue no warrants for the arrest of liquor buyers.

That announcement, further complicating the recent grand jury indictment-for-purchase, was made by the commissioner in federal court today.

"I feel it my duty to decline to issue a warrant for purchasing liquor against anybody, prohibition agents or private citizens," he said in declining the request of Attorney Matthew J. McGrath for warrants against U. S. Dry Agents William Tobin and Walter Smeaton.

As a result, the federal grand jury which last week returned an indictment for purchase against James Farrar of Watertown was asked to indict the federal agents who on their own admission before Commissioner Jenney made purchases of liquor to obtain evidence.

"I will present the facts to the foreman of the federal grand jury and see this thing through to a finish," said McGrath, who is counsel for Thomas and Albert Freites, brothers, arrested on charges of sale and possession as a result of the evidence gathered by Tobin and Smeaton.

While the hearing before Commissioner Jenney was ostensibly to bring out enough damaging evidence to hold the Freites brothers for the grand jury, McGrath had announced that he would ask for warrants for the agents.

The Freites brothers were both held for the grand jury.

FEEDER BUSES TO BE ORDERED, HADLEY STATES

Following a brief hearing yesterday the Illinois commerce commission again intimated it will order the Chicago surface lines to install trackless feeder buses in Belmont and Diversey avenues. In behalf of a number of northwest side civic clubs and improvement associations, Attorney James Hamilton Lewis appeared before the state commission and requested that immediate action be taken.

Chairman Charles W. Hadley said the commerce commission is certain to issue an order which would conform with the request of the northwest side clubs for feeder bus service.

Girl Testifies at Trial of Earl Runnels for Rape

Miss Ethel Lindo, 20 years old, of Geneva, yesterday took the witness stand at Wheaton and described the attack she alleges was made on her last fall in an automobile by Earl Runnels, 25 years old, a Hinsdale electrical contractor, who is on trial for rape. Miss Lindo asserted that after the attack she escaped from Runnels' car at Naperville and returned home in a taxicab. Runnels is also under indictment in Du Page county for bigamy.

HELD ON CHECK CHARGE.

Joseph McCumsky, 30 years old, 5460 South Carpenter street, and Samuel Grady, 30 years old, 7640 Eggleston avenue, were being held at the detective bureau last night after McCumsky had been identified as a passer of worthless checks.

DORAN INSPECTS CITY DRYS AMID SHAKEUP RUMORS

Silent on Reports That Yellowley Is to Go.

Commissioner of Prohibition James M. Doran came to Chicago from Milwaukee last night tagged by reports that he contemplates a thorough shakeup in the Chicago dry office. Earlier in the day the Milwaukee deputy administrator, W. Frank Cunningham, was transferred, and persistent rumors followed that Chicago's prohibition czar, E. C. Yellowley, will next feel the ax.

Dr. Doran admitted at the Congress hotel that his visit here is principally for the purpose of investigating the dry personnel, whereupon he was asked this question:

"Will Mr. Yellowley be dismissed from the service?"

"Now, I'm not saying anything about that," Dr. Doran replied. "Furthermore, if any changes are made here they will be announced from Washington."

Returns to Washington Today.

Commissioner Doran will return to the capital at noon today after conferring with Alexander G. Jamie, chief of special agents, and with United States Attorney Johnson.

From Milwaukee the commissioner was quoted as intimating that indictments returned on Monday in Springfield against manufacturers of yeast and corn sugar would be followed by similar true bills directed at the manufacture of bottles, caps, extracts, malt, hops, and sugar.

"Ridiculous!" Dr. Doran snorted last night when asked about this reported statement. "I intimated nothing of the kind. The least indictments are very important—let it go at that."

New Corn Sugar Indictment.

On Monday United States Attorney Walter M. Provine of Springfield revealed that the Fleischmann Yeast company and the Corn Products Refining company had been named corporation defendants for selling liquor ingredients to bootleggers. Yesterday a third indictment was made public at Springfield. It charges the J. E. Hubinger Brothers company of Keokuk, Ia., with shipping corn sugar in carload lots to a group of illegal distillers in central Illinois.

Simultaneous with the downstate action United States Attorney Johnson in Chicago returned indictments against 31 concerns and 157 persons alleged to have been engaged in the operation of a huge alcohol diversion ring.

Mr. Johnson made plans yesterday to arrest the defendants. Four of his assistants—Victor E. La Rue, Daniel Anderson, Henry Balaban, and Alfred Bosworth—will start for New York, Cleveland, St. Louis, and Los Angeles during the week bearing warrants.

WOMAN ENDS LIFE WITH GAS.

The body of Mrs. Josephine Blume, 65 years old, was found lying over a gas range yesterday in her home at 1414 Rascher avenue. All the jets were open. Mrs. Blume's son-in-law, Charles G. Weise, said he believed she had committed suicide because of ill health.

"PADLOCK ALLEYS," IS PROPOSAL TO CATCH FLEEING CRIMINALS

The city council was advised yesterday of a new method of capturing criminals by Dr. E. H. Coller of Battle Creek. In a communication to the city clerk Dr. Coller writes: "I read every day that some fugitive criminal has escaped up or down an alley. Why not padlock your alleys?" Many of the aldermen are on vacations, but the veteran and poet of the council, Ald. John J. Coughlin [1st], accepted the solution with avidity. "The government," he said, "could lend us its padlock experts to carry out the scheme."

ACCIDENT, TO BE U. S. DEFENSE IN VIRKKULA CASE

Rum Slayer's Trial Opens Today.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Duluth, Minn., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—The United States government will appear in a dual rôle in the Federal court here this week. One of its dry agents will be defended against murder charges, while a former official is prosecuted for bribery.

The murder case, which is to begin tomorrow, is that of Emmett J. White, 24 years old, who killed Gust Henry Virkkula with a riot shotgun on June 8, last, while patroling the roads near the Canadian boundary for liquor runners. White is indicted under the state law for second degree murder, and will be defended by George Heisey, first assistant U. S. attorney at St. Paul.

The bribery case involves Oscar E. Dahly, former collector of customs and in charge of the district at the time of the Virkkula killing. Dahly, Ernest W. Beaton, former supervising customs agent; Thomas F. Hoban, former customs inspector, and Edward A. Peters, a Duluth druggist, are to be tried for conspiracy to violate the federal statute which forbids U. S. officers to receive compensation for services in which the United States is a party.

$4,500 Bribe Charged.

The government charges that $4,500 was paid to the three officers by E. A. Smith, a druggist of Duluth, after he had been arrested for a narcotic violation. Leslie Salter, special assistant attorney general, is here to prosecute.

The government has decided to change tactics in the Virkkula case. Instead of making it a part of the defense that Virkkula was a bootlegger, this feature of the case may not be brought out at all.

"We have evidence," said Mr. Heisey, "that two government agents purchased liquor from Virkkula a month before the killing, but why bring that in? It can't be adopted as a defense that the government has declared an open season on bootleggers.

"Accident" Is Defense.

"The main issue in the case is whether White had in his mind a design to kill Virkkula. We claim that he did not, that it was a nervous accident. The government is to blame for putting this raw young recruit out there in a dark road, and putting a gun in his hands."

The White case was transferred from the state court at International Falls on a writ of habeas corpus cum causa, a process which has saved all but one or two of the federal prohibition killers. White will be prosecuted by County Attorney David Hurlburt of International Falls, assisted by Attorney O. J. Larson of Duluth, former congressman.

NEW YORK ARREST FOR ANY PERSON IN PUBLIC PLACE SHOWING RUM

New York, Feb. 11.—[Special.]—Prohibition Administrator Maurice Campbell announced tonight a wholly new feature in prohibition enforcement in this district when he declared that, henceforth, the individual possessor of liquor in any public place would be arrested and prosecuted. His agents, he said, had been instructed not to "hesitate" to arrest any person displaying liquor on a table in a hotel, restaurant or night club.

The administrator issued this declaration while eighteen of his agents and three deputy marshals were raiding the Cornish Arms, a hotel in West 23d street, and Cavanaugh's, well known restaurant. Twenty arrests were made at these places and liquor was seized in negligible quantities.

$1,250,000 SUIT FOR POLISH LOAN DEAL FEES LOST

McManus' Claims Against Dillon, Read Denied.

Thomas J. McManus, investment broker at 38 South Dearborn street, yesterday lost his $1,250,000 suit against Dillon, Read & Co., New York brokers. He claimed the amount was due him in commissions for negotiating with the Polish government for the sale of $50,000,000 worth of Polish bonds. In a 50,000 word opinion, ending a legal battle of almost four years, Judge Harry C. Stuttle of Litchfield, Ill., sitting in the Superior court, held that McManus was not entitled to any payment.

The Polish bonds were issued in 1925. They were sold at $88 carrying 8 per cent interest. McManus contended through his attorneys that he had been negotiating for several years with the Polish government to encourage the floating of a loan. For this service he was to have received a 2½ per cent commission under a verbal contract with the New York brokers, he alleged.

Charges Contract Violation.

The issue was placed with Dillon, Read & Co. in February, 1925. The following February McManus brought suit, charging that his contract was violated when a representative of the brokers approached an attaché of the Polish embassy at Washington, who offered to place the sale directly.

Dillon, Read & Co., through Attorneys Henry F. Tenney and Emory R. Buckner, denied that McManus acted for the company in negotiating the sale. They introduced depositions from Polish officials to show that the brokers had been interested in floating a Polish loan as early as 1922, or three years before McManus suggested the project. They declared that the loan had been arranged through Calloway, Fish & Co., and other brokers.

McManus introduced depositions aiming to prove that he had caused the loan. The depositions included statements from Polish leaders of the period between 1922 and the date when the loan was completed.

Trial Started on Dec. 16.

The trial was begun on Dec. 16 of last year and continued for three weeks. Judge Stuttle then took the case under advisement and released his opinion yesterday. Before the trial the attorneys stipulated that no appeal would be taken.

"The court finds that there is no evidence to support the claims of McManus," the judge declared. "The court finds that there was no contract with Dillon, Read & Co. and that McManus was not the mover of the loan. It is true he spent considerable money in his activities, but in the event of his failure he should bear, as other brokers do, the loss.

"The court begs that the attorneys waive the stipulation at the beginning of this case and that an appeal be taken in the Appellate or Supreme court to review the decision of this court."

GANGS TO PREY ON ALL BUSINESS IF DRY LAW STAYS, CLUB IS TOLD

Unless the Eighteenth amendment is repealed within the next 10 years all legitimate business will have to pay tribute to gangland, Dr. Frederick A. Perry, Cleveland, former Methodist minister of Adrian, Mich., and former Anti-Saloon league lecturer, predicted yesterday before the Cosmopolitan club in the Sherman hotel.

Dr. Perry, who is president of the Progressive Liberal league, which was organized to effect the repeal of the dry law, advocated the Bratt system of liquor dispensing in government stores and restaurants as practiced in Sweden.

The invasion of homes by dry agents was "a thrust at the liberty of the nation," he said. He declared prohibition legislation was passed during the war hysteria, by a group of politicians who rode into power on the crest of the temperance wave.

"The reason that the foundations of this country are slipping is that we refuse to throw aside the effort to make people good by guns. The effect of that measure is to bring back the days of the Inquisition, to say, 'Think as I think, do as I do, or you go to jail.'"

MRS. McLAUGHLIN DEMANDS QUIZ ON DOG REFUGE FIRE

83 Animals Perish in Blazing Kennel.

Convinced that malicious persons started the fire which destroyed Orphans of the Storm, her refuge for homeless dogs, early yesterday, Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin declared last night she would demand a thorough investigation by the state fire marshal's office and insist on prosecution of the guilty ones by State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Lake county. It was learned that several persons have recently complained to Prosecutor Smith that the dog refuge constituted a nuisance.

IRENE CASTLE McLAUGHLIN. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. McLaughlin announced that she would rebuild the $10,000 kennel on the same site, which is in a sparsely settled district three miles west of Deerfield and seven miles from the McLaughlin residence in Lake Forest.

Does Not Witness Fire.

Contrary to published reports which pictured her as tearfully begrimed after heroic efforts to rescue 83 dogs which perished in the flames, Mrs. McLaughlin did not witness the fire nor had she visited the scene last night.

When the keeper of the kennel, Tom Webster, informed her by telephone how he discovered the fire and described the pitiful howls of the dogs, Mrs. McLaughlin burst into tears. She is considering cancellation of a trip to Florida, which her husband Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, had planned for her to start tomorrow, in order to press investigation of the fire and superintend reconstruction, Mrs. McLaughlin said.

Dog Arouses Kennel Keeper.

The barking of his own dog, Bum, at 3 a. m. warned Webster of the blaze. He tried to telephone the Deerfield fire department, but the instrument was out of order. His wife set off for the village in a truck while Webster made futile efforts to quench the blaze with pails of water.

When the fire apparatus arrived half an hour later, manned by volunteers, Webster had released forty of the dogs from the kennel. The firemen could do little, for the well holding the only available water was soon sucked dry.

One of the neighbors drove to Mrs. McLaughlin's home and notified her. At her request the Lake Forest fire department went to the fire with its chemical apparatus, but when the firemen arrived the kennels were a charred ruin.

Arrest Fake Dry Agent Who Caused Still Raids

When Adolph E. Kubitz, 26 years old, 2621 West 24th street, walked into Deputy Prohibition Administrator C. Edson Smith's office a couple of days ago and said he was from Washington, agents hurried out to raid two Cicero stills at addresses he gave them. Yesterday the same agents had Kubitz arrested for impersonating a government officer. They found he had tried to extort $10 from one of the victims of the raids he directed, and that his credentials were spurious.

Pickpocket Gets $175 in Ticket Line at Theater

John L. Wegener, manager of the Home Stake gold mine near Deadwood, S. D., lost $175 cash and a $400 check to a pickpocket yesterday as he stood in the ticket line at a movie theater, he complained to Central police. Wegener said he felt a man jostle him but thought nothing of it until, upon reaching for his wallet at the ticket booth, he discovered it missing.

RECAPTURE WIFE SLAYER 17 YEARS AFTER ESCAPE

After more than 17 years of dodging policemen, William Nelson, 60 years old, gray and stooped, will be returned to the state penitentiary today to resume a life sentence for the murder of his wife in 1902. He escaped from the asylum at Chester in 1912.

He was captured yesterday by Detectives Ernest Bloom and John Blyth of the East Side station as he was stripping a stolen car near a fisherman's hut on the shore of Calumet lake at 126th street and Chippewa avenue. The expense of an operation three years ago, he said, made it necessary for him to get money quickly, and he admitted having stolen automobiles since that time. He maintained that previously he had lived honestly as a laborer and as an engineer on lake boats.

He recounted how, in 1901, he discovered that his wife had betrayed him for a man named Fallon, whom he had employed in his transfer business.

"Say your prayers," he told her, and then he shot her in the heart and turned the gun on himself, according to his story to the police.

"I'd do the same thing again," he concluded, "even if I knew the noose was waiting for me in the morning."

Boy Bank Messenger Vanishes with $6,000

Robert Neilsen, 16 years old, a messenger for the Chicago Joint Stock and Land bank, 208 South La Salle street, disappeared yesterday while carrying $34 in cash and $6,000 in checks to the Continental-Illinois bank at 231 South La Salle street, his employers told the police. Robert was not at his home, 4911 Wellington avenue, last night, the police learned. Officials of the bank could not account for his disappearance, saying he was trustworthy.

CRASH EMBASSY GATES IN QUEST OF GOOD LIQUOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—The lure of good liquor served at diplomatic functions by Washington embassies and legations has resulted in an epidemic of "gate crashing" on the part of some of the younger and thirstier members of Washington's élite, it was learned today.

In order to solve the problem caused by the influx of uninvited scofflaws, some of the diplomats have adopted the practice of not serving refreshments with a real kick until late in the evening after investigation discloses that most of the unwanted guests have departed.

Just a few days ago one of the best known Central American legations gave a party for young people and several of Washington's 1930 crop of debutantes were present. Guests, stepping up to the flowing bowl, were astonished to discover that the beverage it contained was orange juice and very weak orange juice at that.

Inquiry disclosed that the host of the evening had become suspicious of the disproportion existing between the number of guests invited and the number of persons present and had ordered that no liquor should be served.

After a few moments, several of the uninvited young people left after a disappointing visit to the punch bowl.

When the ranks of guests thinned out, old bottles, filled with the best brands of diplomatic liquor were dusted off and uncorked for the guests who remained. In many cases the ranks of the uninvited include college boys and girls who crash the gates at the embassies and legations as a prank.

F. L. SMITH GIVES G. O. P. SURPRISE; ASKS HOUSE SEAT

Reverses Former Refusal to Run for Congress.

BY PARKE BROWN.

An announcement by Frank L. Smith that he is a candidate for one of the Republican nominations for congressman at large started political tongues wagging yesterday.

Gossip has been current for months that Smith might try for a seat in the house as a start for another battle for a United States senatorship against Otis F. Glenn two years hence. But Smith discouraged these stories by replying that the senate had been his hope and that a seat in the other house would not help him in that direction.

Therefore his Chicago friends were surprised when announcement came over the wire from Springfield yesterday. Then a new theory, said to have originated from men with whom Smith talked at length recently, was accepted generally as the inside explanation of the Dwight man's move.

This Is the Way the Story Goes.

This is the way the story was told by a veteran in state politics:

"Col. Smith's friends all know that the one big political determination is to beat Otis Glenn. But they also know that he thinks an election as congressman at large wouldn't lengthen his position two years from now, and might even weaken it since some people might say he had deserted his issue that the senate had no right to reject him twice, once when he was appointed by Small and once when he was elected.

"The colonel also has heard the talk that Gov. Emmerson wants to run against Glenn two years from now. If both ran that would make a bad three cornered race. It would be much better tactics for Smith to run for congressman at large this time and, if he wins by a big figure, to run for governor when Emmerson steps aside. With two years as congressman at large and four years as governor behind him Smith apparently figures he would be in fine shape to take after senatorship eight years from now. Even if that isn't in his plan, success in his governorship hopes would put him at the top of the politfcal heap in Illinois."

Sound Anti-Loop Battle Cry.

An anti-loop battle cry was sounded today by a special committee representing district and community business and local improvement organizations created at a recent conference called by Chairman Snow of the Republican county central committee last month.

"We protest," read a resolution approved by the committee, "against the effort of financial and business interests centering in the loop to assume control of governmental agencies that should represent the interests of all the citizens of Chicago."

WOMAN IS AWARDED $5,000 IN HER SUIT AGAINST PHYSICIAN

Mrs. Marguerite Quin, 3708 South Highland avenue, Berwyn, yesterday was awarded $5,000 damages by a jury in Superior Judge Louis P. Harriss' court in her suit against Dr. Florian Ostrowski, physician with offices at 4905 West 29th place, Cicero, for unprofessional attentions. The verdict was returned last night after four hours' deliberation. A motion for a new trial was set for hearing on Thursday morning.

Mrs. Quinn testified that she called Dr. Ostrowski in attendance on June 17, 1928, a day before her child was born. She charged that he kissed her on the arm and that his attentions became offensive. Dr. Ostrowski said that he gave her only the customary examination.

WILLIE DOODY'S FATHER FREED.

James Doody, 63 years old, father of Willie Doody, the gunman who was sentenced to die for the murder of Police Chief Charles Levy of Berwyn, was freed yesterday on a charge of operating a disorderly house. Judge George Holmes released Doody when he was informed the police had no search warrant.

LONDON HEARS HINTS OF DISCORD IN NAVAL PARLEY

Small Powers Say It Is British-U. S. Farce.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Italy's equivocal stand on submarines at the plenary session of the naval conference today is regarded as significant. Among delegates and observers there is a growing belief now that England has drawn the United States into her schemes for imposing the joint Anglo-Saxon will on the other nations of the world. The Italian stand is also considered as a broad hint that any support expected from Italy on things in which America is interested, such as getting cruisers on the agenda for discussion before battleships, must be well paid for.

The discords in today's submarine discussion, it is believed, will in a measure furnish the real background of the conference, despite optimistic official pronouncements.

Parley Not Well Prepared.

In Italian circles recently belief has been expressed that the conference is completely disorientated through insufficient direction of leadership and insufficient identity of purpose, which render the negotiations inconclusive and which invoke subterfuges and time wasting devices.

One reason for this is that Prime Minister MacDonald has been compelled to divide his time between parliament and the conference and that Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, with his economy schemes, is the real but invisible dominator of the conference.

Would Put It Up to League.

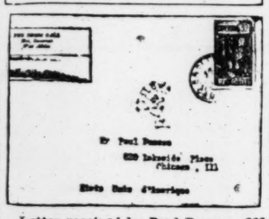
Already ideas are being launched that this conference should not be prolonged indefinitely, and the suggestion is being thrown out that sufficient will be accomplished if the conference stops at battleship replacement holidays and leaves the rest to the league of nations.

On the belief that this conference was a British government scheme to save money, with respect to the United States competition in building, the smaller powers are already willing to let the conference go at that.

THE TRIBUNE CONTEST OF INTERESTING LETTERS

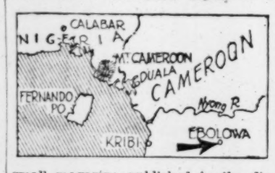
If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed. The sender of every envelope which is reproduced will be paid one dollar.

From Elat, Cameroon



Letter received by Paul Duncan, 823 Lakeside place, Chicago.

Elat is a small mission town near Ebolowa in the portion of Cameroon, West Africa, that passed from German to French control as a result of the great war in 1914. The envelope produced above contained copies of a small magazine published in the district, which 100 years ago was the center of the African slave trade.



The development of Cameroon began in the seventeenth century, though it was discovered in the fifteenth century by Fernando Po, Portuguese navigator

FRANCE MAY CUT NAVAL DEMANDS TO 600,000 TONS

Would Lop 200,000 Tons from Total.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Figures were discussed formally today for the first time since the naval conference opened three weeks ago when Premier Tardieu of France met Prime Minister MacDonald at 10 Downing street and outlined France's requirements.

M. Tardieu stated at the outset that France's naval program provides for 805,000 tons in 1943. But, in the course of his long talk, the French premier, who was accompanied by Foreign Minister Briand and Count Rene Massigli, French naval expert, intimated that France might be able to compress its requirements to 600,000 tons, in view of certain contingencies.

Abandons Capital Ships.

He stated the government's intention to abandon capital ships and concentrate on smaller units—none larger than 20,000 tons. This gives a certain leeway for reducing the global tonnage of the French navy, as the original figure includes 175,000 tons of capital ships allocated France under the Washington treaty.

Taking up Great Britain's own argument this morning against submarines, in which A. V. Alexander said that the possession by its neighbors of undersea craft forces England to maintain a larger fleet of light cruisers and destroyers, Premier Tardieu pointed out that a lowering of France's submarines would automatically necessitate the maintenance of a larger flotilla of surface craft.

It is reported that Mr. MacDonald hinted that even 600,000 tons was a considerably larger total than he and President Hoover had estimated as France's requirements during the Washington pourparlers.

Calls War "Unthinkable."

This brought up the question of Italy's fleet, which has a direct bearing on the size of France's sea power.

It was also pointed out that the Japanese naval strength is involved, as the Tokio government, besides insisting on a 70 per cent ratio with the United States and Great Britain, also demands a considerably larger proportion than any continental European power and refuses to build up to reach that scale.

The French pointed out that since a war between England and France was just as unthinkable as a conflict between America and Great Britain, there should be no apprehensions on the part of the London admiralty over submarines.

WIFE WINS $7,000 IN SUIT AGAINST MOTHER-IN-LAW

Mrs. Sophie Knopp, 1058 West 31st place, yesterday was awarded $7,000 by a jury in Circuit Judge George Fred Rush's court in her suit against her mother-in-law, Mrs. Rose Knopp, 3231 South Wall street. She had charged her mother-in-law with alienating the affections of her husband, Albert Knopp, head of the Knopp Coal and Ice company, 31st and Morgan streets. The Knopps were married after an elopement to Valparaiso, Ind., on July 23, 1927. On their return Knopp's mother gave them her blessing, although she was disappointed because she had selected a rich girl for her son to marry. The mother refused to permit her son to live with his wife, however, and later told her daughter-in-law to stop bothering her son. The younger Mrs. Knopp has pending a suit for divorce, charging desertion.

STIMSON HAILS HUMANIZING OF SUBMARINE WAR

Calls Agreement Well Worth Trip to London.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The unanimity of opinion recorded among the five naval powers today that ruthless submarine warfare on merchant ships should be outlawed was pronounced by American Secretary of State Stimson tonight to be the greatest single accomplishment of the London conference to date. The accomplishment, he said, was well worth the journey of the American delegation to Europe.

This utterance by the chairman of the American delegation created surprise, inasmuch as the agreement falls short of what the Washington conference accomplished eight years ago. The nations participating in the Washington conference not only agreed to outlaw ruthless submarine warfare on merchantmen, but pledged themselves not to employ submarines against merchant vessels.

France Rejects Proposal.

France never ratified that agreement, which is known as the Root treaty, and the French spokesman today indicated that while France is now willing to agree to ban ruthless submarine warfare on merchantmen, she is not disposed to go so far as the pledge of the Root treaty. The French are now building submarines almost as big as cruisers—large enough, they contend, to afford accommodations for noncombatants removed from captured merchant ships.

Mr. Stimson looks on the action of the conference as a decision to outlaw ruthless submarine warfare. The conference did not formally record such a decision. Its action was to refer it to a committee with instructions to "carry into effect" two resolutions, one offered by the French and the other by the American delegation, to prepare an agreement.

Stimson's Statement.

Mr. Stimson, in reviewing the meeting, said:

"Concerning the plenary meeting this morning, I want to call your attention to the fact that there has been a definite decision by the naval conference today, not a tentative one—a definite one. The five powers agreed to restrict the use of the submarine against merchant ships to the same rules which are applied to surface vessels.

"I want to say about that that I regard that single incident as worth the visit of the American delegation here in London. That marks a step forward in a matter that our country once went to war about.

"There was an agreement. The other things have been referred to subcommittees to investigate and report on, but this, if you read the language of the resolution offered by the French and agreed to by everybody, was a direction to the committee to draft a paper.

Praises French Premier.

"The second thing I want to call your attention to is the impetus that was received for the movement for eventual abolition of submarines.

"I think this debate showed a rising tide in the desire on the part of the nations for eventual abolition of that weapon of warfare.

"I want to say also that I am very much pleased that the motion to restrict the use of the submarine against merchant ships came from the French delegation. I think it was a very happy augury of the leadership of Tardieu."

MRS. DAWES TO GIVE AN ALL-AMERICAN TEA IN U. S. EMBASSY TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Mrs. Charles G. Dawes is serving an all-American tea tomorrow for the wives of members of the five delegations to the naval conference. Although the American embassy's chief cook is an English woman, the American ambassador's wife has arranged everything just as it is at home.

Peanut butter sandwiches, chocolate fudge cake, American pancakes with real maple sirup, a great variety of other sandwiches, and doughnuts will be among the dainties. Coffee as well as tea will be served as a radical departure from usual afternoon affairs. This has caused the embassy servants to throw up their hands in horror.

The tea tables will be arranged in the Louis XVI. drawing room, with gilded furniture, and in the ballroom, with its old rose color scheme.

FRANCE FIGHTS U.S.-BRITISH PLAN TO ABOLISH SUBS

Japanese Join Paris, and Italy Sits on Fence.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 11.—"The American delegation to this conference is in favor of abolition of the submarine."

With this opening sentence in his address to the plenary meeting of the five power naval conference in St. James's palace this morning, Secretary of State Stimson formally abandoned America's historic policy, as enunciated at Washington and at Geneva, and lined up with Great Britain, whose spokesman, A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, had just made an impassioned plea for the total abandonment of this instrument of warfare.

France and Japan Object.

France and Japan argued for retention of the submarine, but were willing to agree to drastic restrictions in its use, and possibly its size. Italy assumed a strategic position on the fence, ready to come down on whichever side seemed likely to win the argument.

Little occurred today that had not been expected. The only surprise came when America sprung a second resolution, which called for a committee to study and report on the possibility of an agreement on three questions.

These three questions were: First, the abolition of submarines; second, the regulation of their use through subjecting them to the rules of war governing surface craft, and, third, the regulation of size of submarines.

Agreement Near on Method.

The meeting was opened by Mr. MacDonald, who reported that the subcommittee which had been appointed to discuss technical difficulties in the matter of the method of restricting tonnage had agreed on a report, which would be submittted to the first committee tomorrow. He hoped, he said, that an agreement on this report would be reached and that it could be reported to another plenary session within a few days. He then called upon Mr. Alexander to state the British case.

Mr. Alexander's speech was devoted wholly to a plea for the abolition of the submarine. He argued both on technical and humanitarian grounds, and for the first time brought forward a plea for the submarine crews. He pictured the hard life they lead and the constant danger to which they were exposed. He said that since 1918, 570 men have met death in accidents to submarines belonging to the five powers represented at the conference table.

Stimson Cites High Cost.

Mr. Stimson, after proclaiming unreservedly America's conversion to the antisubmarine position, devoted himself to technical arguments. He reckoned that, allowing for the fact that submarines cost twice as much per ton to build as large warships, and that their life is only 13 years, and while large numbers of them are needed to be effective, the actual cost of submarine tonnage was four times that of surface craft.

He announced unequivocally that it was abuse of the submarine's use that had brought America into the world war, and he declared the chief objection to the submarine was that it was a weapon peculiarly susceptible to abuse.

France Fights Proposal.

Georges Leygues, for the French government, produced a lucid and clearly reasoned argument in favor of the retention of undersea boats. He denied the submarine differed in nature from any other warships and asserted it is a defensive weapon. He declared its use could be regulated as well as that of any other type of ship. The submarine is no worse than an airplane, he said.

Dino Grandi, speaking for Italy, balanced himself carefully on the fence. He was for abolition of the submarine and for its restriction. He didn't see why it should not be regulated, but he knew that it could be abused. Finally, he asked, if the submarine, as a weapon for the weaker powers, should be abolished, why not also abolish capital ships, the weapon of the strong powers?

At the end of the speeches, the conference agreed to send both the French and American resolutions to the first committee for consideration

GET OUT OR HANG! SPAIN'S KING TOLD BY REPUBLICANS

Alfonso Target for Flood of Bitter Attacks.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Feb. 11.—Republican feeling boiled and ran over in Spain today during the celebration of the anniversary of the short lived republic of 1873.

Sure that their moment had come and that they were free to express themselves in public for the first time in six years, the hardy republicans, intrenched behind banquet tables in Madrid and Barcelona and in towns and villages all over the country, loosed savage attacks on the king and announced the imminent advent of a new republic in 1930.

Hints Hanging for King.

"There are only two roads open to the Bourbons," roared Alexander Lerroux, graying veteran of the Spanish republicans. "One leads to the frontier and the other to the scaffold."

Street demonstrations were banned today, but Premier Berenguer gave orders to the police that the sky was the limit in the banquet halls. The bitterest attacks imaginable were made on King Alfonso, Gen. Berenguer, and the former dictator, Primo de Rivera. But there is no record tonight of any disorder, nor were any arrests made anywhere.

Six hundred republicans met in Madrid and cheered their respective leaders, and each tried to outdo the other in inflammatory verbiage. A number of artillery officers in civilian clothes cheered with the rest. But Maj. Ramon Franco and certain high officers known to be republicans prudently stayed away. It was Maj. Franco who flew from Madrid to Cadiz with orders for the garrison there to rise up against the dictatorship two weeks ago.

Primo's Sons Beat Up Aristocrat.

There was one casualty in the person of Gen. Queipo del Llano, a cavalry officer, member of the one of Madrid's most aristocratic families and the uncle of the duke of d'Abrantes. Primo de Rivera deprived him of his cavalry command and put him in the reserve. The general has never forgiven him for that.

Tonight, in the café Du Lion d'Or, he met Miguel and Antonio de Rivera, sons of the former dictator. Gen. del Llano, a crack duellist, made some remarks about the late dictatorship. The two sons set upon him with their canes. Much glass was broken and the general was badly beaten and cut about the head. The two sons came off fairly undamaged. The general intends to send his seconds to both of them in the morning and will offer to duel them one after the other.

"RED BIDDY," SCOTCH DRINK, HARMFUL, COMMONS IS TOLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 11.—A beverage known as "Red Biddy," said to be more potent than American corn liquor, invaded the house of commons today, but only as a parliamentary question. A member of parliament asked Secretary of State Adamson of Scotland if he woud investigate the damage to health caused by "Red Biddy" among the industrial population of western Scotland.

Secretary Adamson replied that the drink is being increasingly consumed in the poorer areas of certain districts of Scotland, with most serious effects on the health of its drinkers.

The base of "Red Biddy" is a Spanish wine, to which a generous slug of pure alcohol is added to give the drink a powerful effect. It sells at about 25 cents a gallon.

U. S. KEEPS OUT OF TARIFF TRUCE MEET AT GENEVA

Tells League Observer Will Attend.

GENEVA, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The American government notified the league of nations secretariat through the Berne legation today that the United States would not participate in the international conference for a tariff truce beginning at Geneva Feb. 17, but would have an observer present.

Edwin C. Wilson, first secretary of the American embassy in Paris, will attend this diplomatic gathering "with a view to obtaining information regarding developments of the conference."

Ask Three Year Truce.

This conference, the department's communication recalls, will seek an agreement whereby states engage not to increase the levels of existing tariffs or create new customs duties during a period of two to three years. It further cited the assembly's resolution of last September which recommended "establishment, if necessary, of a program of subsequent negotiations for facilitating economic relations by all practicable means and especially by reducing hindrances to trade."

Regarding these aims the state department communication said:

"The American government views with approbation any endeavor to facilitate world-wide economic relations and to remove discriminatory economic measures, and has with this object signed and ratified a convention for the abolition of export prohibitions and restrictions. It has coöperated with other international activities looking to the betterment of economic conditions throughout the world.

League Chiefs Disappointed.

"The government of the United States does not feel, however, that it could at this time usefully participate in the conference. The American government nevertheless will follow with sympathetic interest any action which may be taken by states participating in this conference to promote by non-discriminatory measures their economic welfare."

PUMPS UP TIRE; FALLS DEAD.

The exertion of pumping up a punctured tire yesterday proved fatal for Albert Martin, 60 years old retired grocer of 717 Waveland avenue, who collapsed and died at a filling station at Oakdale avenue and Halsted street. He had been afflicted with heart disease.

REICHSTAG RIOTS AS O. K. ON YOUNG PLAN IS ASKED

Government Backs Bill to Free Germany.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 11.—A spectacular duel was fought in the reichstag today when the foreign minister of the German republic, Dr. Julius Curtius, asked parliament to ratify the Young plan for settlement of reparations. The chief henchman of the former kaiser, Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, newspaper king of Germany in his own right and leader of the Nationalists, stormed and sputtered against the debt plan, trying to induce the reichstag to reject it. Despite the violence of the battle, the government is confident it will put over the Young plan.

"I declare in the name of the government that we are fully aware of the weight of the burdens imposed on Germany for two full generations, still I ask the reichstag to accept the Young plan," Dr. Curtius said. He stressed the fact that if the reichstag agrees to the Young plan it must immediately devise a means to carry it out loyally.

Dr. Curtius told the reichstag the debt agreement involved great sacrifices, but he considered them necessary because "acceptance of the Young plan means liberation of German soil from foreign occupation on June 30. It does away with the uncertainty of the Dawes plan, which did not mention the final sum Germany must pay. The capital value of the German reparations debt which remains to be paid is set at $8,214,000,000."

Rudolph Breitscheid, leader of the Socialists, depicted the progress Germany has made toward recovery in the last eleven years, and saw the Young plan as a milestone of better times, and announced that his party with its 153 members would vote for its adoption.

While Mr. Breitscheid was still speaking the mystery man of the reichstag, the leader of the Nationalists, Dr. Hugenberg, announced that he would speak. For the last seven years he has been silent in the reichstag because he despised the parliamentary system. He is the man who organized the unsuccessful referendum against the Young plan.

His vicious attack on the Young plan was answered by the Socialists in an uproar unparalleled in the history of the reichstag. Deputy Wels told Dr. Hugenberg he made money on the misery of the German people and had no right to whine about it. The uproar did not cease until President Loebe expelled two members of the national Socialist party while the communists, the usual organizers of parliamentary bedlam, looked on like gentlemen.

90 MILE WIND MAKES CROWDED LINER DO A SHIMMY IN MIDOCEAN

New York, Feb. 11.—[Special.]—Although she ran into a wind of between 90 and 100 mile velocity, which caused her, according to the passengers, to do a "shimmy" in mid-Atlantic, the Mauretania of the Cunard line arrived here on time today with 612 passengers from Southampton and Cherbourg. She also brought 12,000 bags of mail.

"The weather was very bad Saturday night, so bad, in fact, that I had to slow the engines down to eleven knots," explained Capt. S. G. S. McNeil, the master. "And we took the wind not on the nose but on the port quarter, which caused the screws to emerge from the water at times, and this may account for what the passengers call our 'shimmying.'"

Congressman Kunz and Son to Face Trial Next Week

Congressman Kunz and his son, Stanley Jr., will go to trial on Feb. 20 before Judge Harry B. Miller in the Criminal court on the charge of conspiracy growing out of the alleged sale of a police department job. The trial day was set yesterday, when both Assistant State's Attorney George Lavin and Attorney Eugene McGarry, the congressman's lawyer, asked for immediate trial. The defense attorney said his client wanted to be cleared of the charge before the April primary election.

For COLDS

We all catch colds and they can make us miserable; but yours needn't last long if you will do this: Take two or three tablets of Bayer Aspirin just as soon as possible after a cold starts. Stay in the house if you can—keep warm. Repeat with another tablet or two of Bayer Aspirin every three or four hours, if those symptoms of cold persist. Take a good laxative when you retire, and keep bowels open. If throat is sore, dissolve three tablets in a quarter-glassful of water and gargle. This soothes inflammation and reduces infection. There is nothing like Bayer Aspirin for a cold, or sore throat. And it relieves aches and pains almost instantly. The genuine tablets, marked Bayer, are absolutely harmless to the heart.

GOULD BARS 'TUX' TO WIN 'RITZY' TO GAMBLING CASINO

Rivals Open War to Lure Cash Heavy Yanks.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 11.—There is a war to the finish down Riviera way, that gold coast spot of the old world which about this time of the year airs out its glittering hotel palaces, renaissance gambling rooms and "holdup" restaurants. The Riviera opens them for as much business as elderly American women with young ideas, their husbands, their gigolos, and the European counterpart to all three, can be induced to steer that way.

This struggle is a war between towns — mainly Cannes, Nice and Monte Carlo, which look out over the blue Mediterranean and implore the gods to send them some gamblers for their half-empty casinos.

Americans Are Missed.

During the last few years, or since Americans have discovered their own Florida and California and have stopped coming here in hordes, there haven't been enough spoils to go around. Hence the war.

First the promoters fought each other with high powered advertising, written by experts imported from New York. But now they seem to have descended to roguish tricks. Today Frank Jay Gould decided to do something about it.

Mr. Gould furnished $5,000,000 for the Palais de Mediterreanee, the world's most sumptuous casino, which opened at Nice a year ago.

Gould Gets Aid of Police.

Of late shady looking characters have been penetrating into the Gould gambling palace and rubbing shoulders with the world's aristocracy. The Gould management blames rivals.

They accuse competitors of deliberately planting persons of questionable reputation, attired in dirty shirts and soiled waistcoats, with uncreased trousers and shabby shoes, in their marble palace. They contend that such an element has ruined the place's exclusive atmosphere.

Today Mr. Gould appealed to the police, who promised to help him out at tomorrow night's affair of the season. The gendarmerie will act as official bouncers. Any one trying to gain entrance without complete formal dress will be barred. This order goes, too, for the tuxedo, which some young and older Americans still look on as proper wear for formal affairs.

BANDITS HOLD UP DRUG STORE.

Entering the front door with handkerchiefs over their faces, two armed bandits yesterday forced W. D. Smith, 9230 Dorchester avenue, the manager of a drug store at 801 East 63d street, to open the store safe, from which they extracted $500.

TOUGH GUNMAN SOBS AND BEGS MERCY IN COURT

CRIMINAL COURT.

Ike Newmark, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Alex Gaines, rape, sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary; Raymond Henderson, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge William N. Gemmill.

Henry Hartman, Harry Parker, and Elmer Zender, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life each in Pontiac reformatory; Dennis Cannon, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Walter Hebel, receiving stolen property, sentenced to 1 year in the bridewell and fined $1,000 by Judge Harry Fisher.

William R. Cossey, embezzlement, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge John P. McGoorty.

James Dale, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Peter Schwaba.

Dennis Cannon, 22 years old, was not near so "hard boiled" yesterday when he was sentenced to the penitentiary as he had been several months before when he had his robbery victims helpless a the point of a revolver. Judge Harry Fisher and Assistant State's Attorneys Malachy Coghlan and Andrew Gatenby refused to be swayed by Cannon's tears, especially after the prosecution witnesses had told how tough he was when he had them at his mercy.

The particular crime for which Cannon was sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary was the robbery on Dec. 7 of a jewelry store at 406 South Western avenue. He tied up Thomas B. Pamiagon and Fred Kelerleber and beat them with the butt of his revolver while he debated whether or not to kill them. Cannon sobbed as he entered his plea of guilty and begged the judge and prosecutors to be merciful with him. He was given the maximum sentence.

WORKER DIES OF INJURIES.

Joseph C. Jones, 58 years old, 5541 South Whipple street, an employé of the O. W. Richardson company, died yesterday in the Wesley Memorial hospital as a result of injuries incurred when a box fell on his back in a warehouse on Jan. 15.

HABEAS CORPUS HALTS LAWYER'S TRIP TO A CELL

Attorney Samuel J. Andalman, former master in chancery of the Superior court, with offices at 130 North Wells street, was sentenced to five days in the county jail for contempt of court by Superior Judge Michael L. McKinley yesterday. Before Andalman could be taken to the jail he was released on a writ of habeas corpus issued by Circuit Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski. He will be at liberty until March 3, when the writ is returnable.

Andalman was cited for contempt of court when he filed an intervening petition to vacate an order of Judge McKinley releasing a pensioned fireman from the county jail, where he had been sent for alimony arrears of $1,710. The fireman, Michael J. Healy of Detroit, was represented by Attorney Robert E. Cantwell Jr., and the former wife, Mrs. Violet Healy, by Attorney Andalman.

Andalman asked permission to file his intervening petition to have the release set aside. The judge demanded that Andalman cite law as a habeas corpus action ends with the release of a prisoner. Instead of following the order Andalman filed his petition in the office of the Superior court. Andalman was rebuked by the judge for viewing the citation with humor.

DOZEN GUESTS FLEE FIRE.

A dozen or more guests in the Planters hotel, 19 North Clark street, rushed from their rooms early yesterday when a small fire caused by a leaky gas pipe sent smoke pouring into the lobby.

GET RID OF IT!

Constipation causes a condition of "self-poisoning" that makes it easy for germs to lurk in your system and to do their worst.

When Nature needs assistance, dissolve a teaspoonful of the genuine, imported Carlsbad Sprudel Salt in a large glass full of water and take this just before retiring for the night. Not like other salts—pleasant to take. At all drug stores.

Miss Ella E. Helgeson of Chicago, writes: "My friends thought I would never be able to do any work—but Carlsbad Sprudel Salt fooled them all. I am telling everybody about it!"

Gang Robs a Dress Shop; Locks Butcher in Ice Box

Three bandits riding in a sedan last night robbed Mrs. Tina Bauman, owner of a dress shop at 5613 West North avenue, of 300 dresses valued at $2,000 and then invaded the butcher shop of Richard Snyder at 1410 North St. Louis avenue, taking $25 and leaving Snyder locked in the ice box. At the dress shop one bandit stood guard over Mrs. Bauman while his two companions carted the clothing to the car, which they had parked in the alley.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN, NATIONALIST.

Lincoln was a patriot given the country by the frontier. Americans of today might have trouble in understanding how and from what hands or conditions the frontier families received the torch of patriotism which they passed on burning from carrier to carrier, from generation to generation. Here was something finer than noblesse oblige, fine as that is. These frontiersmen were not responding to the aristocrat's principle that he who has the most from the land shall return to it the greatest service, that he shall be the first into the breach, the last to leave a field and the first to attempt its recovery.

That nobility is one of compensations, of rewards and merits, of privilege honorably paid for. The great American pioneer families did not have the best of it. Much of the time they had the worst of it. They seemed to get little from their country. It could have been to them as much of an abstraction as it was a reality. It frequently was indifferent to them and just as often it was obstructive and hostile.

Sometimes it failed to protect them and sometimes it restrained them from defending themselves. At times the frontier was restless and even rebellious when government seemed hostile or careless, but it gave the country Jackson, a great Unionist, and Lincoln, a greater. Americans in favored circumstances now and earlier have been found pallid in their allegiance to the country which gave them opportunity, but at need the frontier has been stanch.

Washington's devotion to his country is heightened by the fact that his natural inclination toward established order and the allegiance inherent in his aristocratic position could very well have attached him to the home government. He gave his complete loyalty to a new concept called his country, putting at hazard all the advantages a high place in life contained for him.

Lincoln in his youth represented the frontier hopelessness of a family which had receded generation by generation from competence to what may be regarded as incompetence, from opportunity to the lack of it, from good land to poor. Various generations of the family had found themselves progressively less capable of getting much from the country and found it offering less and less to them. Then from the retrogressing stock the great Unionist came when he was most needed. He was a humanitarian. He hated slavery. He wanted to improve the common lot, but his inspiration was not found in any of these qualities or in like emotions and sentiments. They were all subordinated to his devotion to the country. He never considered satisfying his altruistic desires at the expense of the nation. There were many Americans who would have done so. He had much trouble with them.

Lincoln accepted war not to free the slaves but to save the nation. He freed the slaves by the emancipation proclamation, not to abolish slavery but to preserve the Union. He answered the hostile aristocracy of Great Britain by this appeal to the British commoner. It was the strategy of the statesman and not the declaration of the humanitarian. The south had misunderstood him, thinking that he would nullify the constitution and destroy the nation to attack slavery. Abolitionists in the north tried to force him to extreme measures. Pacifists tried to make him compromise. Traitors tried to destroy confidence in him and to persuade the people of the hopelessness of his purpose. Defeatists who were timid but not disloyal urged the abandonment of the costly effort to preserve the Union.

There was only one consideration which prevailed in Lincoln's intention and that was the inviolability of his country. It was impregnable and could not be modified by pressure at home or from abroad. It was proof against foreign threats and contemptuous treatment. It was proof against dissension and disloyalty at home. It resisted altruists, weaklings and traitors.

Lincoln was a nationalist. His humanitarianism was subordinated to his country's good.

THE CASE OF DR. SCHMIDT.

The judicial council of the American Medical association has postponed its decision on the ouster of Dr. Louis Schmidt. Dr. Schmidt was expelled from the Chicago Medical society because of his somewhat indirect connection with the Chicago Public Health institute, which provides treatment at moderate cost to sufferers from venereal disease and advertises its services.

It is to be hoped that the postponement of action by the judicial council indicates a disposition to view the facts regarding the institute and Dr. Schmidt less heatedly. A committee of eminent physicians has been appointed from the membership of the society, with the approval of the institute, to make a study of the institute's practices with a view to removing any objections to them which had been raised in the ouster of Dr. Schmidt. It is to be hoped that the differences of opinion will have been adjusted before the judicial council meets again and disposes of the case finally.

The ouster of Dr. Schmidt can serve no useful purpose. His professional standing is high. His character is unimpeachable. He has had the courage of his convictions regarding the organization of clinics to treat persons of moderate means and he has the support of the mass of public opinion. His fight has forced the issue, and Dr. Schmidt deserves the gratitude of the public for it. We venture to say that a decision of the judicial council which would restore Dr. Schmidt to membership and recognize the usefulness of such organizations as the institute, while laying down principles to avoid the abuse of medical advertising, would be regarded as a step in advance by physicians and laymen alike.

CHICAGO IN RECEIVERSHIP.

Mayor Thompson seems to have come to the conclusion that the city can get cash to pay employés and buy materials only by dealing with the Strawn committee. On behalf of the city and, presumably, of the school board as well, the mayor has, in effect, accepted a receivership. He is still the nominal head of the business, but he no longer controls the purse strings.

Even if the Strawn committee wished to evade the responsibility of deciding which of the public services shall receive money and how much each is to receive, the obligation to make these decisions would be forced upon the receivers. The sums which are to be placed at the disposal of the committee will, in all probability, be insufficient to meet all the expenditures authorized by the local governments during the period of financial stringency resulting from the incompleted reassessment. As there is not enough to go around, what is available has to be apportioned.

Money must be found, for example, to pay the teachers, the policemen and the firemen, but the community can get along nicely if the surplus appointees in the license bureau and the law offices are separated from the pay roll indefinitely. The committee cannot determine how its money is to be spent most advantageously until trustworthy auditors, engineers and office executives have gone into the various bureaus and studied their real requirements for public as opposed to political services. It is therefore probable that the committee will have to call upon business organizations of the city for the loan of competent and disinterested men to study the needs of the various departments and bureaus and to superintend the expenditure of funds allotted. Under similar auspices a few years ago Baltimore achieved a notable improvement in its municipal government and there is every reason to expect that Chicago can do at least as well.

We do not doubt that industrial, commercial and financial houses will make the necessary sacrifice when called upon. We do not doubt, either, that experienced men can determine promptly and accurately which services are worthy and the extent of their true requirements. Indeed, the stubborn resistance of the city hall machine to the receivership can be understood only in the light of its necessary implications.

Needless to say, a heavy responsibility now falls upon Mr. Strawn and his associates. The citizens of Chicago expect them to maintain the essential public services unimpaired, despite a limited supply of funds. Further, the community expects, as a result of the receivership, to learn what honest and competent government of Chicago ought to cost the taxpayers.

MORE ROOM AT THE AIRPORT.

The school board, it is to be hoped, will effectuate the decision of its committee on buildings and grounds approving a fifty year lease of 600 acres for the municipal airport. The ground is property of the schools not required for school building at this location, whereas the municipal airport is in most urgent need of it. Conditions are not good at the airport and they are growing rapidly worse. Takeoffs and landings are becoming more hazardous on Sundays and any days of special activity. Expansion to meet aviation growth means the saving of life and the improvement of service. Chicago should be at the forefront of aviation in facilities, and it is not. The school trustees are not asked to compromise their duty to the schools but to permit the use of public property for public service upon conditions safeguarding the special interests of the schools and providing proper compensation.

Editorial of the Day

NOT OIL, BUT SOIL.

[Grand Rapids, Mich., Press.]

From central Michigan comes the sad complaint that a number of poor homesteaders, struggling to raise crops on miserable soil, are to be disappointed in their visions of wealth from an oil boom in Isabella and Midland counties. They find that their homestead deeds reserved to the state all oil, gas, and mineral rights and gave them only the privilege of scratching the surface.

Nobody who has not been present at an oil boom can know, in all probability, how much it means to these homesteaders to be robbed suddenly of what seems a golden fortune. Gov. Green has announced that he sympathizes with them and is in favor of giving them an interest in any oil developed. Perhaps a means of dividing the state royalty can be discovered.

But only a negligible few homesteaders can be affected by this particular boom and the reservation of oil rights is said to be a common proviso of homestead deeds throughout the country. The chief interest of Michigan in this dispute should center, not about the minor question of royalties for a few, but the claim that the state has been heartlessly engaged in encouraging poor folk in a hopeless venture of homesteading on soil utterly or nearly unfitted for agriculture.

If it is true that the state holds lands open to homesteading regardless of utility for profitable agriculture, the policy is little better than that of the "sight unseen" real estaters who long engaged in selling acres of sterile Michigan sand land to gullible Chicagoans. The state may not profit, but the tragedy of failure and lost hope occurs just the same. The issue seems to be, not oil, but soil.

STANDS RETELLING.

Winston Churchill's visit to the new world reminds me of a story he tells about an American newspaper man who called on him one evening at the close of a very busy day. When the reporter had been admitted, Winnie said to him:

"You ought to feel yourself highly honored, young man. Do you know I have turned down seven of your compatriots already today?"

"I know," replied the reporter. "I'm them."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

CHAUFFEURS AND DEAFNESS

CHAUFFEURS are becoming deaf. This is one of the conclusions of a commission on noise as a hazard to health and noise control as a public health measure. This commission was appointed three months ago by Dr. Shirley Wynne, health commissioner of New York City. They expect to be on the job for some time, to spend a large sum in research, and to report on many phases of the noise question, including methods of control.

They have issued a preliminary report in which the following points occur:

Hearing is likely to be impaired by exposure to constant loud noises.

Noise interferes seriously with the efficiency of the worker.

In the attempt to overcome the effect of noise, great strain is put upon the nervous system, leading to neurasthenic and psychasthenic states. Because of the incessant noise of the city quiet needed for recuperation has to be sought in the country.

Noise interferes seriously with sleep even if we become tolerant.

The nominal development of infants and young children is seriously interfered with by constant loud noises.

The commission began by asking for complaints of noises. Many thousands were received. These were classified. Nearly four out of each ten related to traffic noises such as noise from automobiles, trucks, buses, horns, cutouts, and brakes. More than one of each ten related to noise of loud speakers, some in stores and others in homes. A larger group complained of street car and elevated train noises. Collections and deliveries of such commodities as ashes, garbage, ice, and milk cause one-tenth of the complaints. Noisy parties and dogs were the subject of eight complaints out of each one hundred; building operations for seven.

Among the methods of noise prevention under consideration is the substitution of welding for riveting. If rivets are heated somewhat higher than they now are they could be fastened in place without the rattle of the pneumatic hammer.

The commission will make use of scientific instruments to measure, register, and classify noises. They will also study physiologic effects by means of delicate apparatus.

SEEK TO AVOID CAUSE.

A. K. writes: Will you please tell me what causes my knuckles to split open? They take a long time to heal and are quite sore when they are healing.

Will you please tell me what causes my hands to suddenly break out with a number of blisters, about the size of a pin head? They are usually filled with a substance that looks like water, and they itch. I was told by a friend that the splitting was caused by some sort of infection. Is this true?

Do you know what I can do to overcome both of the above mentioned difficulties?

REPLY.

What do you work at? The symptoms you complain of are generally caused by exposure of the hands to something poisonous to the skin. Among such occasional sources of trouble are: Photographer's chemicals, dyes in gloves, furs or clothing; sugar and some other groceries; soap, water. Exposure to cold may be the cause.

The only satisfactory cure consists in avoiding the cause.

SCARLET FEVER GERMS.

H. G. writes:

1. How long do scarlet fever germs live?

2. During what period of the disease is it contagious? The patient had a very light case and is not peeling at all.

3. What precautions can be taken to keep the rest of the family from catching the disease? They are all adults, but they have never had scarlet fever.

REPLY:

1. In the open air, only a few hours. In direct sunlight, even less.

2. It is most contagious at the onset of the disease. It remains contagious for four or five weeks. A small proportion of cases become convalescent carriers and are capable of spreading the disease for several weeks longer still.

3. The law specifies just what you can and what you cannot do. Ascertain the law in your city and state and obey it.

ROOMER LEAVES BILL AND BAGGAGE.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A roomer left my rooming house owing room rent. 1. Can I hold his baggage until he pays the rent? 2. Can I sell the same for what he owes me? C. P. D.

1. Yes, by appropriate court proceedings. 2. A creditor does not, merely by virtue of being in possession of goods belonging to his debtor, have any technical right to sell without legal proceedings, although the right of set off would give him a qualified immunity if he sold without right. Hence, unless the value of the goods is small compared with the debt, so that they are not likely to be reclaimed, a safer course is to proceed under the 1921 statute, which gives any person who has expended labor or material on a chattel or furnished storage at the request of its owner a lien analogous to the familiar mechanic's lien on real estate. Such lien ceases at the expiration of 60 days from delivery of the goods to the owner, unless claimant files in the recorder's office a lien notice. Such lien may be foreclosed by ordinary chancery proceedings or by advertisement and sale, the first step of which is to deliver to the sheriff a certified copy of the claim for lien, indorsed with request for foreclosure. Adverse parties may within ten days deny the lien, in which case foreclosure in chancery must be begun within an additional ten days. If no denial, the sheriff advertises and sells.

If your principal object is simply to get the goods off your hands, it is simpler to ask a storage warehouse to call for them for the owner's account. The warehouse can easily sell for its charges.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

IS SOLE HEIR.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I expect soon to inherit some money. 1. Is my husband entitled to half of it? 2. Can I take measures to protect my share? A. Z.

1. No. 2. It is yours without any steps being taken. If you wish special protection you should employ an attorney.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

YESSIR, WE GOTTA BE CAREFUL FROM NOW ON.

The papers said yesterday that a lot of big manufacturing concerns had been indicted by the government for selling corn sugar and yeast and things like that to bootleggers. Which brings up the old question of How are you going to tell a fellow is a bootlegger? Of course, if a nice old lady comes in the store and buys a dime's worth of onions, a nickel's worth of cookies, some baking powder, and a bunch of spinach, and then says she wants a cake of yeast, it's probably all right; she's likely going to use the yeast to make bread, and it isn't necessary to call up the Dry Enforcement office and ask 'em to send a cop.

And if the lady that buys the yeast is pretty fat, then it's no use getting a warrant for her. Maybe she's reducing. What we're getting at is that the act of buying yeast is not necessarily a felony; some old-fashioned people still use it in making bread. It's pretty hard to tell who wants the yeast to make bootleg hootch out of. Even if a man with a villainous face and a scar on his left cheek, and who says his name is Max, buys the yeast, that isn't always conclusive.

While all bootleggers say their name is Max when they call you up on the telephone and tell you about the big supply they've just received by aeroplane from Canada, still all people who say their name is Max aren't bootleggers. Why, we knew a man once who had a villainous face, but who couldn't help it—he was born that way—and he was so kind-hearted he burst into tears when he happened to step on a worm. He had a scar on his face that he got trying to save a poor little dog from a burning barn and his name was Max. Now, he was married, and his wife might have sent him down to the grocer's once in a while to buy yeast. But you can see for yourself that pinching that poor bird on the ground that he was a bootlegger would have been all wrong.

And take sugar. It's pretty hard nowadays to tell whether a man is buying sugar to cook into likker, or whether he's getting it because his little daughter Carrie is giving a party and wants to make fudge for her merry little schoolmates.

Anyhow, everybody's got to be careful after what's happened. Now, you probably buy yeast and sugar yourself sometimes. Maybe your name is Max, and instead of having a villainous countenance you have a sweet, kind face that's like a little toy lamb. But the point is, after this before you go around carelessly buying sugar and yeast, you'd better be prepared. You ought to carry your birth certificate, your vaccination certificate, your church card, your income tax receipt, your lodge card, and a letter from your pastor.

THE MIDDLE MILESTONE.

Lament of a gentleman who has recently found his arms too short for his focal distance, and has had to pass rather rapidly through the successive stages: reading glasses, two pair (nigh specs and fur specs), and bifocals.

At last I yield. I cannot read
The print I used to scan with ease—
The railway guide, the crabbed screed,
The telephone directories.

And if, with lens to suit my age
(By hook and Crookes, as one might say),
I focus on the shimmering page,
Then I can't see six feet away.

I've been considered young, I hope,
By folks in this locality.
Now I start down the western slope
Through the gate of bi-focality.

Then come, friend Kryptok, join with me,
To pluck the sleeve of fleeting youth,
An innocent conspiracy.
At least we'll veil the naked truth.

I'll view youth's world, with harmless guile
(Although I cannot stay with it),
Through your clear eyes, with kindly smile
As though I lived there. For a while Perhaps I'll get away with it.

What, This Man Guilty! Might It Not Have Been . . .

We've read a lot of rattling good detective stories (except Cliff Raymond's The Men on the Dead Man's Chest. Gosh, have we got to go and buy that book?), but nothing so enthralling as For the Defence, by Edward Majoribanks. Now, if you insist in your thrills being imaginary ones, don't hustle right off to get For the Defence. You'll yell murder, robber, fire, thieves, and try to get your money back when you find the book's a biography of England's great criminal lawyer, Sir Edward Marshall Hall. If the truth gives you a pain in the neck, leave For the Defence alone. "But," as Cleopatra whispered to Marc Antony, "truth has got it all over the six best sellers." And that's why the unraveling of some of England's greatest murder mysteries by a great lawyer and a great biographer kept the goose pimples running up and down our back when we read it and made us jump for the old six-shooter and say, "Who's there? Don't move for you're a dead man," when the bellhop tapped at the door late last night to bring back the week's wash.

LAGNIAPPE.

NEW YORK CITY brags of having thirty-two thousand speakeasies. But don't get the wrong idea; we bought a hat in New York last year and the missus bought a suit. So, here and there between the speakeasies in New York, there are places where you can buy something besides hootch.

GOVERNMENT STATISTICS show that the U. S. has an automobile for every four and a half persons in the country. Yeah, and who made all those half persons? Betcha the autos ran over 'em.

YES, this is the one hundred and twentieth anniversary of his birth, yet some people shudder yet that when he was a man grown he went to the front door when callers came with his coat and vest off and in his socks. THE TEST OF TRUE GREATNESS

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 12, 1865.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Gen. Grant's appearance on the floor of the house of representatives was the signal for a general rush of members to greet him, and finding it impossible to transact any business the house took a recess of five minutes. Subsequently he was formally presented to the house and blushed like a schoolgirl when he was introduced, and the house and gallery resounded with applause. He testified today before the war committee relative to the first Fort Fisher affair. Friends of Gen. Butler predict he will be triumphantly vindicated for his part in the matter.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Gen. B. H. Grierson was brevetted major general for gallant and distinguished services.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.—James S. Hicks, 67th Pennsylvania, and Samuel Clement, 3d Maine, were executed, the former for desertion and the latter for desertion and cowardice.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Richmond papers of Feb. 9 announce the death of Gen. Winder, rebel commissary general of prisoners. A dispatch states that a report had reached Richmond that Branchville had been captured by Gen. Sherman. It says the report is doubtless true. As Hardee's principal force was at that point, it is probable that a battle took place there in which the rebels were worsted. All of the papers are filled with furious articles against Lincoln.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—The delay of the convention in repealing the black laws of this state compels our citizens to witness Negroes lashed for petit larceny and the refusal of courts to allow Negroes to testify in robbery cases—a state of affairs causing indignation and surprise.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 12, 1900.

LONDON.—There is a report that the Boers have taken the offensive and are marching under Gen. Joubert to cut off further retreat of Gen. Buller's forces. The Boers are said to be moving on two important points simultaneously. Meanwhile Lord Roberts has arrived at Modder river, and a movement forward from there is regarded by military experts to be only a matter of a few days.

CHICAGO.—Archbishop Patrick A. Feehan of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Chicago is ill with pneumonia at his residence, State street and North avenue. His physicians, Dr. Truman W. Miller and Dr. Nicholas Senn, however, pronounce his condition as satisfactory.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—It is reported that Henry Phipps Jr., next to the largest stockholder in the Carnegie Steel company, has broken business relations with Mr. Carnegie. The two have been friends and business associates for many years.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 12, 1920.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The United States and the railroad workers are in a deadlock over wage increases and the dispute, involving the possibility of one or more rail union strikes, if not a general paralysis of transportation, will be put up to President Wilson tomorrow for final determination of the government's attitude. Refusing the wage advances ranking from 5 per cent to 40 per cent demanded by the unions, Director General Hines terminated conferences with the union leaders.

PARIS.—Gaby Deslys, the dancer, died here following several recent operations for infection of the throat. Her name became known ten years or more ago when King Manuel of Portugal displayed his infatuation for her. Since then she had made two visits to America.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—The executive committee of the American Legion has come out flat-footedly for "adjusted compensation" for service men in the late war amounting to more than $1,900,000,000. The demand for it will be made on congress and Commander Franklin D'Ollier will name a committee.

CHICAGO.—About 2,000 delegates, representing about 2,000,000 members of suffrage organizations in every state of the Union, will attend the 51st annual convention of the National American Woman Suffrage association, which begins today.

CERTAIN LINES FROM BROWNING.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—Perhaps it would be effective for the people of Chicago to follow the example of the villagers of Hamelin who found themselves in a similar situation many years ago. As you remember, the town was infested with rats that "bit the babies in the cradles and ate the cheeses out of the vats, and licked the soup from the cook's own ladies." Isn't that precisely our trouble here in Chicago? And this is what those townsfolk did, as told by Robert Browning in his famous poem, "The Pied Piper of Hamelin."

At last the people in a body
To the town hall came flocking:
"'Tis clear," cried they, "our mayor's a noddy;
And as for our corporation—shocking.
To think we buy gowns lined with ermine
For dolts than can't or won't determine
What's best to rid us of our vermin!
You hope, because you're old and obese,
To find in the furry civic robe ease?
Rouse up, sirs! Give your brains a racking
To find the remedy we're lacking,
Or, sure as fate, we'll send you packing!"
At this the mayor and corporation
Quaked with mighty consternation.

Browning might have written that for our particular benefit, so appropriate is it. Interesting that he should have been so familiar with conditions in Chicago today! L. E. H.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 8.—Please allow me to set forth a new slant on the bad effects of Chicago's bad finances; I mean, how it appears to most every one out of town.

When I say "I'm from Chicago" I am cross-examined without delay. People here and elsewhere are just about convinced that our city is on the rocks. They even ask if folks at home are in the "middle of a famine." It takes pretty good oratory to offset such beliefs. But such bad news [nearly 100 per cent political, 'tis true] is believed to apply to the industrious and prosperous citizens of our city. Folks around in distant places imagine mobs of Chicagoans reduced to actual beggary. Silly? Yes—but it is the result of the ill advertising brought on by the present city administration.

When a Chicagoan notes the vast difference between the high respect and wonderment [at its phenomenal growth] once enjoyed by our city, and the pauperized impression now so widespread, he sees that unpaid teachers are but part of the bad effects of the mismanagement of our city.

I hope THE TRIBUNE will take steps to tell the world that our town is still very much alive and that the bad news is political—not personal. M. M. Orr.

RADIOS FOR REFORMATION.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—I see by today's TRIBUNE that the warden of the Joliet penitentiary has made arrangements to tell each and every boarder a bedtime story by radio. That's fine. A police officer has about one chance in one hundred of convicting a crook, but when it does occur it is a great satisfaction to the officer to know that the poor fellow will be so well taken care of. If he likes the place it may not be so difficult to send him back the next time.

This "kill them with kindness" system has had a long trial in all parts of the country, and we all know it has borne fruit. If the boys are asked to miss their movie or baseball game, or the bath water is not hot enough, they take the place all apart and cut the warden's ears off.

It is a great system. Let's keep it up and see just how far it will go.

H. A. FULMER.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—Among the laws that stand in need of revision the law of compulsory education is one that needs it badly. My boy is 16 years old. He had two years of high school, and is continuing his high school work by attending evening classes. In spite of all this he is required to report one day a week at the Jones school at Dearborn and Harrison streets. What logic or reason is there in this? He is healthy and strong and is able to do a day's work, but cannot get the right position because very few employers will trouble to engage the services of a boy who must be away from his work one day a week. CRITICIZE JUDGE FOR LENIENCY IN ATTEMPTED RAPE

Bar Committee Demands Retrial of Case.

Chief Justice D. J. Normoyle of the Criminal court yesterday was criticized by a committee of the Chicago Bar association for allowing the state's attorney's office recently to change a charge of assault to commit rape lodged against August Boldt to a charge of petty larceny.

Boldt, a 31 year old plumber, was indicted and convicted of an attempted criminal assault upon Geraldine Plumb, a young mother in her home, which was under construction. After the jury found him guilty and he faced a long term in the penitentiary, Judge Normoyle allowed a motion to arrest judgment and later, when three assistant state's attorneys had consented to it, the whole matter was expunged from the records. Boldt was allowed to plead guilty to petty larceny and given six months in the House of Correction.

Retrial is Demanded.

The committee of the Bar association, after full investigation, reported yesterday to the board of managers of the organization. The committee concludes that Boldt's "plea of guilty and sentence for petty larceny was without warrant of law." It recommended that the plea be expunged from the record, that Boldt again be brought to trial for assault to commit rape, and that Judge Normoyle and State's Attorney Swanson be notified of the committee's findings "in such manner as the board shall deem fit, having in mind the public interest as well as that of the parties" involved.

"Judge Normoyle states that he was convinced that the evidence did not sustain the charge of assault to commit rape, that he could not allow the verdict of the jury to stand, but he felt some punishment for the assault should be meted out," says the bar statement. "He said while he could have sentenced the defendant under the law for assault and battery, he was loath to do this because the maximum punishment therefore was a fine not exceeding $100, which he felt was insufficient to meet the demands of justice in the case. On the other hand, by a sentence of imprisonment in the house of correction, the ends of justice would be fully served.

Fiction Is Adopted.

"The fiction of petty larceny was therefore adopted by the court and counsel for the state and it was acquiesced in by the defendant's attorney in the interest of what Judge Normoyle terms 'social defense.' Court and counsel knew that the sentence entered was void and that the defendant could secure his discharge by a writ of habeas corpus.

"This case involved an attempt on the part of Judge Normoyle to administer abstract or social justice outside of the rules of procedure prescribed by the law. He acted from good motives and his conduct reflected credit upon his sensibilities and zeal in the public interest, but it violated his obligations to administer even handed justice in accordance with the laws which governed his judicial conduct.

"The assistant state's attorneys should not have acquiesced in the proceedings."

OHIOAN RAPS PLAN TO CHARGE CHICAGO FOR LAKES PROJECT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—Forcing the Chicago sanitary district to contribute toward the construction of compensating works to increase the levels of the great lakes would seem too much like "blood money," Representative W. W. Chalmers [Rep., O.] today told the house.

Mr. Chalmers addressed the house in behalf of a bill which he has introduced for incorporation in the rivers and harbors bill to provide for compensation works in the St. Clair river and contraction works in the Niagara river in accordance with the recommendation of army engineers.

Mr. Chalmers explained that the share of the sanitary district of Chicago, as fixed by the joint board of engineers for the St. Lawrence waterway would be $1,750,000, leaving a balance of $1,650,000 to be paid by the federal government. As one of the active opponents against Chicago in the water diversion fight, Mr. Chalmers in reply to questions, said that he personally was reluctant to charge up this "blood money" to that city.

Garage Owner Is Burned to Death in Oil Tank Blast

Edward Peacock, 32 years old, 3519 West 61st place, owner of the Peacock Cartage company, a garage at 5941 South State street, was burned to death yesterday in an explosion of oil fumes in an empty oil tank in the garage. Peacock was attempting to repair the tank with an acetylene torch. Flames in the blast ignited his clothing. A worker in the garage, James Meidell, 5727 South Sacramento avenue, was burned slightly.

CORONER ENLISTS CIVIC LEADERS TO AID HIM IN JOB

Will Act as an Advisory Board in Inquiries.

Coroner Herman N. Bundesen yesterday announced a plan to enlist the aid of prominent physicians, scholars, business men, and civic leaders as a body of permanent consultants on scientific and efficient investigation of deaths. Members of the consulting group are to be sworn in as special deputy coroners and will act as an auxiliary to the coroner's office.

The group will consider the problems of the office and offer suggestions for improvement and for the adoption of various scientific means for the determination of causes of death and for the investigation of difficult cases. All are to be paid a nominal salary of $1 a year and are, in turn, to place themselves at the disposal of the coroner in cases of unusual interest or those that are especially perplexing.

The first meeting of the advisory board is to be called soon to discuss methods of procedure. The meeting was to have been held yesterday, but was postponed because members of the group have not all been named. Selection of the members is being made by an independent committee of physicians.

Sees Aid to Community.

"The plan cannot help but be of great aid to the community," Coroner Bundesen said. "In my campaign I pledged myself to operate the office in a thorough manner. In the interest of adopting the most up to date methods I have invited the coöperation of men in high standing in all professions to make suggestions and lend personal efforts when the occasion arises.

"Such men may be able to offer ideas which are not employed at present. The public will obtain the benefit of their ideas and service. A similar plan was highly successful while I served as health commissioner."

Goddard Will Serve.

Lieut. Col. Calvin Goddard, ballistics expert at the Northwestern university school of crime detection, will serve on the group. A number of physicians, representing the University of Chicago and various hospitals, have been selected. Other members will be announced later.

The physicians and surgeons selected are Drs. L. Hektoen, Durand hospital; Harry C. Harris; H. G. Wells, Billings Memorial; W. G. Hibbs, Children's Memorial; I. Pilot, Lutheran Deaconess; C. W. Apfelbach, Presbyterian; E. Hirsch, St. Luke's; E. R. Long, South Shore; H. Douglas Singer, University; Paul Cannon, South Shore; A. J. Peterson, Roseland; J. P. Simons, Alexian Brothers; L. Hines, St. Joseph's, and W. C. Hueper.

W. D. Glennon Tries to End Life; Will Recover

Physicians said last evening that William D. Glennon, 49 years old, of 103 Robsart road, Kenilworth, who tried to commit suicide earlier in the day, would recover. Mr. Glennon, suffering from a nervous breakdown, slashed his throat and wrists in the offices in the Garland building of Almer Coe & Co., of which he is secretary. Mr. Glennon is noted for optical inventions and discoveries. He is in St. Luke's hospital.

Pierce-Arrows are for Pierce-Arrow People

Pride, rather than Price, rules the Preference

PIERCE-ARROW fineness appeals to certain people who put that rare quality ahead of all else in a motor car. Price rarely affects their preference.

Thus, the Pierce-Arrow sort of people are in no single income bracket. They meet on the common ground of devotion to things that are fine. And for these people, Pierce-Arrows are especially created.

From the lowest priced car of the three new Pierce-Arrow groups, to the most expensive custom creation in the line, this basic appeal is present. It expresses itself in beautifully designed and tailored interiors—in colorings that are lovely in their harmonies—in every inch of the low-swung, slender gracefulness that is Pierce-Arrow.

It seems superfluous to mention that these new cars are equally ultra-modern in mechanical detail. A recent development is the new transmission which permits silent gear-shifting at any speed—with an intermediate capable of 60 miles an hour, without hum or vibration. Magical in traffic! In every phase of performance, Pierce-Arrow at its finest!

THREE NEW GROUPS OF STRAIGHT EIGHTS

Group A: 132 Horsepower
144-inch Wheelbase

Group B: 125 Horsepower

Group C: 115 Horsepower
132-inch Wheelbase
$2695 to $2875

(All prices f. o. b. Buffalo)

In the purchase of a car from income, the average allowance on a good used car usually more than covers the initial Pierce-Arrow payment.

DON'T SUFFER FROM CONSTIPATION

Prevent It This Pleasant, Healthful Way

Beware of the frequent headaches, the listless feeling, bad breath and sallow complexion.

If allowed to continue, constipation may get its grip on you and serious sickness can result.

The poisonous wastes in your system must be removed. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to do this—safely, completely. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—recurring cases, with every meal.

Doctors recommend Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Because it is ALL-BRAN it brings complete results. Far better than habit-forming drugs or pills that are often dangerous. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN not only prevents and relieves constipation pleasantly—it also supplies your blood with the iron it needs to keep a healthy color and a strong body.

Ready-to-eat with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Use it in cooking. Recipes are on the package for muffins and breads. Sold by all grocers. Served by hotels, restaurants and dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

DOCTORS FIGHT PROPOSED U. S. NARCOTIC BUREAU

Would Be Worse than Prohibition, They Say.

The council of the Chicago Medical society at a meeting last night adopted a resolution condemning the so-called "Porter bills" now under consideration by congress. The measures propose the establishment of a federal bureau of narcotics similar to the present prohibition enforcement unit.

The debate in the council brought out that a majority of the members are opposed to present methods of enforcing the prohibition law. In the discussion that preceded the adoption of the resolution it was predicted that the Porter bills would set up a new bureaucracy even more obnoxious to the physicians than that of the dry forces.

Call Bills Paternalistic.

The Porter bills "will hamper and impede the proper and legitimate practice of medicine," the resolution declared. "They are paternalistic in character, they favor the substitution of a powerful bureaucracy in Washington in place of the authority of the states, and would deprive the citizens of their due rights and liberties under the law."

Copies of the resolution will be sent to each of the Illinois senators and representatives in congress with a plea that they vote against the Porter bills.

Demand Action on Schmidt Case.

The council of the medical society also demanded immediate action of the American Medical society on the case of Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, noted physician. Dr. Schmidt was expelled from the Chicago Medical society because of his connection with the Public Health institute, a semi-charitable institution, which advertises.

Dr. Schmidt carried an appeal from his expulsion to the Illinois Medical society and then to the American Medical society. The latter organization listened to his arguments and then took the case under advisement.

"The inactivity of the American Medical society on this important case is inimical to the welfare of organized medicine throughout the United States," the council resolution read. "We ask the Illinois Medical society to protest to the American Medical society against any further delay in a decision on this case."

IRA D. PERRY JR., SLAYER, REFUSED PAROLE BY BOARD

Ira D. Perry Jr., son of a wealthy Chicago automobile lock inventor, was refused a parole yesterday by the state board of pardons and parole. He is serving a life sentence for the murder, in 1922, of William Schaller, a northwest side jeweler.

Perry's attorneys asked for a parole on the ground that the state had originally agreed to give Perry a 14 year sentence. The state's attorney's office opposed clemency for the slayer, who was a member of the so-called Devon gang, which robbed many jewelers and committed several murders.

In 1925 Perry was admitted to a parole, but many protests caused the parole board of that time under the then governor, Len Small, to revoke its original order and Perry was returned from Iowa and put back in the penitentiary.

NEGRO ATTACKER OF WOMAN GETS LIFE SENTENCE

Alex Gaines, 28 years old, colored, was sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday by Judge William N. Gemmill of the Criminal court when he pleaded guilty to attacking a 22 year old woman. The crime occurred on Jan. 2 when the young woman was returning to her home after visiting some friends. She had just left a suburban railroad station at 87th street when she was seized by Gaines and dragged under the platform and assaulted.

"I am sorry that the old laws are not in effect in your case," the judge said. "In that event you could be sentenced to death for the crime you committed and you would be getting the punishment you deserved."

OXYGEN CHAMBER TO AID SUFFERER FROM PNEUMONIA

Apparatus Is Gift to Passavant Hospital.

Scientific aid in the battle for breath that in pneumonia is frequently a battle for life, soon will be available at Passavant hospital for patients in the more serious stages of that ailment. An oxygen room, one of only four or five in the country, is nearing completion at the hospital and will probably be ready for use within the next two weeks.

The new chamber is designed to regulate with the greatest precision the atmosphere surrounding the patient. In appearance it resembles more than anything else a de luxe refrigerating chamber. In principle and in fact, it is not far from that. Its function is to regulate to a nicety the amount of oxygen the patient will breathe, and to maintain a constant and even temperature and a constant degree of humidity in the air.

Accommodates Two Patients.

The oxygen room itself is double, accommodating two patients. It comprises a separate, smaller chamber constructed entirely of plymetal—two metals with insulating material between—in one of the largest of the hospital rooms. It is possible for a nurse to walk completely around the chamber and to view the patient from all sides without stepping into the oxygen room proper.

No article and no attachment of any kind will be permitted in the room except the patient and the bed on which he lies. Natural light is admitted through the large, clear glass windows. Artificial light comes through roomy skylights in the metal roof. That is necessary because of the delicacy of the mechanism involved in keeping the air content at the proper standard.

Physicians will prescribe the required air content when a patient is admitted to the room. The nurses will regulate the temperature, the degree of humidity, and the amount of oxygen to be used, and will set the apparatus to keep the flow constant.

Makes Breathing Easier.

The metal door will then be swung shut and sealed. The patient will breathe the oxygen he requires with far less effort and with less drain on his strength than under ordinary conditions or with the aid of the makeshift tent usually resorted to for such aid.

Carbon dioxide given off into the air as the patient breathes will be removed from the air as it passes through a purifying chemical. The same air then passes over a cooling coil, which brings the temperature down, and as it is raised again before being sent back into the chamber the humidity is equalized and the purified air returned to the oxygen room.

Dr. Irving Cutter, dean of the school of medicine at Northwestern university, describes the oxygen room as an immeasurable advance in doctoring pneumonia. The donor is Col. Robert R. McCormick.

RHEUMATISM

Hereditary?

Many people think because their father or grandfather had Rheumatism that they must be resigned to a life of pain and helplessness. A doubtful theory. Rheumatism is just like any other disease—it reflects some abnormal functioning of the vital organs—and should have immediate corrective treatment. Hundreds of letters in our files are convincing proof of the merits of Mountain Valley Mineral Water as an aid in the treatment of Rheumatism. They contain such statements as, "The pains of Rheumatism are gone. Five weeks of Mountain Valley Mineral Water brought me relief." "Mountain Valley Mineral Water without a doubt banished Rheumatism for me." Learn more. Read our booklet. Phone for a copy today.

INVENTS TUBES TO KEEP RADIOS FROM HUMMING

Household Sets Improved by Research Worker.

Newark, N. J., Feb. 11.—(AP)—The "hum" has been taken out of the radio tube.

This bugaboo, introduced to household radios when battery sets became passé, has been conquered in the laboratory through the development of a new tube. The problem was solved by Benjamin F. Meissner, research engineer of Short Hills, N. J., who has been identified with radio development for more than ten years.

The secret of overcoming hum was not disclosed by the announcement today. The internal construction of the radio tube has been altered, but tube characteristics are unchanged otherwise.

Tests Show Difference.

While the method has been applied practically only to the indirectly heated types of AC tubes, such as the 227 and the screen grid, Mr. Meissner expressed the belief that it is possible to use the scheme on raw AC filament tubes like the 226.

In comparative tests the tube developed only from one-fiftieth to one-one hundredth the amount of hum produced in present day tubes. For example, tubes in wide use today generated from .6 volt to 1.9 volts of hum. That from the new tube was so small as to be almost immeasurable.

Represents 3 Years of Work.

Mr. Meissner, in pointing out that his development represents three years of intensive research, said that the tube will be of value in eliminating hum from receivers now in the home. He explained that most of the hum is generated by the detector tube, and that much of it can be suppressed merely by replacing that tube with one of the hum free type.

He added that hum free tubes as radio frequency amplifiers and audio amplifiers reduce any remaining hum to the point where it can barely be heard in a pair of headphones connected in place of the loud speaker. While laboratory work has been completed, Mr. Meissner was unable to say when such tubes will be available.

Mr. Meissner has spent much of his time since 1920 in research on AC tubes, including not only their early development but numerous improvements that have been applied since they were first introduced more than two years ago. He also has improved and simplified power units which change AC current into the high voltage direct current required for the operation of radio tubes in addition to the filament heating source.

Billy Ranieri's Kidnaper Loses Fight to Dodge Cell

Angelo Petitti, leader of a gang of Sicilian extortionists, yesterday lost his final fight to escape serving a 25 year penitentiary sentence for the kidnaping of little Billy Ranieri more than a year ago. The Supreme court refused to grant Petitti a rehearing.

JAIL MARRIED WOMAN AS SLAYER AND SEEK LIGHT ON LOVE NOTE

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 11.—(AP)—Mrs. Reggie French, 35, was in jail tonight while police investigated her relations with John S. Garmon, 41 year old night chief train dispatcher, who was slain in her apartment today.

Through her attorneys she issued a statement that she killed him in self-defense after he attempted to enter her apartment.

J. M. Colley, Garmon's friend, who had driven him to Mrs. French's apartment and waited in an automobile while he was shot to death, told police the woman had broken into Garmon's apartment last Thursday and taken a packet of letters. Garmon, he said, was seeking to recover them when he was killed.

Police said they found in Garmon's pocket an unsigned, unaddressed note that started, "Dearest and sweetest girl," and said that "I couldn't believe you meant what you said when you told me you would not see me again forever. I am determined to see you again and deliver this note, come what may. You cannot resist true love."

NAB 3 ACCUSED OF THREATS TO BOMB BUTCHERS

Arrested by Maxwell street police as they loitered at Jefferson and Taylor streets, Joseph Calabrese, 34 years old, 1049 Polk street; Joseph Gynta, 23 years old, 1104 South Morgan street, and Philip Guolyo, 41 years old, 1119 South Racine avenue, were held without charge at Maxwell street station last night. Sergt. Kenneth Ebey, whose squad arrested the trio, declared the prisoners were agents of the United Retail Meat Dealers' council, 803 West Madison street, and had been threatening owners of small meat markets with bombings unless they joined the council.

Police Hunt Silver Fox Thief in Morgan Park

The Morgan Park police were attempting last night to catch the thief who earlier in the day stole three silver foxes valued at $1,500 from a wire pen in the rear of the home of John Siefender, 3046 West 111th street. The thief used a wire cutter to enter the pen.

JURY FIXES CASH VALUE ON WIVES $1,000 TO $7,500

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 11.—What is the cash value of a wife? This was the knotty problem which puzzled Judge Hill in high court today when three cases in which divorce seeking husbands claimed damages against co-respondents for the loss of their wives came up for hearing.

In the first case a clergyman was the petitioner. The Rev. Lancelot Reed, formerly minor canon in Windsor castle and now chaplain of the Anglo-Persian Oil company in the Persian gulf, was awarded the sum of $1,000 in damages and a decree against his wife, who was accused of misconduct with a general stores manager in Chile.

Embassy Attaché Wins $5,000.

In the second case the sum of $5,000 in damages and a decree was given Leonard Hamilton Stokes, attached to the British embassy in Rome, for his wife's alleged misconduct with an English woolen merchant at Sofia, Bulgaria.

In the third case the sum of $7,500 was agreed upon as the damages and a decree awarded to Martin Bieman, London merchant, for his wife's alleged misconduct with the nephew of the head of Mr. Bieman's firm.

"I do not know why a man should want to turn into cash his wife's dishonor," declared Judge Hill to the jury before whom the cases were heard. "I always find great difficulty when I ask myself to assess in pounds, shilling, and pence the loss of his wife to a man."

"Cash Award No Punishment."

The judge pointed out that damages could not be awarded by way of punishment but only to assess the value of the loss of a wife's society.

"The jury may think it strange that any man would want to have anything for his injured feelings in respect to the loss of his mate brought about by adultery," he concluded.

The jury then assessed the damages to the petitioning husbands.

Lights Out, Dentists Pull Teeth by Light of Candles

Dr. J. J. Gilbert, a dentist in the Madison-Kedzie building, 9 South Kedzie avenue, was extracting a tooth last night for Miss Edith Cohen, 1506 North Rockwell street, when the lights went out. Believing the operation had blinded her, Miss Cohen screamed until Dr. Gilbert reassured her by turning on a flash light. Several other dentists and physicians treated their patients by candlelight, and business was transacted thus in a Walgreen drug store and a restaurant on the ground floor. Service was restored at 8 p. m.

Mother City of an Empire!

San Antonio sits in the center of a vast empire—South and West Texas—that embraces an area of 132,000 square miles. So rich is this immediate market in natural resources and so alive with every form of opportunity that it has captured America's imagination. It is the last great frontier.

San Antonio's general market is international in scope. This city has long been recognized as the natural trade gateway to Mexico; the nearby deep-water port at Corpus Christi gives a cheap transportation rate to eastern seaboard and foreign points; trunk line railroads link it to the nation at large.

Both San Antonio and the empire of which it is the mother city are growing, rapidly and vigorously. In the thirty years since 1900 the population of San Antonio has increased 600%; building operations have jumped 1000% in a ten-year period and manufacturing plants have gained 400% in the same space of time.

Cattle ranches are being replaced by thriving towns and prosperous farms in the surrounding country. Right now trainloads of winter vegetables and citrus fruits are moving to northern and eastern markets from the rich territory of which San Antonio is the center. Oil fields are pouring in new wealth at the rate of more than $1,000,000 each month.

To visit San Antonio is to discover a city of fulfilled promise—with its combination of glorious climate and opportunity for profit and success in every field. Come down on a vacation this winter and let your own judgment convince you.

FARM BUREAU AID IN WITH MUSCLE SHOALS LOBBY

Witness Says Utility Baron Pays for Capital Work.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—Bit by bit, today, the senate's lobby investigating committee drew from a witness admissions that Chester Gray, capitol representative of the American Farm Bureau federation, has been working "hand in glove" with the Muscle Shoals lobby, financed by H. L. Parsons, New York utility financier, and until recently, headed by Claudius Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee.

Try as it would, however, the coalition controlled committee, was unable to lead the witness, Earl W. Cooper, a secretary to J. W. Worthington, head of the Tennessee River Improvement association, into identifying Samuel Insull, Chicago utility magnate, as a principal in the alleged power trust lobby against legislation proposing government operation of the Muscle Shoals power project.

Pinch Hitting for Chief.

Pinch hitting for his chief, who is said to be ill in Tait Springs, Tenn., Cooper described the Tennessee River Improvement association's headquarters in "a little house," less than three blocks from the house office building, where Worthington lives when in Washington and where house members, according to Cooper, are frequent guests, seeking information about Muscle Shoals.

The association's financial records, Cooper testified, are kept on the stubs of Worthington's personal check book and at Worthington's direction, Cooper declared, copies of outgoing correspondence, particularly that with Gray, were never kept. Cooper, at first, asserted that Worthington's operations were financed by contributions from persons "in the Tennessee valley." Later he admitted that Worthington is the beneficiary of $12,000 a year annuity established for him by Parsons some years ago and that in addition to that income.

Quit to Head G. O. P. Committee.

Huston resigned the presidency of the association when he became chairman of the Republican national committee last fall and since that time the association has been a "one man organization," with Worthington acting as president, treasurer, or secretary, as the occasion demanded, according to Cooper.

SAILFISH STEER CLEAR OF HOOVER'S HOOK ON SECOND DAY OF FISHING

Long Key, Fla., Feb. 11.—(AP)—President Hoover today spent exactly eight hours in an open fishing boat. He caught three game barracudas and four bonitas in his second day of deep sea fishing off this small island.

His companions in the boat, Dr. Vernon Kellogg and Mark Sullivan, each captured a sailfish. Dr. Kellogg's catch weighed 52 pounds, of seven pounds more than the one the President caught his first day out.

Lawrence Richey, one of the President's secretaries, who yesterday went all day without catching anything, got three barracudas and one large Spanish mackerel. Dr. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician, landed two barracudas and one bonita. Justice Harlan F. Stone did not get a nibble.

Confesses Burglary of Several Dental Offices

Charles Cranston confessed to Capt. Joseph Goldberg of the Albany Park police last night that he made a specialty of robbing dentists' offices. He is being held on a score of burglary complaints. In Cranston's room at 4852 Sheridan road the police found some burglars' tools, several pistols, a quantity of dental gold and twenty watches.

CHINA COAL MEN WAR ON COMPANY BEGUN BY HOOVER

Demand British Firm Be Refused Contract.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 11.—The Chinese Coal Dealer association of Shanghai has sent a communication to the national ministry of agriculture and mines, demanding that the Kailan mining administration, most important British mining enterprise in China, be prevented from renewing its contract for operating extensive coal mines located at Chinwangtao, north of Tientsin.

The coal merchants also demand that the contract, which the Chinese government granted the company, be made public, and that means be devised for the rendition of the company to Chinese control.

The Kailan mining administration was organized by President Hoover when he was a young engineer in China in 1900 and at the time of the Boxer uprising. Local company officials, in speaking of the Chinese demands, state that the firm is registered with the government and that the contract is a matter of record.

The Kailan company is now producing about 20,000 tons of coal weekly, but it has produced more than 2,000,000 tons monthly, most of which has been sold to Chinese ports. The recent protest against the British enterprise is said to be due to a depression, resulting from the silver slump. The Chinese allege they have suffered large losses through high prices charged by the foreign controlled company.

DRIVING CARS
UNDER OCEAN LINERS

BETWEEN the air-minded island city of Alameda and the mainland of Alameda County runs the deep Inner Harbor of the Port of Oakland. Jutting from both banks of this estuary channel are modern piers, warehouses, docks, terminals—with ship-side rail & truck facilities—marked and growing evidence of a multi-million dollar harbor development.

To clear this natural path of ocean-borne commerce, to give unimpeded right-of-way to more than thirty steamship lines serving 1500 factories.. the Estuary Subway was built by Alameda County's 572,000 world-minded citizens.

Costing $5,000,000, it is an engineering achievement of note—being the largest pre-cast under-water vehicular tunnel in the world.

As its construction demonstrates.. residents of this nature-favored community co-operate to the limit with America's industrial leaders, realizing that each new western branch located here means new payrolls, outside investment of capital, and greater prosperity for all.

To date, more than 130 national industries have placed their western plants in Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, & contiguous cities on the western edge of the North American Continent, a greater number than located in any other western community.

$200 for 30 days

THERE are thousands of families that find themselves temporarily short of cash, particularly at this time. Winter months are always a heavy drain on household budgets.

If you had an extra $200—right now, what could you do with it? Pay up some scattered bills—buy some of the things you've needed, such as winter clothing, coal, or needed household supplies—perhaps to pay for necessary medical attention.

No Fines—No Fees
No Deductions

The Household Finance Corporation offers immediate loans to any family keeping house. Here you may secure $100 to $300 without delay—and take from one to twenty months to repay. You get the entire amount.

By limiting our service to loans from $100 to $300, Household is able to reduce the interest rate to 2½% per month—a saving of nearly one-third. Thus the interest charge on a $200 loan for one month only is $5.00. If loans are made for more than one month, interest is charged only on unpaid principal balance.

When you need $100 to $300, see Household first and save money.

A Statement About Small Loans by Household Finance Corporation
WE MAKE LOANS OF $100 TO $300 AT 2½% PER MONTH
There are classes of loans which require the rate of 3½% per month

The Household Finance Corporation wishes to impress upon the public that any licensee who makes loans of less than $100, and a certain class of loans of larger amounts is, in our opinion, entitled to and is justified in charging the maximum rate of 3½% per month. We could not afford to make loans of less than $100 at less than 3½%. The 3½% rate is not the fixed rate that licensees must charge, but is simply the maximum rate permitted by the State Small Loan Law on loans up to $300.
If you need $100 to $300 you owe it to yourself to see us first.

WEST SIDE BOYS FIGHT FOR GOLDEN GLOVES

HACK WILSON IS CLEARED IN $20,000 DAMAGE SUIT

JURY UNMOVED BY MILKMAN'S STORY OF FIGHT

Player Says He Hit in Self-Defense.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

It will not be necessary for Hack Wilson, the famous sun dodger, to slice off a portion of the family fortune and hand it to Edward Young who is a Cub fan as well as a milk wagon pilot.

Only twenty minutes was required yesterday by a jury in the Superior court of Judge William J. Fulton to decide that Young wasn't entitled to compensation for the face lifting treatment he received at the hands of the Cub star during the game played the afternoon of June 21 last season at Wrigley field.

Young thought he was sufficiently mauled by Wilson to warrant a settlement of $20,000. The jury evidently thought that the things he yelled at Hack justified the counter attack by the latter.

Milkman Tells Troubles.

On the stand Young related his impression of the incidents that happened on the afternoon of last June 21. Under questioning by his attorney, E. C. Newell, the milkman mentioned that he was just having a little fun for himself by calling Hack "a big tub" and advising him to bench himself for the good of the team.

In return for this advice, according to Young, the athlete leaped over the rail and proceeded to the task of making further comment on Young's part physically impossible. Young said he caught a right to the mouth, splitting a lip so badly that three stitches were necessary to assist nature in the work of restoration.

Young further explained that Hack twisted him over the chairs in so deft a manner that he (Young) suffered a wrenched back. Dr. Walter Armstrong corroborated his patient's version. Young admitted that he tried to fight back, but that Hack was too large a bundle to handle.

Is This the Same Fight?

In cross-examination David Stansbury, in behalf of Wilson, asked Young whether he had been drinking anything stronger than milk before coming to the ball park. Young admitted he had visited an oasis and enjoyed a few seidels of beer, but that he was not intoxicated.

Wilson didn't take the stand until the afternoon session and the story he told made it look as if he and Young were talking about two different fights. For one thing Hack claimed that Young had called him far worse than "a big tub." Hack also explained that he acted in self-defense; that if he hadn't Young would have pummeled him.

"When I heard Young calling me names I rushed over to the steps near the dugout," explained Wilson. "Just as I stepped up my spikes slipped on the concrete and I fell. This man made a lunge at me and landed on my back. I never struck him."

Mentions Delicate Subject.

Under cross-examination Attorney Newell tried to bring out that there was so much noise that it was not possible for Hack to hear what Young had yelled.

"Isn't it true that the crowd was making a lot of noise when you struck out?" asked Newell.

"I didn't strike out," bellowed Hack, who is a bit touchy on that subject. "I grounded out to first base."

Gabby Hartnett took the stand and wanted to tell the jury about the recovery of his throwing arm, but didn't get a chance. They shut him off as soon as he had testified that he had been in the dugout when the fun started and that when he looked Young was on top of Wilson.

Leader—Brocardo.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Four teams fought all night to a tie for the lead of the six day whirligig at the Stadium last night in a battle that will remain in the minds of fans for a long time. For five consecutive hours determined sprints for laps, with hardly a letup unless some one crashed, kept 7,000 fans yelling.

De Baets and Beckman still held a technical lead in sprint points, but tied with them in mileage were McNamara and Belloni, Spencer and Winter, and Brocardo and Zucchetti. Walthour and Duelberg were only a lap behind the pace makers, but the speedy pace which had resulted in 49 stolen laps during the night had lengthened the gap between first and twelfth places from six to eleven laps.

Shortly before midnight the game team of Brocardo and Zucchetti, which seems to have been pursued by ill luck all week, went down in a terrific crash on a pickup coming out of the west turn. They had just rode into a tie for the lead and were out for another lap, when they crashed on the boards and slid to the concrete. Zucchetti returned to the race in ten minutes and, though Brocardo was knocked out, he came back with only a couple of more patches a bit later.

Jamming Starts Early.

The leading teams shifted rapidly through the night, for after the usual quiet afternoon of what riders call the hardest day, inasmuch as they don't get their second wind until Wednesday night, the jamming started at 8:45 o'clock.

At the start of the 48th hour the teams headed by McNamara and Debaets led the race, with those led by Spencer and Walthour a lap behind. In the next hour Walthour and Deulberg pushed up to tie the leaders in a duel that matched Walthour against McNamara and Deulberg against Belloni for thirty laps, with the blue shirted kids coming through for a tie.

Fourteen laps were gained in that hour, and the 49th hour was little less exciting only because the jamming didn't continue so long. But in it the two teams which originally were in front rode their way back into the lead in fifteen minutes, and the two teams which had been a lap behind again were one circuit of the track in arrears.

Brocardo, Zucchetti Move Up.

Meanwhile Brocardo and Zucchetti, who had been three laps behind the leaders at the start of the board scorching, had moved up to two laps behind in the 49th hour and gained another lap in the next hour, putting them in a position to strike at any moment. Then came that additional jam at the start of the 51st hour, with the four leading teams battling each other wheel to wheel.

Most of the jams in those hours were stopped only when some rider crashed to the track. Guimbretiere, tiny member of the French "rooster" team, who might better be called "bantams," fell three times, but kept on riding and started a couple of sprints in an effort to get back lost laps.

Carnera Scores Fourth Knockout; Again in Round 2

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 11.—(AP)—Primo Carnera knocked out Hister Martin, Tulsa, Okla., policeman, in the second round of a scheduled ten round bout tonight.

PRIMO CARNERA.

It was Carnera's fourth encounter in an American ring and he made nearly as short work of the Oklahoma officer as he did of his other opponents.

Martin, who scaled 209 pounds to 270 for Carnera, crossed a right to the big boy's chin in the first which the Italian passed unnoticed. Carnera came out of his corner slowly and led with a left to the jaw, only to have Martin grab him with both hands and hang on. Primo wrestled his way out and followed the policeman around the ring, shooting a left jab that rocked Buster's head.

Carnera was short with three rights to the jaw just before the round closed.

ILLINOIS TEAM DEFENDS TITLE IN MISSOURI SHOOT

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 11.—(AP)—A squad of Illinois gunners succesfully defended their interstate team cup against the crack target smashers of Missouri and Kansas in the 26th annual interstate trapshooting tournament here today. The Illinois team cracked 93 out of 100. G. J. Roll of Blue Island led the victory with a perfect 20.

E. W. Renfro of Dell, Mont., who won the individual target cup yesterday, headed the individual list again today by taking championship in the 150 target race. Renfro knocked off 148.

Mark Arie, Champaign, Ill., was runner up in the 150 target event with 146. Other scores:

BRUINS DEFEAT TORONTO, 6-5, ON SHORE'S GOAL

Boston, Mass., Feb. 11.—(AP)—Coming from behind in the last three minutes of overtime play, the Boston Bruins defeated the Toronto Maple Leafs, 6 to 5, in a brilliant hockey game played before 16,000 in the Garden tonight. Eddie Shore's back hand shot from a wild scrimmage in front of the opposition's net was the winning shot.

It happened 1 minute and 40 seconds before the bell rang. Before that clapper scored to tie for the Bruins. Charley Conacher, brilliant young Toronto wing, had just previously beaten Tiny Thompson with a pretty shot.

Wheaton College Quintet Beats Mt. Morris, 41 to 21

Mount Morris, Ill., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Wheaton college swamped Mount Morris college's basketball team, 42 to 21, in a one sided game tonight. The Little Mounders were outclassed all the way. Tillman of Wheaton led the scoring with 12 points.

Miss Colyer, Tennis Star, Announces Engagement

LONDON, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The engagement of Evelyn Colyer, noted British tennis player, to Malsh Munro, a tea planter of Assam, India, was announced today. Their marriage has been set for next week.

MARQUETTE FIVE TUMBLES BEFORE BADGERS, 29-15

Wisconsin Substitute Shoots 5 Baskets.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—Bobby Poser of Columbus, Wis., was the chief reason why Wisconsin conquered Marquette university's basketball team in a renewal of their long established feud tonight, 29 to 15.

Poser, shoved into the lineup at guard in place of Paul, looped three field goals in four shots during the first half. To start the second period he clicked off two more baskets. He missed his last two other attempts, giving him a grand total of five goals and ten points out of his eight shots. One of Bobby's baskets was an overhead flip from the side of the floor. Two others were from near the center of the court.

Badgers Take Long Lead.

At half time the score was 13 to 7 for Dr. Meanwell's pupils. It was in the first five minutes of the second half that the Badgers sealed the fate of the Hilltoppers. King's free throw and Shipley's long shot put Marquette's score up to ten, but Foster made a basket and a free throw, Poser got two of his field goals, and Matthusen added a shot to make it 22-10.

Roy Andrew, center, was the key of Marquette floor attack and held Capt. Foster of Wisconsin to a pair of baskets. Joe King, formerly of St. Mel's High school of Chicago, and Shipley were the high scorers for Cord Lipe's team.

The teams clash again Thursday night at Milwaukee.

Hilltop B Team Wins.

A left handed push shot by McQueen in the last twenty seconds of play enabled the Marquette university B team to hand the Wisconsin reserves their first defeat by the season, 20 to 18.

The Badgers were leading, 13 to 4, at half time, but several new men sent into the lineup appeared to weaken the team. Marquette gained rapidly and finally took a 17 to 16 lead on Budrunas' basket from midfloor. Moser made it 18-16 for Marquette with a free throw, but Steen dribbled down for a short shot to tie the score. Then came McQueen's contribution to the excitement and the game was over. LOYOLA CAGERS BEAT LOYOLA OF BALTIMORE, 25-19

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—Loyola university of Chicago tonight defeated Loyola college of Baltimore, 25 to 19. The Chicagoans led at the half, 16 to 14.

Scoring honors of the Ramblers were divided between Charlie Murphy and Dick Butzen, sophomore guard. It was Butzen's shooting in the second half which gave the Chicagoans their margin. He and Murphy each made four baskets and four free throws. Loyola of Chicago plays North Carolina at Chapel Hill tomorrow.

When the champions in the respective classes are crowned in the finals of The Tribune's Golden Gloves tournament at the Coliseum Feb. 25, 26, 27, and 28 the winners will be presented with these prizes. On the left is the glove set with ruby which will go to runnersup. The diamond set glove in the center will be the champions' reward, while third place winners each will receive the emerald set glove on the right. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

Knockouts End Five of Michigan City's Fifteen Bouts in Golden Gloves Tourney

Michigan City, Ind., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—Towels flew about as fast as fists tonight as the Michigan City Evening Dispatch held its preliminaries and semi-finals of the Golden Gloves boxing tournament, conducted before a huge crowd in the high school gymnasium here tonight. There were fifteen bouts, six technical knockouts, five knockouts and four decisions.

So furious were the fighters that one mother ran from the bleachers to the side of John Gralik, 16, a machinist, who lost to John Manske, 22, when her son's seconds threw in a towel. Mrs. Gralik, in tears, was assured that her boy was all right and he proved it by walking out of the ring, a loser, but grinning.

The quickest knockout of the evening was when Stanley Nespo, 158 pounds, silenced Wayne Smith, 153, in ten seconds. Nespo handled Smith with about as much dexterity as he tosses rivets about at a car building plant here.

Frank Bennis, 21, in the semi-finals in the lightweight class, one of three brothers from La Porte, all of whom will be in the finals tomorrow night, was a little slower than Nespo about his evening's business when he knocked out Central Mitchell, 19, in 15 seconds.

"That's the kind of stuff our future armies are made out of," said Maj. George Oliver Redpath, one of Michigan City's leading men, a veteran of five wars, who will present medals tomorrow night at the finals, as he sat cheering the youthful fighters from the first row at the ringside.

This city is the first to present a band at the entertainments. The high school musicians, in striking red uniforms, gave a concert before the opening of the bouts.

Lee Bennis, 20, bantamweight, took just a little over two rounds to score a technical knockout over Eddie Puts, 22, in a semi-final bout.

Fight Decisions

At New York—Joe Glick beat Petey Mack [10].
At Indianapolis, Ind.—Eddie Shea stopped Pete Zivic [6].
At St. Louis—Primo Canero knocked out Buster Martin [2]. King Tut knocked out Russle Leroy [1].
At Greenville, Miss.—Eddie Prisco stopped Tommy White [8].
At St. Petersburg, Fla.—Young Scarney and Mike Firpo, draw [10].

2,200 WATCH FIRST CHICAGO SECTION TRIALS

Action Is Keynote of Opening Bouts.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The fight for THE TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves officially opened in Chicago at the Ashland Boulevard Auditorium last night where a crowd of 2,200 watched the west central sectional tournament go into motion.

When the smoke had cleared from the scene of battle forty boys had came through the melee and in the same ring and in the same arena will continue the struggle tonight for the west central qualifying positions.

There was fighting in seven of the eight divisions on the opening program. Only four heavyweights answered the call to weigh in and they automatically qualified to fight at the Coliseum in the grand finale opening on Feb. 25.

Here's Fight for Books.

West side ring fans are accustomed to boxing feasts, but they never were treated to quite such a program as the boys from their neighborhood put up as they punched for first honors in the Golden Gloves contest.

There was a light heavyweight struggle on the program that would have thrilled a fight audience that had paid a million dollars to see a boxing carnival. The big boys were Donald Estbrook and Anthony Krisan. They stood toe to toe and slugged each other for three rounds. They knocked each other down. At the end of it Estbrook was the winner although it wasn't a knockout.

There was action all night long. So much of it the crowd was in an uproar from the time the first bout started until the last one ended a few minutes before 12 o'clock.

The lightweights were the first to appear. For an hour the 135 pounders weathered the storm. That is, none of them took the count. Some of the lads were hit hard enough to have cause to go down and stay there. But they were too game. They came up for more. There was always a last chance that Old Mary Ann would go sailing over to an opponent's chin and defeat would be turned into victory.

Then Knockouts Begin.

For the first hour the judges had to decide the issue; then suddenly after 8 o'clock there came an epidemic of knockouts. Carl Sand, representing no club or organization, just fighting to get Carl Sand's name engraved on a Golden Glove, started it. He knocked out Micky Proscia of the Lawndale gym in the second round.

Three more knockouts followed in a row. Steve Pavlick of Lawndale gym sent Ray Hopkins, unattached, down and out in the first round. Then came Nick Fosco, one of the stars of last year's Golden Gloves tournament. He went to New York and was beaten, but so were a lot of the other Chicago boys. Nick must have matriculated in a college of sock right after that New York defeat last year. He came back last night with a gleam of victory in his eye.

Crowd Cheers Knockout.

His opponent in the 147 class was Johnny Bell of the Lawndale gym. Nick measured him up in the first session, slipped over the haymaker in the second and took one bow after another as the excited crowd cheered him while Bell was being counted out.

Short boys knocked out long ones. Fat boys were bowled over by skinny kids. And the audience from the west side entered into the spirit of the occasion.

There was George Namen from the Lawndale gym, for instance. He tackled a rough tough customer in Jimmy Nelson from the Pennino Boosters Athletic club. Nelson socked him with everything but the brass ring posts. But Namen wouldn't go down nor out. He was bleeding and groggy but demonstrated such gameness against a superior foe the crowd went to its feet and cheered him as he struggled through the final round and finally shook hands and threw his arms around Nelson as the decision was rendered.

The scrap that brought the most excitement came in the 126 pound division. Benny Goldblatt of Chicago, the Central Amateur Athletic union 126 pound champion, hooked up with Billy Kenny, a puncher and a boxer from the Medinah Athletic club.

Kenny fought the C. A. A. U. cham-

Tickets for the west side trials at Ashland Boulevard auditorium tonight and for north side bouts at the Fronton tomorrow and Friday will be on sale at the gate. The admission fees are 50 cents and $1.

EDDIE SHEA WINS TECHNICAL K. O. OVER PETE ZIVIC

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 11.—(AP)—Eddie Shea, Chicago featherweight, scored a technical knockout over Pete Zivic of Pittsburgh in the sixth round of a scheduled ten round boxing contest here tonight. Shea scored knockdowns for the nine count in the first, third, fourth, fifth and sixth rounds before Zivic's seconds threw in the towel.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 11.—(AP)—Wellett, W. L. Brody's five year old horse, today entered the select class winning the American Concrete Institute handicap at the Fair Grounds.

Only four thoroughbreds chose to battle for the $1,500 purse at a mile and a sixteenth but in that quartette were Donnay, the star of the Rancocas stable, and Stars and Bars, a flashy four year old son of Pennant from Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree stable. Mole Hill was the fourth starter. Donnay, winner of his last two starts, and Stars and Bars were made the co-favorites at $1.15 on the dollar.

With C. Phillips giving him a clever ride, Wellett broke from the barrier fast and by sheer courage hung on to the finish. He passed the judges' stand a head in front of the Greentree color bearer with Donnay a close third. The winner stepped the route in 1:45 1-5 and paid $16.50 for a $2 investment in a straight ticket.

SCHAEFER SETS WORLD MARK OF 850 IN 4 GAMES

Jake Schaefer, world 18.2 balkline billiard champion, set what is believed to be a world record for continuous point making in exhibition play when he ran out his last four exhibition games from the spot without a miss, making a total of 850 points in games at Monmouth, Galesburg, Peoria, and Bloomington, Ill. Word of Schaefer's feat was received yesterday in a telegram from David McAndless of Chicago, national junior champion, who is on tour with Schaefer.

McAndless also reported that Schaefer made his last 1,500 points in nine innings.

Rush Starts for Army-Notre Dame Football Tickets

Notre Dame, Ind., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—Announcement that the annual Notre Dame-Army game will be played in Chicago instead of New York Nov. 29, had an immediate effect on the football ticket office.

J. Arthur Haley, business manager of athletics at Notre Dame, received numerous calls for application blanks for Army game tickets and many called at the office to purchase their pasteboards immediately.

They were told that application blanks for individual games will not be available until Aug. 1, and that applications for season tickets to the games in South Bend, will not be issued until April or May.

WHEN MISS SCHMALTZ HURRIED EGYPT ONTO THE TRAIN AT JACKSONVILLE WHERE THEY CHANGED TRAINS SHE ABSENT MINDEDLY LEFT LORD PLUSHBOTTOM ASLEEP IN THE STATION WITH ALL THEIR MONEY AND RAILROAD TICKETS IN HIS POCKET.
PUTTING ME OFF HERE!
I'M GOING TO WRITE A LETTER TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE RAILROAD ABOUT THAT CONDUCTOR!
WHAT TIME CAN WE GET THE NEXT TRAIN OUT OF HERE?
WELL, THERE'S THE LOCAL LEAVIN' TO-MORROW MORNIN' MADAM.
WE DON'T WANT A LOCAL. WHEN DOES THE NEXT FAST TRAIN STOP HERE?
THATS KINDA HARD TELLIN' THE ONLY OTHER TIME ONE STOPPED HERE WAS WHEN THEY HAD A WRECK.
THEN I SUPPOSE WE WILL HAVE TO STAY TILL TO-MORROW.
IN THIS TOWN? MY STARS- LOOK AT IT! WHAT IN THE WORLD DID THEY GO AND BUILD THE STATION SO FAR AWAY FROM THE DINKY DUMP FOR, ANYWAY?
WELL, THE ONLY WAY I KIN FIGGER IT OUT, LADY IS SO IT WILL BE CLOSER TO THE TRACKS.

BASKETBALL CENTERS.

DEAR WAKE: Aside from the frequent fouls, interrupting play, for which I see no present remedy, the greatest weakness of basketball is the jump at center in which the determining factor is height.

There are great centers like Stretch Murphy of Purdue, Speed Murphy of Loyola, Chapman of Michigan, Foster of Wisconsin, and others who are capable aside from height. This height gives too much advantage. It is uninteresting to the spectators to see a man six inches taller, and with correspondingly longer reach, take every jump. It is like watching a heavyweight against a middleweight in the boxing arena.

Now, of course, physical attributes are a natural factor in any sport. Neither should a player be discriminated against because he is tall nor that advantage be unduly minimized. Eliminating the jump would not rule out good players, because their height still would be a big advantage in receiving passes under the basket and on rebounds from the backboard.

My suggestion is that the ball be put in play from the side line at the middle of the floor, initial possession being determined by a toss as in football. Thereafter the side scored against, either by a field basket or free throw, would be given possession out of bounds to resume play. I'd like the idea of others on this subject.

Yankee Golf.

Dear Harvey: An American went over to England and an English peer took him out to play golf. The American was a public links player. He consistently tore up large chunks of turf. Finally the peer, unable to stand it longer, asked his guest, "Don't you replace divots at the clubs where you play?" "Hell, no," replied the American, "only when we're putting." O, Harvey, when you go down south
To sample southern dishes,
Or drift along the sunny shore
To catch or scare the fishes,
Just radio to let us know
That you are there and well;
So many now are leaving home
And going straight to—Miami.

O, Harvey, when you go down south,
You always write to Don,
But who is Don? And what is he
To waste your postage on?
Be careful if you can't be good,
And let us know you're well;
So many now are leaving home
And going straight to—Palm Beach.

Oss, Rathbun Quit Gopher Sport Board

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 11.—(AP)—Apparently dissatisfied with the manner of selecting H. O. [Fritz] Crisler as head football coach and E. E. [Tad] Wieman as his assistant at the University of Minnesota, two alumni members of the senate committee of intercollegiate athletics resigned today.

Adding a new phase to the already embarrassing coaching situation at the Gopher school, R. B. [Bunny] Rathbun and Arnold Oss, both former star athletes, withdrew from the committee after expressing sharp criticism of the way in which negotiations were conducted for the new football coach.

What effect this development will have on the athletic situation at the school was not apparent tonight, but it was pointed out that neither Crisler nor Wieman have definitely accepted the Minnesota offer. Although President L. D. Coffman, who recommended their appointments, would not comment, he had previously said he expected both to accept.

Radio Programs on Honest Abe Impress Elmer

Memories of Emancipator Are Vividly Recalled.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

One of the most impressive of the Abraham Lincoln programs last evening was that from New York through W-G-N, 8 to 8:30, during which Ida Tarbell's "He Knew Lincoln" was read by Edgar White Burroughs. This same program has been given each year for I do not know how many years, and although condensed so that it could be included within a half hour, it still had power and human interest equaled by few programs of like character.

A radio dramatization of the Gettysburg dedicatory ceremony, when Lincoln delivered his famous address, was presented by W-G-N studio talent, 9 to 9:30, with Pat Barnes being the announcing narrator. This also was a repeat program.

Out of the ordinary was the broadcast of the Knox college alumni banquet addresses, New York City, through WENR, 9:30 to 10, during which John H. Finley, a former president, gave an interesting address on "Lincoln and Knox College," followed by a supplemental address by President Albert Britt.

There were some concert programs of consequence. W-G-N's weekly 8:30 to 9 "The Concert," by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra, Gaston du Moulin conducting, was interesting because two of the compositions were composed by members of the orchestra. A Wienlawski violin solo played by William Simons was one of the very prettiest things done to my knowledge by strictly studio talent that radio has heard for a long time.

The Russian program presented by the Chicago Singers (eight mixed voices) and the W-G-N Symphony orchestra, 9:30 to 10, was of considerable interest. The choral program was sung without accompaniment and some of the works were lengthy and difficult.

The "Salute to Industry" program from New York through KYW, 9:30 to 10, was on this occasion a special farmer's program.

F. G. RANNEY, 88, RETIRED RAILWAY EXECUTIVE, DIES

Frederic G. Ranney, 88 year old retired railroad executive, who for 37 years was treasurer of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, and Pacific railroad, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. Sherwood, 7027 Ridge boulevard. Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at St. Paul's Episcopal church, 50th street and Dorchester avenue. Mr. Ranney was born in Exeter, England and came to America with his parents when 6 years old.

Mr. Ranney began his railroad career with the Western Union railroad at Racine and this short line later was merged with the Milwaukee. He was employed by the Milwaukee road for 52 years, retiring in 1917. He is survived by a son, F. Garner Ranney, and two daughters, Mrs. Springfield Baldwin and Mrs. M. Sherwood.

Fire Underwriters Plan Chicago Insurance Survey

The national board of fire underwriters will make a fire survey of Chicago in April, according to an announcement made yesterday by Fire Commissioner Goodrich. Fire department officials predicted that the survey will show an insufficient number of fire alarm boxes, an undermanned force, and a lack of adequate housing for the men. What effect the survey will have on fire insurance premiums will be watched with interest by the department.

Fred E. Clark, Department Store Executive, Is Dead

Fred E. Clark, for 41 years associated with the wholesale department of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., and sales manager for the Wisconsin territory, died yesterday at his residence, 308 North Elmwood avenue, Oak Park. Mr. Clark was born Sept. 21, 1865, in Amboy, Ill., near the original Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co. store, which started business in 1854. He is survived by his widow.

Moderator of Presbyterian Church in Canada Is Dead

WINGHAM, Ont., Feb. 11.—(AP)—The Rev. David Perrie, moderator of the Presbyterian church in Canada, died at his home here today. He was minister of the Wingham Presbyterian church and was elected moderator at the general assembly last June.

VISITS TO SICK WIFE HELP WIN CAPONE A DELAY

Ralph Capone yesterday obtained a continuance of his trial in federal court on charges of defrauding the government of income tax payments. Because of frequent visits to his wife, who is ill in Johns Hopkins hospital at Baltimore, and because his principal witnesses, who are bookmakers, are now taking bets at race tracks in Mexico, Florida, and Cuba, Capone said, he was not ready to go to trial. The case was continued to Feb. 24.

The three witnesses are Jules Schulz, J. J. O'Neill, and C. Poretti, who were employed by Capone when he was a bookmaker. They will testify, he says, that he lost $15,000 in 1925, and that he had no income during 1924 and 1925, when the government claims he incurred a tax bill of $5,000.

Wife Says It with Bullets as Mate Asks of Her Love

When Dan Donenhole, 34 years old, inquired of his wife, Dorothy, how much she loved him while the couple was engaged in a drinking party yesterday in a flat at 741 North Drake avenue, Dorothy drew a pistol and fired six shots at her helpmate, the police learned when they arrived at the scene. The police were told that Donenhole waited for no more evidence of devotion from his wife, but departed at high speed, apparently unhurt. Mrs. Donenhole gave her address as 1822 South Campbell avenue.

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved.

JACOB L. KESNER BUYS VAN BUREN STREET PARCEL

Now Has Site with 163 Foot Frontage.

BY AL CHASE.

Jacob L. Kesner, owner of the Kesner building, the Consumers building and other Chicago properties, yesterday rounded out his holdings on the north side of Van Buren street, in the block between Market and Franklin, so that he now owns 163 feet of frontage. This was accomplished through the purchase of fifty-two feet of frontage at Nos. 328-30 West Van Buren from Miss Helen Winefield. The price was not disclosed.

The property is in two parcels improved with a four story building. To the west is a three story building, extending to the Market street corner and on the east is a seven story building extending to the alley. This means that Mr. Kesner now has the entire frontage from Market street east to the alley. Yesterday's purchase was made subject to a lease. It is stated that Mr. Kesner bought the property for investment and does not contemplate any new buildings at present.

Another Van Buren Street Deal.

Peter P. Kranz has purchased the property at 231-33 West Van Buren street from the Chicago Title & Trust company as trustee for an undisclosed seller. The ground, 20x105 feet, is improved with a two story building. Mr. Kranz gave in part payment lake property in Wisconsin.

Louis and Sarah Karlinsky sold the six apartments at 5346-48 West Jackson boulevard to Margaret Y. Newman for a reported $51,500, subject to a first mortgage of $30,500. Thomas C. Corey, of the Shodin Realty & Mortgage company, was broker.

Buys Factory Building.

The Four Wheel Automatic Jack corporation has purchased the two story factory building at 3845 Ravenswood avenue from Benjamin E. Page. The lot is 50x125 feet. The E. E. Stults Realty company was broker.

The seven apartment building at the southeast corner of Niles and Hull avenues, in Niles Center, has been sold by the Metropolitan District Realty trust to Lillian Lozo for a reported $65,000. C. H. Lindboy & Co., of Niles Center, were brokers.

Herbert E. and Harley R. Bucklen have transferred their twothirds interest in the property at 1420-22 South Wabash avenue to Charlotte B. Quigley. Mrs. Quigley already controlled a third interest in the property.

Mercoid Corporation Rents Former Radio Plant

The Mercoid corporation, makers of electrical apparatus, has leased the building at 4201 Belmont avenue, from the All-American Mohawk corporation, through J. H. Van Vlissingen & Co. The building contains 90,000 square feet of floor space. It formerly was the home of station WENR. The lessors are concentrating the manufacture of their radio in an eastern plant.

Montgomery Ward Reports Big Gain in Home Sales

A 250 per cent increase in sales of ready cut homes for January, 1930, over January, 1929, is reported by J. A. Webber, manager of the home building department of Montgomery Ward & Co. The firm's ready cut home sales increased more than 100 per cent during 1929 over 1928.

Miller & Co., Furriers, Rent Store on North Michigan

Miller & Co., furriers, have leased the store at 166 North Michigan avenue for ten years at an undisclosed rental and will operate the new store in conjunction with their establishment at 616 South Michigan. In addition to sales facilities the shop will have a storage vault, etc.

RAILROAD NOTES

The applications of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia and Nickel Plate to acquire control of the Wheeling and Lake Erie have been assigned for hearing March 10 before Assistant Finance Director Burnside by the interstate commerce commission. Application of Pittsburgh and West Virginia to acquire control of the Western Maryland will be heard April 9 before Director Burnside.

No announcement was forthcoming yesterday from the meeting of a committee of directors and officials of the New Haven railroad, at which was discussed the New Haven's position in regard to the Southern New England railway project. The completion of the project is being urged by a group of prominent business men.

The Chicago Great Western railroad handled 6,376 cars of revenue freight in the first week of February, compared with 6,620 cars in the corresponding week of 1929. Cars loaded on the company's lines were practically the same, the decrease coming in freight received from connecting lines.

The interstate commerce commission has authorized the Oklahoma City-Ada-Atoka railroad to acquire the Oklahoma City-Shawnee interurban line by purchase of capital stock. It also authorized the former road to issue $800,000 of capital stock.

WABASH RAILWAY PREPARED TO FILE FINANCING PLAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 11.—The Wabash railway, which has filed with the interstate commerce commission a plan for a fifth trunk line, is prepared to file another similar plan which will outline the financing involved, it was learned today. This decision follows publication by the commission of rules which prescribed that merger petitions must describe how lines to be joined are to be acquired.

It is understood, however, that the Delaware and Hudson will take issue with the commission ruling. The attitude of the Baltimore and Ohio and Chesapeake and Ohio, the other two roads with merger petitions pending, was undisclosed.

All four railroads submitted merger petitions which disregarded the question of financial details and asked the commission to rule merely on the point of public interest involved. The Baltimore and Ohio and the Chesapeake and Ohio evolved this method of procedure, which was a change from methods followed in previous merger applications, and it was adopted by the Delaware and Hudson and Wabash in their petitions.

SEES NATL. CASH REGISTER GAIN IN FOREIGN SALES

New York, Feb. 11.—An indicated gain of 40 per cent in foreign business for January, 1930, compared with the same month of last year, was announced today by F. B. Patterson, president of the National Cash Register company, who just returned from Berlin where he attended a conference of the company's European representatives.

"Prospects for 1930," he said, "are good. Our anticipated gain in foreign sales for the year will more than offset any falling off in domestic activity. National had a good year in 1929, with production and sales exceeding all previous records. Notwithstanding the general business decline during the last two and a half months, earnings will be satisfactory. The company is in a strong position and its foreign business continues an ever increasing factor in its sales and activities."

FOX FILM CO. REFINANCING IS NOW DISCLOSED

Plan Would Raise 65 Millions.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 11.—A plan for refinancing involving the issuance of $65,000,000 in notes and stock for the Fox Film company was presented in federal court today at an adjourned hearing on an order to show cause why a receivership should not be granted.

Three weeks ago Samuel Untermyer presented a proposal that John E. Otterson and H. L. Stuart, trustees under an agreement which never became operative, resign in favor of a new group of trustees and at the same time deposited with the court resignations of the officers of the company and the boards of directors of both the Fox Film and the Fox Theaters corporations.

Meets with Objections.

He said at that time that Dillon, Read & Co., Lehman Bros., and Bancamerica-Blair & Co. were at work on a financing plan. The details of that financing plan were presented today, and while acceptable in part to creditors and stockholders, met with objections which caused Judge Frank J. Coleman to postpone the hearing until Thursday with the observation:

"Rejection of this plan, I think, means a receivership."

Mr. Untermyer told the court that the new plan of financing involved the issuance of $40,000,000 of 7 per cent debenture bonds carrying stock purchase warrants and $25,000,000 in 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock.

This would raise $65,000,000 to care for the obligations of the company, Mr. Untermyer said. The bankers' commission would consist of 135,000 shares of common stock plus the usual 9 per cent underwriting commission and 65,000 shares of stock in connection with the $65,000,000 financing. A voting trust agreement of ten years' duration and an arbitration board are other features of the plan.

Says Cost Too Great.

Lawrence Berenson, representing stockholders with 620 shares of stock, opposed the plan, saying the cost was too great. The suggestion was made that perhaps Halsey-Stuart company could present a better plan.

Milton Bogue, counsel for Halsey-Stuart, said that his concern had not been asked to submit a plan of refinancing, but he felt that his concern was being "pushed out of the picture." Judge Coleman said he would be allowed time to present the matter to his client, but made clear that no other plan could be considered until the present plan is acted upon.

Chicago Bridge & Iron Co. Buys Alabama Steel Plant

Negotiations were completed yesterday for the purchase of the Chicago Bridge and Iron company of the Reeves Brothers company, steel plate fabricating plant at Birmingham, Ala., which has a monthly capacity of 4,000 tons.

The Chicago concern will operate the newly acquired plant in conjunction with its other works at Chicago, Ill., Greenville, Pa., and Bridgeburg, Ont.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

See Bright Outlook.

Commenting on the recent market activity in American Tobacco, Wall street interests point out that the outlook for the company this year is bright. The report of the company for 1929 to be published in March will show net income of about $30,000,000, it is believed. On the basis of estimated rate of production at the close of 1929, the 35 cents additional to be received by manufacturers after discounts through the price advance means additional income for American Tobacco of approximately $15,000,000, or about $6.50 a share on the combined common.

Lively on Tape.

Hartman Corporation B was much more lively on the tape around the best level for the movement yesterday. Hartman's report for 1929 will show a satisfactory increase in profit over 1928. According to preliminary figures net income per share will be about $2.25, as compared with actual earnings of $2.06 in the previous twelve months. The company pays a dividend of $1.25.

Merger Possibility.

The group operating in Corn Products Refining is said to have interested itself in Penick and Ford. Both stocks have been stronger of late. Possibilities of a consolidation have long been discussed, as Penick & Ford controls many trademarked articles which would fit in nicely with the Corn Products line.

Gold Dust Buying.

Present buying of Gold Dust is supposed to be for the account of some of the most important interests in Wall street. Although the corporation will show satisfactory earnings for 1929, the full benefits of its consolidation program will not be apparent until this year. It is estimated that about $4 a share was available for the stock in 1929.

SHOOTS SON, 11, THEN TRIES TO END OWN LIFE

Steve Barkoulis, a butcher living with his wife and three children over their meat market at 338 South Laramie avenue, last night shot and seriously wounded his son, Gust, 11 years old, during a family quarrel and then attempted to end his own life by beating himself with a meat cleaver.

According to police Barkoulis, his wife, Helen, with Gust, and two other children, Bessie, 9, and Catherine, 12, were eating when the argument started. Mrs. Barkoulis ran to summon two of her brothers, George and James Petras, who live near by.

As the Petras brothers entered Barkoulis locked himself in the bathroom and fired through the door, the bullet striking Gust in the head. The latter then attempted to kill himself. Gust was taken to the Frances Willard hospital and Barkoulis to the Bridewell hospital. Doctors said both may die.

1,000 REDS MASS TO GUARD RUSS ENVOY IN PARIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 11.—With scores of policemen ready to ward off an attack from white Russians seeking to free, or to discover the corpse of their missing leader, Gen. Alexander Koutlepoff, and more than 1,000 communists on guard to protect Ambassador Dovgalevsky, the soviet embassy tonight looked as if in a state of siege. Powerful klieg lights in embassy windows swept the street.

The white Russian colony held a monster meeting earlier in the evening to protest against the abduction of their chief. More than 6,000 attended. After an address by Maj. Georges Scapini, blind war veteran, deputy, 200 white Russians marched on the soviet embassy. Police dispersed the mob and arrested ten carrying concealed weapons.

PARIS, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Deputy Jean Ybarnegaray today filed an interpellation in the chamber of deputies asking a rupture of diplomatic relations with soviet Russia. "M. Ybarnegaray has declared communist activities in France have become unbearable.

STOCK MELONS, ETC., RECALL THE GOOD OLD DAYS

Western Electric to Offer Shares.

The New York Stock Exchange, the Chicago Board of Trade, and the Chicago Stock Exchange and other leading stock and commodity markets throughout America, except the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, will be closed today in observance of Lincoln's birthday. Banks also will be closed.

BY O. A. MATHER.

A taste of the good old days of stock melons, splitups, rights and increased dividends was afforded yesterday. A grist of such announcements was the more cheering because they haven't been numerous since the stock market collapsed three months ago.

The Western Electric company announced a new offering of stock which will accrue to the benefit of stockholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, which owns more than 58 per cent of Western Electric stock. The offering consists of 750,000 no par common shares at $40 a share, in the ratio of one new share for each seven now held. With the new issue Western Electric will have 6,000,000 common shares outstanding, of which 4,860,170 will be owned by American Telephone.

Western Electric will receive $30,000,000 from sale of the new stock, and this sum will be used to finance expansion of manufacturing facilities now in progress, according to President Edgar S. Bloom. The subscription rights accrue to stockholders of record Feb. 17 and will expire March 31. This is the fourth offering of subscription rights by Western Electric since late in 1928.

Approve Otis & Co. Plan.

Stockholders of the Otis Elevator company voted approval of a plan to increase the authorized common stock from 500,000 shares of $50 par value to 1,500,000 no par shares. The present stock will be split on a four for one basis, which will entail issuance of approximately 2,000,000 new shares. The unissued 500,000 new shares will be held in the treasury for future use. Chairman W. B. Baldwin said earnings for last year were very satisfactory.

The G. C. Murphy company, operating a chain of about 140 stores, declared a 20 per cent stock dividend on the common stock, payable Feb. 18 to stockholders of record on the same date. The stock will be placed on a $2.40 annual basis, starting with a quarterly dividend of 40 cents. The annual rate is equivalent to $1.92 on the present shares, which paid $1.20 last year.

Stockholders of the Midland Steel Products company approved a recapitalization plan whereby the present participating preferred and common shares will be retired and three new classes of stock will be substituted.

John Morrell & Co., Chicago meat packers, increased the annual common stock rate from $3.60 to $4.40 a share by declaring a quarterly payment of $1.10 a share. Earnings for the thirteen months ended Nov. 2, 1929, were equivalent to $8.59 a share, compared with $6.62 a share earned in the preceding twelve months. The company has changed its fiscal year. The American Manufacturing company raised its common stock rate from $3 to $4 by declaring four quarterly dividends of $1 to cover this year.

General Trade News.

General news of industry and trade was mildly cheerful yesterday. Reports of further improvement came from the steel industry and the movement of commodities by the railroads showed signs of picking up.

"Steel demand, after rebounding sharply in January, is not only holding its own but, in the aggregate, has shown a further slight gain," the Iron Age says. "The most recent expansion of business, however, has not been shared in by all producers. Whereas steel ingot output in Chicago has risen to 90 per cent of capacity, at Pittsburgh it remains at 75 per cent and in the Youngstown district has declined a few points."

Loading of revenue freight for the week ended Feb. 1, totaled 898,894 cars, an increase of 36,273 over the preceding week but a decline of 48,260 from a year ago and also 27,368 below two years ago.

Wheat Prices Jump 7 Cents as U. S. Puts Cash in Market

BY PAUL POTTER.

Government funds administered by the federal farm board were put to a new use yesterday, when for the first time wheat was purchased in considerable quantities on six primary markets at prevailing low market prices, to be held, processed and merchandised at the order and risk of the Grain Stabilization corporation.

WM. G. KELLOGG. [Associated Press Photo.]

This action followed the meeting and election of officers yesterday morning in Chicago of the stabilization corporation, which was incorporated on Monday in Delaware at the order of the farm board. The board acted to meet demands for drastic action in the wheat market slump. Chicago wheat prices have advanced 7 cents since first announcements of the proposed corporation was made.

First "Speculative" Buying.

While more than 2,000,000 bushels of wheat, country run only, had been bought over a period of several weeks by the $20,000,000 Farmers' National Grain corporation to protect sums totaling over $10,000,000 advanced to farmers' cooperatives by the farm board, yesterday's buying is the first truly "speculative" purchasing of wheat since the farm board's initial attempt to boost wheat prices last October. The purchase was made for the stabilization corporation by the Farmers' National Grain corporation.

The new stabilization corporation is a nonstock, nonprofit organization, hence without capitalization. It has been granted a line of credit of $10,000,000 from the farm board's revolving fund. Although its activities are confined to wheat, the charter empowers handling of other grains such as corn, oats, barley or rye, should such be necessary at a later date. Only cash grain is being purchased thus far, no officers being willing to commit the corporation on whether it might enter the "futures" market now or later.

Kellogg Explains Purchases.

"Wheat purchased today by the Farmers' National Grain corporation was for two purposes," said W. G. Kellogg, its general manager, and also president of the stabilization corporation. "Some country run grain was purchased, in effect for our cooperative membership, and other wheat at prevailing prices was purchased for the stabilization corporation's order."

In other words, where risks in the purchase of so called surpluses are involved, the existing farmers' sales agency was not in position to assume them for its membership. They are to be borne under provisions of the new federal marketing act by the farm board.

Yesterday's purchases were made in Minneapolis, Duluth, Omaha, Chicago, Kansas City, and Hutchinson, Kas., according to Mr. Kellogg, who declined to say how much had been or would be purchased.

Officers of New Corporation.

Officers of the new grain stabilization corporation named yesterday include: W. G. Kellogg, president; C. E. Huff, Salina, Kas., president of the Farmers Educational and Coöperative union, secretary; Ward M. Buckles, formerly vice president of the Federal Intermediate Credit bank, Spokane, Wash., treasurer; S. J. Cottington, Stanhope, Ia., former president of the National Farmers Elevator Grain company, and E. V. Maltby, Chicago, manager of the Rural Grain company, vice presidents. Kellogg, Huff, and Buckles constitute the corporation's executive committee.

The board of directors includes the three executive officers and William H. Settle, Indianapolis, president of the Indiana Farm bureau and manager of the Central States Grain corporation; F. J. Wilmer, president of North Pacific Grain Growers, Inc., Rosalia, Wash.; E. H. Hodgson, wheat grower, Little River, Kas.; and John H. Hogan, vice president of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company of Chicago. The law firm of Mayer, Meyer, Austrian and Platt of Chicago, has been retained as counsel.

BANK'S RECEIVER IS APPOINTED BY STATE AUDITOR

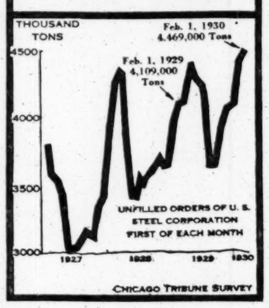
State Auditor Oscar Nelson yesterday appointed the Chicago Title and Trust company receiver for the Progressive State bank, 2202 West Division street, which was closed recently, under a bill filed by Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom and confirmed by Judge Hugo Friend.

Gerson Guthman is president. The bank has capital of $200,000, surplus of $40,000, and deposits of $500,000.

Offer $50,683,000 in New Bonds to Public

New York, Feb. 11.—(AP)—A total of $50,683,000 in new securities were offered for public subscription by New York banking houses and syndicates today. The amount consisted entirely of bonds. A $40,000,000 Cuban public works issue was the largest individual offering.

UNFILLED STEEL ORDERS ON FEBRUARY FIRST WERE THE LARGEST IN MORE THAN 3 YEARS



FIRM UNDERTONE PREVAILS IN CURB EXCHANGE PRICES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 11.—A firm undertone prevailed in today's curb market, although pre-holiday evening of accounts brought out more weak points than were visible yesterday. Public utilities were especially active, but the higher grade industrials and investment trusts were also well supported. Average gains were from one to three points, with a scattering of larger advances, mostly among the inactives.

Trading again was fair in volume. Sales totaled 935,700 shares.

Electric Bond and Share was again active, and with American Superpower led the power and light shares to higher ground. Superpower crossed 31 for the first time this year and was in demand throughout the day. American Gas and Electric scored a 5 point rise before profit taking caused it to sell off. Northern States Power A and Standard Power and Light were strong spots in the Byllesby group. American and Foreign Power warrants and United Light and Power A continued to show strength.

BY SCRUTATOR.

In banking, as in other forms of business, individual enterprise moves ahead of laws.

Thus in the United States we have a situation in which the advocates of the still dominant unit system, particularly the smaller bankers, are worrying about whether they will continue to hold on; in which the advocates of branch banking, frequently prevented by law from going ahead with their plans, must mark time for new legislation; and in which the group and chain bankers are moving along at fair speed with their programs.

President Hoover has asked whether group and chain interests, if allowed to expand without restraint, might not seriously threaten a fundamental of the American credit system, "which is that credit which is based upon banking deposits should be controlled by persons within those areas which furnish these deposits and thus be subject to the restraints of local interest and public opinion in those areas."

Questions of Interest.

There are, then, two questions from the public interest. First, whether the unit system is inherently as safe as branch banking or chain-group banking, and second, whether money that is gathered at home should remain there as a matter of permanent policy.

Branch banking, especially if it can be carried up to the scale of the systems in Great Britain and Canada, is logically the safest. Five London banks with 8,000 branches dominate British finance. Ten banks in Canada control general banking in the dominion, three of them having three-fourths of the assets of all.

Such centralization of finance, it is maintained by opponents of it, is achieved at the cost of small communities, which are subjected to interminable delays in getting approval of loans which do not come under the local managers' rule of thumb regulations. In fact, there is never heard in the United States any suggestions that such systems would work even passably well here.

Branch banking is permitted national banks under restricted conditions by the McFadden act of 1927. Likewise nine states permit all banks in their borders to have branches on a state-wide basis, and eleven others authorize it in restricted territory.

Chain Banking Growth.

Last June there were in the United States 818 parent banks, operating a total of 3,440 branches, more than two-thirds of which were in the home city of the big institution. At the same time there were 273 banking chains, involving 1,858 banks, according to the economic policy commission of the American Bankers' association. Their resources were about thirteen billion dollars out of a total of about seventy-two billions in all the country's banks.

Moreover, chain banking, largely promoted through holding companies, was growing all through the year. The argument for this system is that it gives the advantage of expert advice to the local banker, but retains the best features of unit banking. One argument stressed against it is that the holding company is not under as close supervision as it should be, the assumption being added often that a large bank at the head of a grouping would be preferable, with branch territories limited to metropolitan areas or natural spheres of influence.

SUN LIFE CO. INCOME RISES OVER $28,000,000

Total income of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada for 1929 was $172,000,000, an increase of more than $28,000,000, President T. R. Macaulay reports in his annual statement. Surplus as of Dec. 31 was $60,000,000, a gain of $6,000,000. Assets of the same date were $560,000,000, an increase of $79,000,000.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 11.—Ringmasters of the bull ensemble succeeded in whipping up considerable constructive activity on the stock exchange in the last half of today's pre-holiday program.

Steel, rubber and public utility stocks in particular were put through their paces in group formation and leading issues of the lot were credited with net gains of from 2 to more than 8 points.

Operations on the upside had the benefit of somewhat easier conditions in the money market, holiday currency demands being of no great importance. The call rate held at 4 per cent throughout.

Specialties Active.

Miscellaneous specialties were active and strong throughout the session. Notable features were the street's two outstanding split-up candidates American Can and Westinghouse Electric.

The Supreme Court
Simplifies the Inheritance
Tax Situation

An opinion of the United States Supreme Court, handed down since the first of the year, considerably simplifies the inheritance tax situation to the advantage of the taxpayer. Specifically, the opinion overrules the Minnesota courts in the matter of a tax levy on securities of Minnesota origin which had already been subjected to tax in New York.

The gist of the opinion is contained in a booklet which we have just published—"Estate and Inheritance Taxes." In addition, the book contains a general review of the inheritance and estate tax laws, and graphs showing typical tax curves for estates of varying size.

The booklet will be of particular interest to men whose estates exceed $100,000.

We shall be glad to send you a copy upon request.

WINTON ENGINE RISES ON NEWS OF CAPACITY ORDERS

Industrials Are Active on Chicago Exchange.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Speculative interest shifted from the utilities to a group of industrial stocks on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday.

Gains of two points or more were made by a number of specialties including Winton Engine, General Theater Equipment, Yates American Machine and Ross Gear. While Middle West Utilities was still active with sales of nearly 50,000 shares, the shrinking in volume indicated at least a temporary letup of the feverish trading in the issue.

Winton, which experienced a flurry of activity several weeks ago after announcement that the company had orders booked to insure capacity production for nearly the entire year, rose 2¾ points on sales of about 5,000 shares. Yates participating preference was up more than one on a similar turnover.

Finishes with Gain.

Marks Brothers convertible preference was strong again and finished more than 2 points better although no definite assurance was forthcoming that dividends on the stock will be continued by the new management. Noblitt Sparks and Ross Gear also showed moderate gains while Moline Manufacturing and Brown Fence A were lower at the close.

In the automotive group, Allied Motor Industries advanced a point while Borg Warner and Bendix showed little inclination to move in either direction.

Rises Three Points.

Raytheon Tube jumped three points on comparatively light sales to finish at 24, while Steinite lost part of the gain it made on the previous day. The issue finished at 22¾. Zenith improved 1 to 40¾.

The preliminary report of the Chicago Yellow Cab company for 1929 shows net profits of $1,785,000, equal to $4.46 a share as contrasted with $1,619,622 or $4.04 a share in the preceding year.

Net income of Campbell, Wyant and Cannon Foundry company last year was approximately $1,277,000, equal to $3.65 a share according to a company official. Net in the previous year amounted to $1,574,369, or $4.99 a share on the smaller capitalization.

WHEAT GAINS ON NEWS OF FARM BOARD ACTION

Loan to Stabilization Corp. Removes Uncertainty.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Since the stabilization corporation to help the coöperatives secure a price for wheat more in line with that of other commodities has become a reality, it has removed the uncertainty as to the board's action as a market factor and led to some buying of futures.

At no time yesterday were wheat prices as low as the finish on Monday, strength abroad with reports of a better continental demand, combined with an increasing number of scattered complaints regarding the outlook for the new winter wheat crop bringing in commission house and local buying. The finish was at net gains of 1¼@1⅝c with March $1.19@1.19⅛, and May $1.23¼@1.23¾. Winnipeg showed strength and closed 1½@⅝c higher with houses with seaboard and foreign connections on the buying side. Liverpool gained 1⅝@1¾d for the day, while Buenos Ayres was 1c higher, and Rosario ½@1½c higher.

Mills Buy Wheat Futures.

One of the results of the farm board's action regarding a stabilization corporation was to bring in buying of futures here and at Minneapolis credited to mills, and also curtailed selling pressure. Aggregate trade was not large, with sentiment decidedly mixed, and the disposition is to keep close to shore pending further developments.

While Liverpool wheat market was strong, the May delivery there was only 5⅝c over the same month in Chicago at the time it closed, and was around ¾c over Winnipeg.

Profit Taking in Corn.

Commission house interest in corn shows evidence of increasing and there was a fair run of buying and selling orders. The market was firmer early, but eased toward the last on profit taking and selling against offers and the finish was unchanged to ¼c lower with March 89¼c, and May 94¼@94⅜c. Purchases of 30,000 bu corn were made to arrive at 10@11¼c under May for No. 4 grades, the former for yellow, testing 53 lbs or better. Shipping sales aggregated 101,000 bu. Buenos Aires futures closed 1c higher.

Oats showed a firm undertone, and while the trade was not large the finish was ¾@⅞c higher with March 45⅜, and May 46¾. Realizing sales around 47c for May, checked the advance. Shipping sales were 90,000 bu.

BUTTER STOCKS LARGE

Discouraging storage news was offset by a stiffening of consumer demand, sending butter futures up ¼c or $24 a car, on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange. The government report indicated that withdrawals in the 26 principal markets were about 20 per cent lower than the same week last year, although present storage stocks are 38,193,000 lbs, against 13,310,000 lbs last year. Sales were 129 cars, and receipts 13,246 lbs.

Egg futures were steadier following a 2c advance in the spot market. Sales were 121 cars, and receipts, 7,003 cases. The exchange is closed today, Lincoln's birthday. Prices follow:

Hogs yesterday, $12.00; average, $10.65. Cattle at Chicago today, 7,000 cattle; 1,000 hogs, and 15,000 sheep.

Hogs established new high marks for the season, while cattle sold weak to lower and lambs brought the lowest prices in about eight years, yesterday.

Better grades of light and light butcher hogs clearly quickly at steady to 10c higher prices. The extreme top at $11.10 was paid freely for 167@215 lb averages and goes back to September 5 for an equal.

After urgent orders had been filled at the full strength the market for medium and weighty stock slowed down and closing sales were as much as 10@10c under the general selling of the previous day. The general average price was unchanged at $10.70, about 3,000 were left at the close and 2,000 estimated for today.

Best Cattle Steady.

The "cream" of the cattle supply sold at steady prices, while the rank and file of offerings moved slowly on a week to unevenly lower basis. Medium and weighty steers lacking finish were hard to dispose of at the sharpest decline and some of the poorest kinds were still in the pens at the close.

Seven yearlings, averaging 925 lbs., reached $15.35, but the top for load lots stopped at $15.00, which obtained 46 choice 1,291-lb average. A string of 14 mixed yearling steers and heifers averaging 667 lbs also reached the latter price, while bulk of the total supply changed hands within a range of $13.50@13.00. Sales above $13.50 were few to cut much figure in the general market. Cows and heifers showed little change. Calves sold steady. Stockers and feeders were about steady.

Lambs Weaken Again.

Immense supplies of sheep and lambs at all leading market centers brought prices down 15@25c further yesterday. Fancy lightweights to city butchers at $12.00 were in a class by themselves in point of quality, while fewer houses obtained good to choice kinds as low as $11.50@11.75.

Bulk of the supply consisted of stock selling within a range of $10.00@11.25. Good sheep and yearlings shared in the full price cuts, good handy ewes selling around $5.50. Feeding lambs dropped to the lowest level in many years and were slow to move. Some good grades went to country buyers as low as $10.00. Receipts at the seven leading markets during the first two days of this week at 140,000 compare with 87,000 a year ago.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 7,000 cattle, 24,000 hogs and 1,500 sheep, against 7,466 cattle, 29,-[illegible] hogs and 11,643 sheep the previous Wednesday and 6,403 cattle, 22,626 hogs and 14,409 sheep a year ago.

Chicago Board of Trade Stocks

With organization of the special stock committees practically completed, there is an effort on the part of members to work for new listings and for increased trading in securities on the Board of Trade. A lineup with the other exchanges is to be a special feature. Within a short time it is proposed to change the hours of trading, making them the same as other exchanges, opening at 9 and closing at 2 Chicago time, which corresponds with the Chicago and New York exchanges.

Yesterday's trading was confined to insiders. Mid-City leading with sales of 15 to 12½ and the close at a net of ¾.

RUBBER.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Rubber futures closed very steady: March, 16.60c; May, 16.30c; July, 16.70c; spot smoked, ribbed, 15¾c.

WALL ST. STOCK PRICES RISE AT BULLS' BIDDING

The former ran up for some 4 points and the electric issue advanced more than 6.

The rails were prominent in the early trading, but were unable to hold speculative interest once the industrials began to move. The New Haven road reflected accumulation.

Gains ranging as high as 4 points were accomplished by minor issues of the group. Allegheny Corporation was again active, but wound up with a fractional loss on the day's operations. Missouri, Kansas and Texas mounted to a new top for the year, but later gave way in the face of profit taking.

Steel Up 2 Points.

Reports of further improvement in steel production were used to advantage in stirring up fresh interest in steel stocks and through them the market as a whole. United States Steel common registered a net advance of 2 points after being higher at one time, and Bethlehem and Ludlum trailed with less imposing gains.

United States Steel has been meeting with considerable pressure for several days and this afternoon's advance was seen as an effective answer to bear manipulators who had been making much of the new price reductions on steel products.

Rubber shares were apparently making a belated response to the favorable 1929 earnings reports of Goodyear and growing rumors of impending mergers in the rubber industry centering around the Goodyear company. Goodyear made one of the striking advances of the day, jumping more than 8 points. United States Rubber rose more than 2 points.

Utilities Reach Top.

Many utility stocks reached new highs for the move at one point or another of the day's trading. Gains of 1 to 2 points were recorded by American Power and Light, Columbia Gas, Consolidated Gas, American and Foreign

THE LARGEST MAGAZINE CIRCULATION UNIT IN AMERICA

Facts about Today

THE first twenty-two issues of Crowell Magazines for 1930 already have gone to press.

These twenty-two issues are carrying $1,308,313 more advertising than the same issues a year ago.

The latest issues, upon which an accurate count has been made, show a gain in circulation of 1,063,186 over the corresponding issues of last year.

These gains in circulation and gains in advertising are indicative of the responsiveness of the American people to constructive, clean, helpful, progressive editorial material —and forceful advertising.

The Ace of Spades

By WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Jim Rutledge, accompanied by Jim Hart, is sent out with a herd of cattle to fulfill a contract made by his father, Chandler Rutledge. On the trail they are overtaken by some men from the Moss outfit, enemies of Rutledge. The Moss men start a stampede and drive off some of the Rutledge cattle. Jim recovers them, but in doing so shoots and injures one of the Moss raiders. The men of the Moss outfit swear to be revenged for the injury and harass him. Jim takes refuge in a ranch house, where he finds Ellen Lawson alone in the house. She hides him when the Moss gang comes to the house inquiring for him, and sends them off on another trail, even though she learns that he has injured her brother. Jim rides on into the town, after saving Ellen from the unwelcome attentions of Sam Moss. Shear, the town marshal, threatens to arrest him for the attack on Steve Lawson, but Harrison Pendleton, an old trail driver, arrives on the scene in time to save him from arrest. Shortly afterwards Shear kills Doc Brown, whom he claimed had threatened his life. This causes a great deal of excitement in the little cattle town. Jim goes into the local gambling den and is astonished to find Ellen Lawson there. She says she has come to speak to her brother, Steve. Jim guides her to the other end of the room, where Steve is sitting in a game of poker with Shears and others. As they reach the table the lights go out, and when the room is again lighted Shear is found crumpled in his chair dead with Jim's knife sticking in him. Ellen's right hand is covered with blood and there are three finger marks on Jim's neck.

INSTALLMENT XV.

DENIAL.

The purpose of the quiz was clear enough to Ellen now. The sheriff wanted to prove by her that Jim was close to the murdered man when she last saw him again.

"I didn't say so," she protested. "And he was coming toward me from the main hall."

"How do you know that, since you're not sure the candles were lit?" Manders asked harshly. "Can you see in the dark?"

"I could hear him brushing past folks, kinda."

"You mean you could hear some one," he corrected. "And I thought you just said you didn't remember anything till he was there beside you."

"You try to make me say things I didn't mean," she cried.

"I want the truth," the sheriff told her sharply. "I don't want you covering for this fellow."

"I'm not. He didn't do it. I told you how it was," she pleaded.

"By your own story you don't know whether he did it or not. You got separated from him, and you were pushed to the table. The killing was done by some one mighty close to you. Soon as there is light you see him below you."

"But he had just come into the small room."

"You don't know that. You think so. That's not evidence." Manders moved to another point. "Go on. When you saw him did you say anything?"

"No."

"Did he?"

"No."

"What did you do?"

Again a wave of pink beat into her cheeks. "I was frightened . . . terribly," she explained.

"I asked you what you did."

The long eyelashes fell to the hot cheeks. Shame flooded her being. "I don't know. I—I think I was sorta faint—afraid I'd fall."

No, she couldn't have done it.

The mercy of being alone behind locked doors should have been given her in unmixed distress. Instead, she was surrounded by eyes.

"Don't you see?" Jim broke in. "She caught at me to keep from falling."

The sheriff whirled on him. "You stay out of this till you're called on to speak," he ordered roughly. "You'll get chance enough later."

"What's the use of ridin' her? She admits she was scared to death an' don't hardly know what she was doing."

"I'm asking what happened—and I aim to find out, young fellow. That'll be enough from you now." Manders brushed his interference aside with a wave of his hand. "Well, miss?"

"Like I said, I was scared and—I guess I hung on to him." She spoke in a low voice, as though words were being whipped out of her.

"Put your arms 'round his neck, did you?"

"Yes, I—had to hold to something."

"And the stains on his neck came from your hand?"

"Yes. It must have been that way."

"Did you wipe your hand on your dress afterward?"

"Yes."

"Sure it was afterward?"

"I think so."

Jim realized that Manders had once more scored a point against him. His first instinct would be to wipe the blood from her fingers. Therefore, presumptively Rutledge must have been with her almost immediately. That was the argument that would be made by the sheriff, and it was one that could not be denied weight.

Manders hesitated a moment. "That'll be all just now, miss."

"I'm right handed." Ellen answered.

The question puzzled her. It puzzled the sheriff, too.

"What difference does it make?" he asked.

"A lot," Jim replied, and gave no more information.

"What's your name, young man?" the sheriff asked of Jim.

"James Rutledge."

"Near Lockhart, Tex."

"Cowboy?"

"I've just brought a couple herds of 4 year olds up the trail for my dad."

"In some trouble about stealing a horse, ain't you?"

"No, I'm not," Jim answered, flushing angrily.

"Accused of it?"

"By a bunch of rustlers lookin' for an out," Jim said.

"Had some trouble recently with Mr. Shear, I understand?"

"No trouble. He did me a service."

Buck Roe laughed derisively. "We'll learn soon that this fellow an' Joe are thicker than three in a bed."

"The marshal knocked you cold with the barrel of his sixshooter, didn't he?" Manders inquired.

"To save my life from a pair of murderers." Jim said quietly.

"That's a lie," Roe flung at him.

"I'll prove it when the time comes."

"This Texas fellow was resistin' arrest for horse stealing when Joe put a bullet to sleep," broke in Pete Moss.

"Why do you talk about his stealing a horse, Pete, when you know he didn't?" Ellen cried indignantly. "Four of you tried to kill him and you took a chance. He had to take yours or be left afoot. Why don't you tell the truth?"

"I have so many volunteer helpers," the sheriff said with heavy sarcasm. "You want the truth, don't you?" the girl flamed. "You don't want to—put this on an innocent man."

"Or woman," Manders added. "I thought perhaps if I asked some questions we might find out something. But I'm only the sheriff. Don't mind me."

"Go ahead, Allison. You're findin' out a-plenty," Roe said.

"Just two or three more questions, Rutledge, before I have the body moved," the officer went on. "Did you have that knife with you when you came into this place tonight?"

"Yes."

"Where did you carry it?"

"In this sheath attached to my belt."

"Did you put that knife where it is now?"

"I did not." Jim answered.

More than one of those present, watching this tall bronzed youth, whose hands were so steady and yet so quick with life, felt a conviction that he could have done this coldblooded murder.

"Then who did it?"

"I don't know."

"Did you lend the knife to Miss Lawson?"

"No. She couldn't have done it."

"How did it get from its sheath to Joe Shear's heart?"

"I'll tell you how, Mr. Sheriff." Jim made answer evenly. "When the lights went out and I was being pushed and crowded, the murderer slipped out and drove it into Mr. Shear's body."

"Some one else, not you?"

"Yes, some one else." Jim had picked up a card from the table and his fingers were playing with it.

"And not Miss Lawson?"

"Not Miss Lawson?"

"Fair enough," Manders said with honeyed sarcasm. "She tried to alibi you. Now you do as much for her. Turn about is right."

"Miss Lawson doesn't know I didn't do it, but I know she didn't," Jim said quietly.

"How can you know it—unless you did it yourself?"

"I use my brains, Mr. Sheriff."

Chicago Today Recalls Lincoln of City's Youth

And How They Shared Great Events.

The 121st anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln will be the occasion today for a city-wide celebration touching on all phases of the life of the emancipator. Chicago, which figured prominently in Lincoln's career until his election to the presidency, for which he was nominated here, will recall anew the traits of character and accomplishments of the civil war President.

At Memorial hall, Randolph street and Michigan avenue, the remaining veterans of 1861-'65 will gather to honor the memory of the man who was their commander in chief.

The Chicago Historical society, which has a large collection of Lincoln relics, will hold open house. Lincoln's tall hat and cotton umbrella, the old barouche in which he rode, and the bed on which he died will be focal points of interest.

Dr. Lincoln Caswell of New York, noted since his college years for his physical resemblance to Lincoln, will be a guest at the Historical society. Probate Judge Henry Horner, a collector of things concerning Lincoln, will speak on "The Universality of Lincoln" at 8 p. m.

St. Gauden's statue of Lincoln, facing the Dearborn street entrance in Lincoln park, will be the central point for many of the day's events. Several thousand Boy Scouts are first on the program there. They will gather at 10 a. m. to stand at attention while a drum and bugle corps formed of three northwest side troops sounds appropriate calls. An Eagle Scout will place a wreath on the statue.

A large and more inclusive crowd will convene at the same place at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. High school students, war veterans, and club members will assemble then. Members of Lincoln park post of the American Legion, Veterans of the Spanish-American and the civil war, R. O. T. C. units from Lane Tech and Lake View high schools, and delegations from the Hamilton and Lincoln park Kiwanis clubs will participate.

Lane high school band will play patriotic airs. George Dixon, Lincoln park commissioner, Royal N. Allen, past commander of the Illinois Sons of Veterans, and Dr. Norman B. Barr of Olivet institute will speak. The Rev. J. L. Albritton, chaplain of the G. A. R., will pronounce the invocation.

Disabled American veterans of the world war plan to assemble at 1 o'clock at the Art institute, to parade from there to the same Lincoln statue. After a wreath has been placed by Nicholas O. Isaacson, commander of the state department of Illinois, former Senator James Hamilton Lewis and Willard Rice, past national commander of the disabled veterans, will speak briefly.

Practically every large high school in Chicago will take part in the elaborate Lincoln day program planned by the Union League club, to be held at the Auditorium theater at 10 o'clock this morning. J. V. Norcross, chairman of the public affairs committee of the club, will preside. Numbers will be given by high school bands, choruses, R. O. T. C. units, and orchestras. Winners in the Cook county poster design, public speaking, and Lincoln ode contests will be announced during the program.

A poster designed by Wilbur Eugene Johnson of Lindblom High school was awarded the prize and decorates the cover of the Lincoln day programs for the Union League club function.

Children from all parts of the city are invited to view six reels of the life of Abraham Lincoln, to be shown at 10 o'clock and at 11 o'clock at the Field museum by James Nelson and Anna Louise Raymond. Admission is free.

Judge Marcus Kavanagh will speak tonight on "If Lincoln Lived Today" to the Man's club of the Sinai Temple congregation at the Emil G. Hirsch center, 46th stret and South Park way.

Fred Landis, former congressman from Logansport, Ind., addressed the Rotary club yesterday at the Hotel Sherman on Lincoln. He declared Lincoln's greatest speech was delivered at Petersburg, Ind., in 1856 and was never recorded.

Dr. B. J. Cigrand, president of the National Flag Day association and a member of the faculty of the University of Illinois, was the speaker on Lincoln last night before the Lions' club, Cook County council, at the Stevens building restaurant.

At the third concert of the "Hearing America First" series for school children next Saturday morning, Feb. 15, in Orchestra hall, the music of Washington's and Lincoln's time will be presented. Some members of the G. A. R. are expected to occupy box seats.

RECALLS INCIDENTS OF LINCOLN - DOUGLAS DEBATE AT QUINCY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Quincy, Ill., Feb. 11.—Lincoln's birthday recalls his debate here with Douglas in August, 1857. Former Senator Webb M. Ruby remembers that debate vividly. He had been sent to Clark county on business by his father and found the boat down from Alexandria crowded with people going to the debate. All were so excited he decided to stop off.

He said, "As our boat made for the landing other boats crowded with passengers nosed into the levee, which was black with people. The speaking was in the square in the center of Quincy. At my first sight of Lincoln I laughed. He was so tall and gaunt. But he was very interesting and every sentence provoked an outburst, mostly of laughter. He was a real humorist and that is why the crowd enjoyed him so.

"As I recall, he was dignified, exact, and serious. He was in dead earnest, and I wonder now how he stood the guying of his opponent. When his time came to speak he answered some charges made by his critics by saying, 'It has been charged as a matter of grave concern that I once kept a saloon. I have no apologies to make, as when engaged in this business my distinguished opponent was on the other side of the counter.' This brought a great laugh and I heard that the story was stopped for fear it might react unfavorably on Douglas."

MOVIE CLOSEUP

According to press dispatches from San Francisco, Maurice Chevalier, who was scheduled to make a personal appearance here at McVicker's theater in conjunction with the gala premiere of his new talking picture, "The Love Parade," is confined to his bed with a mild case of influenza. Opening of "The Love Parade" will be postponed until such time as Maurice Chevalier has fully recovered and is able to appear in Chicago, as announced. All tickets purchased for the special preview opening and Chevalier's appearance on Monday night, Feb. 17, will be good for and may be held until such time as the star does appear in Chicago, probably a week later.

Style for Men Turning Back to Former Days

As Women's Garb Revives Victorian Ideas.

The return of the swallow tail coat and the evening cape for men, and the fashion of taking Sunday afternoon strolls in a frock coat and striped trousers, are only a small part of the revolution in men's attire which has resulted from the new women's styles.

According to P. B. Juster, Minneapolis clothier, chairman of the style committee of the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers, meeting in its seventeenth annual convention in the Stevens hotel, the renaissance of good manners which is accompanying the change in women's styles will have a far-reaching effect on men's styles.

"Men's clothes must be formal enough so that the new old-fashioned woman won't feel out of place with him," he said yesterday. "That is why this spring for business wear men will wear a double breasted sack coat, a shaped coat, it will be, in soft colors. The mist blue, or blue gray, will predominate. A green gray is another fashionable color.

"But the style trends to follow from women's new styles have just begun. Whether they will like them, I don't know, but men will be willing to pay the price in order to have women go back to long skirts and feminine clothes."

There is no doubt about the approval of the masculine sex concerning women's new fashions, according to Mr. Juster. He sees in them the return of woman to the pedestal on which man placed her and from which she insisted on climbing in the after-war days, when she was anxious to become a "good fellow."

"Men never wanted the 'good fellow' that the modern girl of the last ten years became. No matter what he says, the average man hates to see a woman smoke a cigaret," Mr. Juster declared.

"Now that the long skirts, long hair and a demure, really ladylike demeano are gain in fashion, more young men will want to get married.

"I am sure that men will be willing to accept any styles for themselves if the women want them, now that women have resumed their old rôle of being the charming playmate, not the equal, of men."

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send your name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question, C. H. Burgston, Palmer sanitarium, Springfield, Ill., was awarded $5.

The Question.

Would a rigid enforcement of the law against carrying concealed weapons result in an effective reduction of murder and other crimes of violence in Chicago?

The Answers.

W. H. Zarr, 3737 West 19th street, accountant.—Certainly it would curtail murder and other crimes if deadly weapons were taken away from irresponsible persons. Men of that type feel brave when they have a gun on hand. Deprive them of their weapons and they are yellow.

Miss Ethel Nelson, 14 West Washington street, placement work.—I came here from Minneapolis three years ago, and they have about as much crime there as we have in Chicago, considering the cities' difference in size.

George Brown, 1009 West 79th street, salesman.—They have been trying to enforce the gun toting law for years. They have been trying to enforce the Volstead act, too. The only real solution to either problem is to stop the manufacture. It would be a good thing if both laws could be and were enforced. When traveling if you say you are from Chicago people are suspicious of you.

Miss Margie Van Wyck, 3228 Flournoy street, nurse.—I believe in the rigid enforcement of all laws. If everybody were peaceful minded there wouldn't be any need for weapons and there wouldn't be either murders or other crimes. At the same time, if the criminally inclined are armed and the good citizens are not, the latter are at the robbers' mercy.

William Pura, 1119 Webster street, accountant. — It unquestionably would, because the criminal would be weaponless, therefore practically harmless. Without guns there would be no gang murders. But the only way to make the law effective would be to forbid the manufacture of side arms, which is another problem.

THE STAGE

"YOUR UNCLE DUDLEY."

A comedy by Howard Lindsay and Bertrand Robinson, given at the Cort theater Feb. 11, 1930, under the management of Messrs. Erlanger and Tyler. The cast:

Mabel Dixon Church.....Irene Oshier
Ethelyn Church.....Eleanor Hayden
Janet Dixon.....Mrs. Jacques Martin
Cyril Church.....William Haworth Jr.
Dudley Dixon.....Thomas W. Ross
Christine Sederholm.....Allyn Gillyn
Charlie Post.....Edmund Elton
Robert Kirby.....Donald Foster

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

THOMAS W. ROSS has inherited Raymond Hitchcock's rôle in "Your Uncle Dudley," and Tommy, of course, is not Hitchy—never was and never tried to be. So the title character of this domestic comedy, which belongs to the sexless or "good clean fun" school of playwriting, differs markedly in personality from that which presided at its debut here.

Except for this change, however, "Your Uncle Dudley" is the same as it was last spring, when its success (interrupted by Hitchcock's fatal illness) was news. There are other replacements in the cast, naturally, but they follow the vein of the originals.

Mr. Ross represents the average middle aged, back slapping bachelor of any small American city, according to the intention of the authors. Mr. Hitchcock never represented the average of anything in his entire career. He was always fantastic.

His Uncle Dudley was a curiosity of humor, unique in moon struck drollery; Mr. Ross' is a direct, workmanlike treatment of the rôle and its situations in the style of an experienced comedian. And with him at the helm the play marches along toward its predestined laughs with confidence, although with not exactly the old swagger. It is ideally lodged at the Cort, which is precisely the playhouse for comedies of this unsophisticated and salubrious type.

Mrs. Jacques Martin remains in the cast, as co-partner with Mr. Ross. Her contribution of an impish grandma, a puttering and dithering old lady with the spirit of a gamin, is one of the reasons why "Your Uncle Dudley" may be witnessed with keen relish by any theater-goer. She is as unique in her way as Hitchcock was in his.

She is a sly and gentle fantastic, always trying to give some one a verbal nudge in the ribs. She does not strain for comic make-up, but only to look at her it is to chuckle. She can be spoken of in superlatives; in this Mrs. Martin, who hasn't acted in Chicago often enough to be a familiar figure, you see the finest actress of quaint old age now in harness on the American stage.

Eleanor Hayden is very winsome, and exactly right, as the girl of the vexatious singing lessons, and William Haworth Jr. is a good specimen of high school brashness as the young brother. These two are also survivors from the "Uncle Dudley" of the Hitchcock phase. The terrible mother is played in the stern and bitter key of the first production by Irene Oshier. Apparently the stage directors of the piece have issued orders that Lady Macbeth was the model to be followed for this rôle.

Sir Harry Lauder, the transcontinental Scot, is holding forth at the Garrick this week, expansive in racial caricature and resonant of song. The Lauder voice is really an amazing organ, and it shows no signs of fraying at the edges as the years and the tours roll along. His sense of humorous character, too, is a rich talent, and the reticent temperament of his race has prevented him from following the lead of other famous funmakers into the realm of Rabelais.

He always brings new material to refresh his repertory. The unfamiliar numbers of this visit, which ends Saturday night, bear the titles of "Flower of the Heather," "The End of the Road," "When I Meet McKaye," and "When I Got Off the Chain." In the latter he represents a Glasgow magistrate off on a spree, ironically describing the bullying of his wife.

Entertainers that form a small vaudeville bill support Sir Harry. They include Fleurette Joeffrey, a soprano of talent and looks; the Arnaut Brothers, whose bird imitations are a standard specialty of "the halls," and a pianist, said to be Persian, called Kharum

Edison Warns of Politicians on His Birthd

At 83 He Urges Publ Heed Engineers.

Fort Myers, Fla., Feb. 11.—Thomas A. Edison, celebrating h birthday here today, declared biggest thing the American peop accomplish during the next y to "pay more attention to eng than to politicians."

The aged inventor scribbled with a stub of a pencil as he his written answers to a question from newspaper men who wer corded their annua birthday view at his workshop.

Asked: "How old do you f Mr. Edison replied: "Generally 50, but lately some microbe has some experimenting with my int machinery and I feel about 85."

Mr. Edison believed that abs prohibition can be accomplished the United States. He asserted with a vigorous "yes" to a q about it.

Asked if he believed proposed n fication of the Volstead law to pe the home manufacture of light w and beer would help the cause of t perance, the inventor replied "no."

He asserted his belief that the L don arms conference would arrive "a sane pact to limit future troub

Queried about aviation, Mr. Edi favored "more experimenting to crease safety" before "commercia ing too much."

"Do you think a young man gra uated from high school will deri greater benefit by spending four yea in a modern university or by enterin business immediately?" he was aske

"The way things are today," M Edison replied, "I should say ente business."

"At what age do you consider th electrical development is today?—chil hood, adolescence, maturity, or o age?"

"Childhood" was the laconic an swer.

"What," he was asked, "will be come of the common laborer whe the full automatic machine eliminate hand work?"

"He will own a home and a lot o things, providing alcohol doesn't in tervene," Mr. Edison said.

"Can you tell of the greatest dis appointment you encountered in your work, also the greatest satisfaction?" was one question.

"I am always disappointed until the problem is solved. Not more than one out of 20 of the details work at first," he replied.

Following the questionnaire, Mr. Edison went home and made ready for the unveiling of the Edison memorial plaque in City park. He motored to the scene of the unveiling, where he was joined by his old friends, Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone. Together with them and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Edison walked to seats immediately in front of the speakers' stand.

They were given a round of applause by the crowd which viewed the unveiling.

Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins college, gave the dedicatory address, referring to Mr. Edison as a "living mortal" and as "the man who is generally regarded by other nations as the greatest living American."

"Immortality rarely, if ever, comes from personality alone," Dr. Holt said, "however great, glowing or heroic. One must achieve and achieve supremely to have his name ring down the ages."

Keep the Others Close, Even When New Baby Is Added

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

A new baby is an enthralling, a fascinating object. See that your new baby isn't so enthralling, so fascinating to you—its father and its mother—that you let it even temporarily cut off communication between you and your other child or children.

Even if the actual time that you have with them is lessened, you can still make them feel there is and never could be any difference in your love and interest. I think that after the new baby's coming, a conscious effort should be made to keep up certain contacts—perhaps favorite interests or especially cozy times that you and your child had before the baby was born. Words are not the reassurance that the older child needs, but deeds—among which should be a constant inclusion, a community of interest in the baby.

I know of cases where the new baby slipped so smoothly into the family life that pleasure and interest at its advent were the only effects. But there are many cases where this is not so. And child psychologists have traced many habit and behavior troubles back to unfortunate changes in the child's home life that followed the birth of a new baby.

One concrete instance of this is the way in which a young child will sometimes get out of his well established habits of elimination after the baby has come. This may happen as a result of neglect, but often it has been proved to be the child's unconscious appeal for attention from his grown-ups—even if that attention must be unpleasant. Naturally, there are many other indirect signs that all is not well, which are not always easily recognized. This happens, too, not only in families where there has been just one child, but where the new baby is the third, fourth or fifth child.

Every new person of any age, taken into the intimacy of an established family life, makes changes in it, as every one well knows. All sorts of new human elements, new adjustments are involved.

Sight of Bashful Student of 21 Is Strange in 1930

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Emmet is 21, studying law at a well known university and is considered by his classmates to be of more than average ability. He is prominent in field and track athletics and is generally well liked by the boys. But girls—they scare him half to death. He blushes, stammers and becomes confused when addressed by a girl. It is so embarrassing that he shuns them.

The reason advanced for this strange 1930 behavior is that Emmet's life has been spent on a little farm upstate. BUT there is one girl—a sweet co-ed, before whom he would like to act more like a man and less like an idiot. She suspects nothing, since in her presence poor Emmet becomes even more confused and his blushes increase and his embarrassment becomes more painful.

It occurs to me that a boy of 21 who could still blush and appear shy in the presence of a young lady might be a novel enough experience to intrigue the fairest of a fair co-ed, or any young modern. From what I hear, at any rate, the specie of bashful youth must be a novelty. Complaints from girl quarters are always on the other side; there is not enough of the bashful quality that holds a woman as a creature apart.

But maybe girls don't like them that way any more. Maybe they wouldn't take the time to take hold of raw material and mold it into form. It would be good material to work with, I should judge, especially where it had the support of a good mental and physical attainment such as Emmet may claim.

Of course, there is the competitive angle that Emmet has to face, too. He is losing time that another may be profiting by. Too, the times aren't especially good fore one who is not a good salesman. So Emmet must square himself for the new world that is his to conquer.

Girls aren't such terrifying creatures, really. They shouldn't tie a tongue. They don't, either. It's just the shortsighted business of thinking about self too much that reduces man or maid to a stammering stage. And the only remedy discovered to date is to square the shoulders, dig right in and conquer the girl over the blushing and stammering difficulties. They evaporate with each bold attempt.

He Who Laughs Last.

While waiting for a car I was much amused in seeing people drinking from a public fountain which was out of order. Every time they turned the handle the water would shoot up into their faces. Then, seeing my car approaching, I forgot about it and stopped for a hasty drink. Much to the amusement of the public, I received my bath. You can imagine my embarrassment when they gave me the laugh! L. McC.

Overheard.

Recently I went into a fruit store which has changed hands frequently of late. Again I spied strange faces and immediately asked the clerk if the store was under new management. He said no, and I spoke up, "But where is the old man who was here?"

At that the gentlemen—and he is one—came out of the back and said, "Here's the old man." I certainly felt embarrassed, for he is far from an old man. R. D. V.

K. G. Smiths, Palm Beach, Busy as Ho

BY THALIA

Being able to entertain one's [guests] on a grand and glorious scale is [the] stipedream with most humans, but [Mr.] us manage to do so as success[fully] as the Kenneth G. Smiths, [of] Winnetkans, who have arran[ged] background and the attendant [facili]ties for such a hospitable pro[gram] Their new place at Palm Beach [on] is the locale for a continuous [round] of house parties throughout th[e] winter season. Mr. and Mrs. Smi[th] started early in the winter, a[nd] having their guests in relays of [two] couples each for two week[s.] Parties of eight are generally [consid]ered to be the best sized group [for] having a good time. Foursome [at] bridge or golf are always ava[ilable]

Besides sports the Smith pla[ce] a gorgeous swimming pool ther[e] numerous diversions offered to a[ll] the winter sojourners in Palm B[each.] When the party goes forth [in the] evening to night clubs or dance[s] and Mrs. Smith leave for home [at] 11 o'clock, assuring their guests [that] they are at liberty to make merr[y] long as and as late as they like[, but] that for steady fare, they prefer [the] retiring hours. Among the [many] shore friends of the Smiths who [come] to enjoy their hospitality during [the] season are the Leslie S. Gordons [and] and Mrs. Arthur C. Sullivan, and [Mr.] and Mrs. Joseph E. Magnus.

The gay scarlet and yellow [tulips] in green glass vases provided a [very] like suggestion to the tea tables [at] the English Speaking union's tea [on] Saturday afternoon for Constance C[ollier] of "The Matriarch" company. T[he] seemed to be a hint of spring [flow]ers in some of the costumes.

Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, who pre[sided] at one of the tea urns, wore a m[ost] black crêpe with touches of white. Mrs. Chauncey Borland's black [and] turban was trimmed with bands o[f] fur. Mrs. Americus F. Callahan, [Mrs.] Theodore Tieken, Miss Estelle W[ard] and Mrs. John Zane were others [who] assisted at the tea which follo[wed] Miss Collier's brief talk.

Boxholders for the Woman's [Symp]hony orchestra's all-Russian pro[gram] at the Eighth Street theater this [morn]ing, with Ethel Leginska as [guest] conductor and soloist, include [Mrs.] Rockefeller McCormick, Mrs. A[rthur] us F. Callahan, Mrs. Frederic Up[degraff] Miss Olga Menn, Mr. and Mrs. C[harles] est Studebaker, and Mrs. Alber[t] Ochsner. Tonight's program is [the] 5th of the season.

It seems as though practically [all] the organizations in town had, [or] now, given dinners for the Univer[sity] of Chicago's new president, Ro[bert] Maynard Hutchins. The Chicago [Ath]lege club is giving one on Friday [even]ing.

High jinks at Nassau can be [imag]ined from the accounts of num[erous] parties retailed from there to [us] by correspondence. Mr. and [Mrs.] John M. Hutchins gave a dinner [one] night not so long ago, and Maj. [and] Mrs. Thomas R. Gowenlock who w[ere] among the guests entertained [the] same group at a bathing and lunch[eon] party the next day at the Bahama Country club. The James N. R[ogers] sighs were guests at a dinner gi[ven] by Sir Daniel McMillan and his dau[ghter,] Mrs. Leigh McCarthy at [the] Colonial hotel.

The Albert J. Partridges' son, J[ohn] Albert, took a few days off from [his] studies at Yale, and went down fr[om] New Haven for a few days with [the] Partridges at their Nassauvian pla[ce.] His went by the popular route of tr[ain] to Miami, and by plane from there [to] the islands.

The Rawleighs, also, are to h[ave] their own place at Nassau, but it [is] now in the course of construct[ion] and probably won't be ready for oc[cu]pancy until next winter. Owen [B.] Jones, who had such a bad accid[ent] while he was flying in the islands l[ast] winter, is returning on Saturday af[ter] a survey of the island he has p[ur]chased in the Bahamas.

The Duncan Hodges [Sarah Bro[wn]er] of Lake Forest leaves on Sat[ur]day for the east. They plan to be [in] Washington, D. C., and New Yo[rk] City for several days before they s[ail] on the S. S. Bremen for a 6 wee[k] trip to Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reynolds [of] 200 Lake Shore drive have gone [to] California to be there until the mid[dle] of April. Their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reynol[ds,] Jr., of Lake Forest accompan[y] them.

Mrs. Charles M. Hewitt of 14[00] state parkway has also departed Ca[li]fornia-ward for a stay that will [ex]tend until spring.

Warren Wright of 209 Lake Sho[re] drive, the new president of the L[in]coln park board, has joined M[r.] Wright at the Whitehall hotel [in] Palm Beach, Fla.

K. G. Smiths, at Palm Beach, Are Busy as Hosts

BY THALIA

Being able to entertain one's friends on a grand and glorious scale is a pet daydream with most humans, but few of us manage to do so as successfully as the Kenneth G. Smiths, prominent Chicagoans, who have arranged a background and the attendant necessities for such a hospitable procedure. Their new place at Palm Beach, Fla., is the locale for a continuous series of house parties throughout the winter season. Mr. and Mrs. Smith departed early in the winter, and are having their guests in relays of three parties each for two week visits. Parties of eight are generally considered to be the best sized groups for having a good time. Foursomes for golf or golf are always available. Besides sports (the Smith place has a gorgeous swimming pool) there are numerous diversions offered to attract the winter sojourners in Palm Beach. When the party goes forth of an evening to night club or dance, Mr. and Mrs. Smith leave for home about 11 o'clock, assuring their guests that they are at liberty to make merry as late as and as late as they like, but that for steady fare, they prefer early retiring hours. Among the north shore friends of the Smiths who are now enjoying their hospitality during this season are the Leslie S. Gordons, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Sullivan, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Magnus.

The gay scarlet and yellow tulips in green glass vases provided a spring suggestion to the tea tables for the English Speaking union's tea yesterday afternoon for Constance Collier and "The Matriarch" company. There seemed to be a hint of spring fashions in some of the costumes.

Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, who presided at one of the tea urns, wore a modish black crepe with touches of white, and Mrs. Chauncey Borland's black satin turban was trimmed with bands of silver. Mrs. Americus F. Callahan, Mrs. Theodore Tieken, Miss Estelle Ward, and Mrs. John Zane were others who assisted at the tea which followed Miss Collier's brief talk.

Stockholders for the Woman's symphony orchestra's all-Russian program at the Eighth Street theater this evening, with Ethel Leginska as guest conductor and soloist, include Mrs. Stanley McCormick, Mrs. Americus F. Callahan, Mrs. Frederic Upham, Mrs. Otto Mehn, Mr. and Mrs. Clement Studebaker, and Mrs. Albert J. Lasker. Tonight's program is the last of the season.

It seems as though practically all the organizations in town had, by now, given dinners for the University of Chicago's new president, Robert Maynard Hutchins. The Chicago Commercial club is giving one on Friday evening.

High jinks at Nassau can be imagined from the accounts of numerous parties retailed from there to here by correspondence. Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Hutchins gave a dinner one night not so long ago, and Maj. and Mrs. Thomas R. Gowenlock who were among the guests entertained the same group at a bathing and luncheon party the next day at the Bahamas country club. The James N. Rawlings were guests at a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McMillan and his daughter, Mrs. Leigh McCarthy at New Colonial hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Partridges' son, John Albert, took a few days off from his studies at Yale, and went down from New Haven for a few days with the Partridges at their Nassauvian place. He went by the popular route of train to Miami, and by plane from there to the islands.

Mr. and Mrs. Rawleighs, also, are to have their own place at Nassau, but it is still in the course of construction, and probably won't be ready for occupancy until next winter. Owen B. Aldis, who had such a bad accident while he was flying in the islands last winter, is returning on Saturday after a survey of the island he has purchased in the Bahamas.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Hodges [Sarah Brewster] of Lake Forest leaves on Saturday for the east. They plan to be in Washington, D. C., and New York city for several days before they sail on the S. S. Bremen for a 6 weeks' trip to Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reynolds of 1211 Lake Shore drive have gone to California to be there until the middle of April. Their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reynolds [Mary Ann] of Lake Forest accompanied them.

Mrs. Charles M. Hewitt of 1411 Lake Shore parkway has also departed Californiaward for a stay that will extend until spring.

Warren Wright of 209 Lake Shore drive, the new president of the Lincoln park board, has joined Mrs. Wright at the Whitehall hotel in Palm Beach, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrett R. Wetherholt of 4720 Beacon street announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret, to James E. O'Bryon of 18 East Elm street, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. O'Bryon of Lawrence, Kas. The wedding will take place on Feb. 28.

Gayeties at Havana

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Feb. 11.—The chief output of this Paris of the western hemisphere this winter is Presidente cocktails.

This is gala night at the Jockey club. The American ambassador and Mrs. Harry F. Guggenheim dined there, as did Mr. and Mrs. Louis Seligman of New York; Sir Hector MacNeal, whose house guest for the season is the Duke of Manchester; Sir Maj. J. J. O'Hare, military attaché at the American embassy.

Natica Nast, daughter of Condé Nast, is visiting here as a house guest of Mrs. George Mason, the former Jane Kendall of Washington, D. C.

George T. Horton of Chicago arrived here this afternoon having made the trip from the mainland by airplane.

Dr. Chas. H. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., on vacation here, is to receive an honorary degree from the University of Havana Thursday.

Orrin S. Wright and J. M. Patterson of Chicago are here for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley and their guest, J. J. Mitchell, have left Havana for the north.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace Jr., whose winter home here is a veritable Spanish castle, are entertaining at a beach party at their home on Thursday for Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Wainwright of New York who are stopping at the Yacht club.

Frederick T. Hepburn came in today and Mr. and Mrs. Felix Dupont with Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Brockie of Philadelphia are here for a week.

James A. Stillman of New York has completed a fine residence in the country club section.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 11.—Attorney General and Mrs. Mitchell gave a dinner tonight in honor of the retiring British ambassador and Lady Isabella Howard. Among the other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes of New York, Col. U. S. Grant and Mrs. Grant, former Attorney General Wickersham, and others.

The secretary of commerce and Mrs. Robert P. Lamont were the ranking guests at a dinner given tonight by the Austrian minister and Mme. Prochnik. Among other guests were the Italian ambassador and Signora Di Martino, the Turkish ambassador, the Bulgarian minister and Mme. Radewa, Mr. Justice, and Mrs. Pierce Butler, and others.

Boxing Painter Shows Paris Paintings Here, Proving His Merits

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Fighter and painter, that, since he was a boy, has been Buck Warshawsky's title to fame. Those two factors of his personality have strengthened and flavored his career since his student days in Paris when to secure the price of a studio he gave boxing lessons.

For twenty years he has painted, living principally in Paris. Now and again his paintings have been shown on this side of the Atlantic. On the other side he is held in great esteem, the principal museums in Paris owning several of his paintings.

At the Anderson galleries an exhibit of his pictures has just opened. If you want the mist of a rainy day on your face, the color and sun of June in the Paris streets in your eyes, the sound of traffic and French voices in your ear, go to this exhibition. A. G. Warshawsky has lived in Paris long enough to become that lovely city's sincere lover. He paints her corners and squares, her bridges and streets, her crowds and her gardens in a manner that is strong, sound, sane and romantic.

The bright green flush of early summer dances in the painting of the "Café de la Paix"; blue sky and white clouds caress the gray bulk of "Notre Dame"; the soft gray lines of rain sweep the "Pont St. Michel"; the blue mists of fall disappear behind a fretwork of leafless branches along the "Crossroads of Montparnasse."

Going from Paris we find several finely painted Breton peasant figures. There is the "Old Sailor" with his wise weather beaten face.

Pope and Italy Are Celebrating Year's Concord

BY ROBERT SAGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Feb. 11.—All Rome was bedecked with Italian and papal flags today in honor of the first anniversary of the Lateran treaty. The pact was signed by Pope Pius XI. and Premier Mussolini on this date last year, ending the 59 year old "Roman question."

All public buildings and a vast majority of the shops and residences flew the Italian flag, while all the ecclesiastical buildings were decorated with the white and gold flag bearing the keys of heaven and the pope's tiara.

Contrary to general expectation, Il Duce did not take advantage of this occasion to pay his first official visit to the pope. On the other hand, Count Cesare Maria de Vecchi, Italian ambassador to the Vatican, visited Pope Pius, presenting him with a present from Italy. It was a magnificent red rochet with a precious piece of lacework from Burano.

Upon accepting the gift the pope announced that he would wear the rochet tomorrow, when he celebrates solemn mass in the Sistine chapel in honor of the eighth anniversary of his coronation.

Before visiting the pope Count de Vecchi called on Eugenio Cardinal Pacilli, the new Vatican secretary of state. He also presented the collar of Annunziata from the king to Pietro Gasparri, retiring Vatican secretary of state.

Bishop Anderson to Rest in Memorial Chapel in Evanston

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

On the day when he was to dedicate the Western Theological Seminary Charles Palmerston Anderson will be buried in a crypt beneath that chapel's altar in Evanston. The chapel was named before his death as a memorial to him, and Feb. 24 was set to celebrate there his thirtieth anniversary as a bishop in the Episcopal church. The bishop had shared in an approved the plans.

The Very Rev. Dr. Frederick C. Grant, dean of the school announced yesterday the plans for the consecration of the chapel and the permanent interment of the bishop's body. The bishop died two weeks ago.

The body will be taken from Rosehill cemetery to the chapel, and Bishop Anderson's successor, the Rt. Rev. Sheldon Munson Griswold, bishop of Chicago, will officiate at semi-private burial services at 9:30 a. m. At 10 o'clock that morning the chapel will be consecrated by Bishop Griswold with the Rev. Dr. George Craig Stewart delivering the sermon. Consecration of the other buildings of the seminary group will follow.

Dean Grant announced yesterday that approval has greeted the proposal to erect in front of the chapel a life sized bronze statue of Bishop Anderson, to be posed as if the bishop were preaching to the passing multitudes on Sheridan road.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Fancy Cooking.

In this month a few general suggestions may be in order from Maurice Bedell's "Molinoff, or the Count of the Kitchen," a book which I happened to buy when I saw its secondary title, which the translator added instead of one meaning little in English. Molinoff has great adventures, going out from the kitchen of a South American planter who buys a chateau in France with the "ambition to turn it into an estate worthy of the market price of coffee."

This Bolivian millionaire and his wife get some one to gathem them a staff of servants, and from these they inherit the Russian cook, Molinoff, who greatly impresses his new master and mistress at the first interview because his bearing was poised, "and for a cook he had the most beautiful hands in the world." Nevertheless, this grossly stout lady who loved her sweets has to ask when he says that he can tame wild horses and speak Russian, Spanish, Italian and English, etc., "But what about cooking?"

There is an entertaining dialogue between them, and his first description of his work makes her say, "That's not cooking, that's fancy work. Is this all you know, young man?" Then he steps back and assuming the air of a prime minister, draws up a sample menu for her, telling her the recipes he will use, etc., and folding back his sleeves he begins to concoct an original pastry, beating eggs, peeling fruit, distributing ingredients in bowls, kneading the dough, and buttering cake pans.

By an accident Molinoff gets into the good society that he told his employers he wanted, falls in love and practices making petits fours, in symbolical forms to honor his lady love, and then this: "He laid out a lake of quince jelly, and launched crafts whose sails were rose petals of pink sugar; in the center stood an island, strewn with more roses, and planted with angelica sticks. . . ."

By possessing myself just now with this book in the original French I find that the translator did not know his French kitchen, or any cookery probably. In the French it says that this lake, was of apple jelly and that the petals of the rose were of multicolored sugar. And, worst of all, he translated 'petits fours as "biscuits." English?

Frocks Can Take Off or Add Pounds to a Gal's Figure

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Reducing without diet may be accomplished to the extent of from five to ten pounds in appearance, any way, with slenderizing lines of dress. Those fascinating sweater suits with bands running around the merry-go-round in the center of the figure are the designers' gift to the skinny, but not to their plump sisters. Nor are the two toned, two piece things with the second coloring blocked out at waist and hipline. Anything in the way of dress design that runs around in circles ought to be left generously to the girls who can't drink milk, or won't but who should be doing something to fatten up.

Every article of dress, from hat to shoe, can be made to serve the purpose of making a figure less bulky than the individual and her private scale mounting might testify in honest figures.

We've all seen the round little woman with her round hat with the round crown and brim, round neckline, round toed shoes, chubby bead chokers around her short little neck, and so on. She is the lesson from which one may learn the reducing power of lines because she doesn't avail herself of the right line advantages.

Take her and put a little higher crown in her hat, an oval neckline in her dress, or a fairly low V. Brush her hair back off her forehead and flatten it down sleekly over her ears and add some more beads to to her chain for length and make her wear horizontally lined dresses instead of roundly banded or striped things, and longer vamped shoes—and her plump little self will be drawn out considerably.

Belts do not help the plump one enough to warrant the love they seem to inspire. No matter how narrow, a belt cuts the figure.

It becomes really a case of reducing dress temptations if you choose the dress diet instead of the other. Excess trimming like girdles, puffs, spangles and heavy embroideries and elaborate flowers have to be abstained from. They are the sugars and starches of dress.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Ikee, The Tribune, Chicago.

One day while out driving my small son asked me what "detour" meant and I said, "to go back."

A few weeks later his little cousin was punished and put in the bedroom, when his mother left he came slipping out of the bedroom, and my son said, "detour, John! detour!" S. H.

Little Evelyn had just been presented with a little brother. Many people came to see him. One turned to Evelyn and asked: "What is his name?"

"I don't know yet," was her reply. "I can't understand a word he says!" H. P.

Fringe Returns to the Feminine Scene

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—With our definite acceptance of feminine fashions a lot of old favorites, long banished from the garconne mode, have staged sensational comebacks. Frills, flowers, feathers, and long gloves once more play an important part in the sartorial Paris scene. The couturiers welcome anything that softens and enlivens the womanly silhouette. Long, flowing lines have become the ideal of the feminine figure. Fried soles are strictly relegated to the silver platter in Marguery's.

Among the charming exiles from fashion's realm, fringe is the latest to do a "back from Elba." It showed itself, at first somewhat timidly, as the frayed edging to satin scarves or taffeta ruffles. It grew bolder and strung itself with crystal to form bead fringe borders on beaded tunics, or flaunted feathery ostrich tendrils on chiffon hostess gowns. Now it has thrown off all disguise and has been gladly acclaimed by elegant Parisiennes as an important ally of evening chic. Long silk fringe, supple as Mélisande's tresses, lends grace to many a formal frock—undulating with every movement of its wearer like the wind blowing a wheat field.

Augustabernard features fringe in this evening frock, which she made for the duchess of Sermoneta, one of the smartest figures in European society today. Black crêpe marocain is cut and draped into a marvelous modern interpretation of the basque bustle frock of the '80s. The bodice is softly draped on the shoulders and at the natural waistline. The décolleté, high in front, descends into an ample U in back. Two pointed empiècements extend from the back to right side of the front, tightly molding the hips and indicating a higher front waistline.

Two circular ruffles emerge from under the empiècements on the left hip, continue into an amusing bustle effect in back, and cascade diagonally to the floor at the right side. Long black silk fringe mounted under the lower empiècement covers the whole skirt. A collar and wide bracelet of diamonds and rubies lend the only touch of color to this ensemble. Long black suede gloves, ruffling to above the elbow, are another feminine touch.

GIRL'S DRESS.

Here is a smart little frock for the sub-deb for classroom wear. The bodice is molded through the waist and hips with slight blousing above the belt and the new flared fullness is introduced in the skirt, through a gathered flounce with an upward tendency at the front. Wool crêpe, crêpe de chine, wool challis, and rayon crêpe are charming materials for a dress of this kind.

The pattern, No. 3248, comes in sizes 8, 10, 12, and 14 years. Size 8 requires 1⅞ yards of 39 inch material.

A SPECIALTY

We have a DOLLAR DOWN sales set-up on a popular priced household necessity that means sales. Being a salesman, YOU are naturally looking for something of MERIT that will SELL.

Answer this question to yourself. If you had the chance to MAKE ARE GREAT DE- MAND and were in a position to SELL THEM for HALF of what any other mer- chant would care to offer them, how many ORDERS a week do you feel YOU could write at a DOLLAR DOWN and a dollar per week?

JUST ONE MEASLY ORDER A DAY WITH A DOLLAR DEPOSIT PAYS YOU $54 A WEEK IN FULL, NOTHING DE- FERRED, and WE GET YOU INTO THE HOME at our own expense and pay you on all other purchases that your customer makes.

IF YOU ARE SEEKING A GOOD LE- GITIMATE STEADY INCOME AND WANT SOMETHING THAT WILL GIVE YOU IT! 223 E. JACKSON-BLVD., 11TH FLOOR.

THE TRADES WITH THE BIG PAY.
The expansion in building will be without precedent in this country in the next few years. BILLIONS have been provided for building purposes. The WORLD'S FAIR is coming on; there is a near shortage of homes already in the Chicago District. All of these things will contribute to UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITIES in lines allied with building.

BRITISH REJ
U.S. DEMAND
BIG BATTLES

Hear Yankees
Drop Plea.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HEN
[Chicago Tribune Press Servi
LONDON, Feb. 12.—The A delegation's proposal that the States be allowed to build o battleship of the Rodney type, to establish Anglo-American p capital ship fleets, appears died aborning. It became kn night that Great Britain has thumbs down most emphatic the proposition.

It was reported in British cir night that President Hoover structed Mr. Stimson to a America's demand for the r build a new capital ship. Mr Donald is reported to have t friends that the demand was " as mutton," and that, the Am having made the demand in t place, it is up to them to fin way out.

Yields to Admiralty.

Mr. MacDonald, it is unde was at first disposed to America's demands, but yiel pressure by the admiralty.

Another development today w revelation by Prime Minister Donald and A. V. Alexander, fir of the admiralty, in the house o mons that the American delegat done nothing towards securing duction in Great Britain's newe biggest battleships. Mr. Mac emphasized that there was no qu of Great Britain scrapping any ships of the Rodney and Nelson,
Elizabeth or Royal Sovereign c
The debate was the result of de by members of the United State
gress yesterday that parity
Great Britain be secured in s manner.

British Fear U. S. Superiori

The British contend that th struction of a new superdreadn by the United States, even as re ment of another battleship, woul der the British battleship fle ferior to the American fleet.
Britain, Mr. MacDonald argue only eighteen 16 inch guns i battleship fleet, compared to ica's twenty-four guns of the caliber, and the addition of a battleship would give America less than 32 such guns.

The Americans contend that Britain deliberately chose thi feriority in gun power in ord achieve superiority in speed, accrues from the lighter burd fewer guns. All British ships have been completed since 191 two knots faster than the Ame ships.

The Americans base their de for an additional battleship o fact that Great Britain now pos
43,000 tons more of capital ships America has.

Call It "Vicious Circle."

With four of the oldest Ame battleships scrapped and a new built, as the Americans propose five of the oldest British battle scrapped without replacement, capital ship fleets of the two na would be equal in numbers, an British aggregate tonnage wou only 10,000 tons higher than the A ican tonnage.

The British, however, have no tion of yielding their superiori battleships. They argue that it initiate a vicious circle to allow A ica to build a battleship during contemplated extension of the ho on the battleship construction
America is allowed to build one,
Britain and Japan will feel it n sary to build also at a later date.

It is understood that the propos allow the United States to build battleship was incorporated at th stance of Senators David A. Reed Joseph T. Robinson, for the pur of placating the "big navy" ele at home and to take the curse of surrender to Great Britain on cru Scheme Is Exposed.

Then Mr. Stimson suppressed proposal with a view to testing s ment at home. If there should b outcry over the failure of the de tion to demand at least one battle it could be shown that the official people contained this item. If the lic appeared satisfied with the lished summary of the proposals, which the battleship demand omitted, it would have been pos to drop the item unnoticed.

Unfortunately for the success
such a maneuver, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE last Sunday exposed the fact the demand for one battleship been made in the American propo and that it had been suppressed
Mr. Stimson.
